Niemeyer to Be His First Assistant.

Thomas J. Courtney, Democratic victor on Nov. 8, will become state's attorney of Cook county this morning. His first announcements will be appointments of seven members of his staff. These seven are the following:

Grover C. Niemeyer, first assistant.

Edwin J. Raber, special assistant, who will continue to prosecute the John Bain case.

Capt. Daniel A. Gilbert, chief investigator.

Frank Ford, private secretary.

All of these men are well known in their field of work. Attorney Niemeyer was an assistant prosecutor for years when Maclay Hoyne was state's attorney and for four years has been a partner of the former county prosecutor in the firm of Hoyne, Niemeyer & Reilly.

Raber a Former Prosecutor.

Raber also had a record of eight years under Hoyne, and during that time was considered the ace of the staff, among his best known cases having been those of Charles B. Munday, of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, the Queese fiat janitors' case, other labor conspiracies, and a number of important black hand prosecutions.

Attorney Dougherty also served as an assistant state's attorney for several years before resigning three years ago and forming a private practice firm with Samuel Hoffman, another former assistant. Attorney O'Brien, except for two years service in the city law department, has been in private practice for many years and is noted as a platform lecturer.

Capt. Gilbert is one of the younger officers of the police department and is one of the six supervising captains, being now in charge of the northwest side district. Frank Ford is a veteran office man known to many men in public life through his years with the late Roger C. Sullivan and the late George E. Brennan, and through his service in the famous Parlor A headquarters in the Hotel Sherman.

Sweitzer Master of Ceremony.

Courtney's inauguration will be the big event of the triumphal march of the Democrats into control of the public offices of Cook county. It will take place in the state's attorney's office at the Criminal courts building and will be marked by the appearance of Robert M. Sweitzer as master of ceremonies. Short speeches will be made by a number of leaders who probably will include Mayor Cermak, Frank J. Loesch, Chief Justice Prystalski of the Criminal court, Charles M. Thomson and Shelby M. Singleton.

These ceremonies at 10 o'clock will be preceded by a service men's rally in the city council chamber at 9 o'clock, in which all war veterans elected to office are expected to participate.

There will be induction ceremonies in other offices. John E. Conroy, former assessor, will be sworn in as clerk of the Circuit court. Ald. Sheldon W. Govier will take office as clerk of the Appellate court.

New Judges to Take Office.

Nine new Municipal judges also will begin their service. They are all Democrats: Eugene Holland, Robert Jerome Dunne, Michael G. Kasper, Joseph H. McGarry, John Gutknecht, Lambert K. Hayes, Nuncio Bonelli, Edwin J. Hasten and Cecil Corbett Smith.

Three sitting judges who were reelected will start new six year terms. They are John J. Rooney, Democrat, and Samuel J. Trude and Edward Casey, Republicans.

Hurl Second Stench Bomb in North Chicago Movie

For the second time in a week a stench bomb was thrown last night into the Sheridan theater, a movie house, at 1701 Sheridan road, North Chicago. Four hundred patrons were forced to leave, but returned after the theater had been aired. Max Slepyan, part owner, told police that he employs a nonunion operator.

YOUNG ARNOLD WILL HEAR SAXE VERDICT TODAY

Judge Ponders Fate of Boy Slayer.

Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court had under consideration yesterday the sentence he will impose today upon Bert Arnold, the 16 year old Riverside high school boy who killed his stepmother's mother with a hammer.

Judge Prystalski heard the case without a jury on Saturday after Bert had pleaded guilty to a murder indictment which also contained a manslaughter count. In his testimony the boy confessed that he had killed Mrs. Ellen Saxe, 60 years old, when she refused to let him have her car, and had dropped her body into a cistern behind his home at 264 Shenstone road, Riverside.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, representing the boy, was hopeful of a manslaughter verdict, which carries a sentence of one to 14 years. In the event of a finding by Judge Prystalski that young Arnold is guilty of murder, the minimum sentence will be 14 years. It was considered likely that if the boy should be found guilty of manslaughter he would be sent to Pontiac reformatory.

State Favors Leniency.

In the beginning of the trial Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne said the state would waive the death penalty, and in his closing arguments he informed the court he felt that a manslaughter verdict would be proper. In reaching this decision, he said, he took into consideration the reports of the alienists who testified concerning Arnold's state of mind and the attitude of the son and daughter of the slain woman, Philip Saxe and Mrs. Charles B. Arnold, both of whom pleaded for leniency for the boy.

The attorneys pointed out the Illinois statutes under which Judge Prystalski might find young Arnold guilty either of murder or manslaughter. The laws are as follows:

"Murder—Murder is the unlawful killing of a human being, in the peace of the people, with malice aforethought, either expressed or implied. . . . Malice shall be implied when no considerable provocation appears, or when all the circumstances of the killing show an abandoned and malignant heart."

"Manslaughter—Manslaughter is the unlawful killing of a human being without malice, expressed or implied, and without any mixture of deliberation whatever. It must be voluntary, upon a sudden heat of passion, caused by a provocation apparently sufficient to make the passion irresistible.

What Makes Manslaughter.

"In cases of voluntary manslaughter there must be a serious and highly provoking injury inflicted upon the person killing, sufficient to excite an irresistible passion in a reasonable person, or an attempt by the person killed to commit a serious personal injury upon the person killing. The killing must be the result of that sudden, violent impulse of passion supposed to be irresistible; for if there should have been an interval between the assault or provocation given and the killing, sufficient for the voice of reason and humanity to be heard, the killing shall be attributed to deliberate revenge and punished as murder."

Prosecutor Ditchburne said he relied upon the testimony of Dr. Harry Hoffman, head of the Criminal court behavior clinic, whose examination of the youthful slayer resulted in a report similar to those of two psychiatrists for the state, Dr. H. Douglas Singer and Francis J. Gerty. Dr. Hoffman testified that Arnold was emotionally sick and acted in an uncontrollable rage when the grandmother slapped him.

Courtney May Appear.

Mr. Ditchburne said that after Thomas J. Courtney was inducted into office as state's attorney this morning he would suggest that the new prosecutor appear in court at 2 o'clock, the time set by Judge Prystalski for pronouncing sentence on the Arnold boy.

Mr. Ditchburne said some action would be taken today in the case of Rhue Green, former dean of boys at the Riverside high school and now an instructor at Barrington High school. Attorney Kirkland's plea for leniency for Bert at the trial included the allegation that the boy's state of mind was partly due to unnatural relations with Green, who on the witness stand denied the charge.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Police Circle 'Hunger Army' in Washington

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—The communistic "hunger army," three thousand strong, arrived quietly in Washington today for a demonstration when congress meets tomorrow. The marchers were corralled for the night under heavy police guard in an isolated section of the city.

The marchers arrived in two columns, one entering by the Baltimore pike and the other arriving several hours later through Virginia. The latter group was stopped by Maryland authorities at Cumberland earlier in the day and rerouted through Virginia. The entire "hunger army" was transported by auto trucks and private automobiles.

Near Railway Station.

Police met each contingent upon its arrival and escorted the marchers to a roped-off area on New York avenue in the northeast section of Washington, bounded on one side by the Pennsylvania railroad freight yards and on the other by a high clay bank and vacant field. The trucks were parked on the roadside and the marchers prepared to spend their first night in the open, efforts to secure shelter for them having failed.

All traffic, pedestrian and vehicular, was barred from passing through the area and the makeshift camp was surrounded by approximately 300 policemen. Many of them were armed with tear gas guns.

Just before the arrival of the contingent from Virginia Benjamin and his lieutenant, William Reynolds, obtained permission to take one of the "hunger army" trucks and go, with a police escort, to bring food from what he described as "our warehouse." The food, including a truckload which the "army" was said to have brought with it, was donated by the local unit of the communist party, Benjamin said, or by sympathetic individuals.

Guard Around Camp.

There was no disturbance of any kind as the army arrived today, and police officials said they felt confident no trouble would develop during the night. A strong guard will be kept around the camp, it was said. Any attempt by the marchers to leave the proscribed area will be resisted.

Benjamin said the main demonstration at the capitol will not be held until Tuesday. Tomorrow, he said, the marchers will gather for a meeting at which the petition to be presented to congress will be drawn up.

U. C. PROFESSOR'S "MISSING" CHILD, 9, FOUND IN HER BED

Hyde Park police were furnished a mystery last night when they were asked to search for 9 year old Jean Edwards, daughter of Dr. Davis Edwards, associate professor of speech in the divinity school of the University of Chicago.

A girl of strict habits, Jean disappeared from her home at 5623 Dorchester avenue at 5 o'clock. Half a dozen sleuths were put on the trail. The campus was searched, the homes of neighbors were visited, the lake front was scoured. At midnight Jean was still missing, and at 1 o'clock no sign of her was found. It was feared that she had been lured away by a moron.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning Sergt. Thomas Morris became inspired with an idea. This occurred when he learned there were two vacant apartments in the building where the Edwardses live. The Edwards family reside on the first floor. Sergt. Morris went to the second floor vacant apartment, dangling keys. Jean was not there. He went to the third floor vacant apartment. Neither was she there.

Sergt. Morris returned to the professor's apartment. With Prof. and Mrs. Edwards he stepped to the children's bedroom, where Caroline, 11 years old, another child, was sleeping. From the bedroom came a faint giggle.

Mrs. Edwards tiptoed in. She drew back the covers of Jean's bed. There, with closed eyes, and fully clothed, lay the girl.

"I've been hiding under the bed all the time," she announced.

Police believe that she really had been hiding in one of the vacant apartments, and, so far as they are concerned, the mystery of Jean's nine-hour disappearance is still a mystery.

Firemen Revive Baby Smothered in Feather Bed

A fire department rescue squad saved the life of Eugene Neynski, 10 months old, 4728 South Winchester avenue, last evening after the infant had been suffocated in a feather bed. Neighbors summoned by the mother's cries called rescue squad 1 of the fire department, under Lieut. James Fleming. After fifteen minutes' work with an inhalator the firemen started the baby's respiration. A physician said he would recover.

Dies of Heart Attack in His Parked Automobile

William Burke, 48 years old, of 4609 Walton street, died suddenly last night while sitting in a parked automobile in front of a restaurant at 3407 South Racine avenue. Heart disease was the cause, police said. Burke was returning from Michigan with two friends and when the latter went into the restaurant he remained outside. When they reentered the car they found him dead.

Auto Dealer Found Slain in His Office

Joseph Grauer, a dealer in second hand cars, was shot and killed yesterday afternoon in the rear of his company's display rooms at 2317 South Michigan avenue, in the heart of automobile row. He was 37 years old and lived at 941 Galt avenue.

His pockets had been turned inside out, indicating, police said, that he had been robbed. On that premise Lieut. Walter Healy of the Pekin station, who is directing the investigation, said that Grauer doubtless had met death while resisting robbery. However, detectives admitted that they were looking into other possible motives.

Hunt Negro As Suspect.

Grauer was still alive at 3:40 o'clock yesterday. At 4:45 o'clock he was found dead. He had been shot in the left side of the head, above the cheekbone. Police know that about 3 o'clock a tipsy Negro entered the place, begging for a quarter, and was refused. It is possible, investigators said, that this man returned in anger and killed Grauer or returned knowing Grauer was alone and shot him during a holdup. The Negro is being sought.

Grauer's place of business is known as the Joseph Wright Auto Loan company. His brother, Philip Grauer of 720 North Wabash avenue, is the principal partner. The Grauers formerly occupied the premises, but moved out. Recently they moved back again.

Yesterday the brothers and Theodore Smith, 1117 North Dearborn street, a salesman, visited the place to complete the moving in arrangements, including the turning on of electric light. At 3:40 Philip Grauer and Smith left, Joseph Grauer saying he would depart shortly. That was the last time they saw him alive.

Mechanic Finds Body.

At 4:45 James Mack, 444 West 29th street, a mechanic, accompanied by Robert Schewig, his stepson, went to the automobile concern to attend to the furnace. They found Grauer dead in the rear, and notified police. With the arrival of police, crowds of motorists and pedestrians gathered in front of the place, blocking Machigan avenue traffic for some time.

Examination showed that all of Grauer's pockets but one had been turned inside out, and this contained $1.37. There were no signs of any struggle. Philip Grauer later told police that his brother seldom carried more than a few dollars. He said that the victim had no enemies. The only clew—that concerning the beggar—was given by Philip Grauer, who said the man appeared while he, his brother, and Smith were in the place.

Petty "Con" Men Replace Old Masters

Lieut. John McGinnis, head of the confidence game detail of the detective bureau, yesterday issued a warning to housewives and storekeepers to beware of confidence men. Professionals of today, he said, seldom strive for the huge stakes on which they flourished in other days, but are none the less active.

The suave, beguiling operator with an eye to thousands of dollars, exemplified by the old master, Joseph [Yellow Kid] Weil, is a vanishing American, said Lieut. McGinnis. His place has been taken by a swarm of bedraggled understudies who count their profits in small change.

Pays, but She Still Owes.

Two of these recently visited Mrs. Frank Manski, 1727 North Richmond street. They told her they represented the receiver for her grocer and were calling to discount her bill because ready cash was needed to satisfy the store's creditors. She paid $2.25 to wipe out a $29 bill. Later she learned her grocer is still operating and that she still owes $29.

A man called on Martin Skagset, 3455 Orange avenue, representing himself as an employé of the Commonwealth Edison company, a day after Mr. Skagset had received his light bill. The caller said the company had discovered an overcharge in the bill. The man accepted $2.10 as the payment for the "adjusted" bill and receipted it for Skagset. Afterward Skagset learned the man was an impostor.

From six to a dozen storekeepers daily are the victims of what is known as the "change racket," Lieut. McGinnis said. A talkative patron enters a small store and makes a five cent purchase, offering a $1 bill, for which he receives change. He idles for several minutes, talking rapidly. Suddenly he recalls that the bill he gave was his "lucky bill." He asks the storekeeper to take the change from another. Without thought the storekeeper returns the first bill and gives change for the second. The con man walks out 95 cents to the good.

Landlords Are Victims.

Another popular racket is practiced on owners of vacant apartments. A prospective tenant agrees to rent an apartment and then borrows from $1.35 to $4 to pay express charges on articles which never appear.

Dan Clark, 6421 Stewart avenue, was approached in front of a bus station by a stranger who offered a job, suggesting that Clark accompany him directly to the office. On the way the stranger stepped into a store. He reappeared a moment later saying the store refused his check and he was out of cash. He asked if Clark could help him. Clark said he had only $2. That was enough, the stranger said. He stepped back into the store, walked out another door and left Clark waiting.

Numerous complaints from other jobless persons have brought a variation of the racket to the attention of the police. A stranger walks into a garage, drug store, or grocery, asking whether the proprietor knows of any men out of work. Invariably he gets several names. The stranger goes to the homes, is welcomed when he explains his mission is to get jobs for the heads of families, and leaves, taking from $2 to $5 to get a "union card" for the prospective worker.

WAR DEBTS ONE OF CHIEF ISSUES UP TO CONGRESS

'Lame Duck' Session Opens at Noon.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—With a vote on the repeal of national prohibition dramatically brought to the fore for its opening day and with the questions of economy, more taxes, beer, war debts, farm relief, the bonus, and relief for the idle in the offing, the last session of the Seventy-second congress will begin at noon tomorrow.

More problems of vital moment to the nation are demanding solution than ever before, with less prospect of action thereon in the interregnum between the "lame duck" Republican administration and the incoming Democratic regime on March 4.

It will be by the same token a "lame duck" session of congress and probably the last one in history, for within the next six months the constitutional amendment abolishing "lame duck" sessions seems destined to be ratified by the required 36 states.

Two Messages from Hoover.

On Tuesday President Hoover will transmit to congress his annual message on the state of the Union, including his recommendations of legislation. Much interest will attach to his views on the reduction of the cost of the federal government, particularly the reorganization of the bureaucracy which congress directed him to initiate.

On Wednesday congress will receive the President's budget message presenting his estimates of the appropriations required for the fiscal year 1934, which Mr. Hoover has undertaken to reduce a net 550 million dollars below the four billion 300 million appropriated for 1933. The budget message also will submit ways and means of balancing the budget which for the current fiscal year already discloses a deficit of 750 millions.

May Propose Sales Tax.

For a week or more the understanding in official circles has been that the President will recommend a sales tax as the principal measure for bringing the government income up to expenditure. At no time has Mr. Hoover seriously considered a tax on legalized beer as a revenue producer.

Both houses will assemble at noon and appoint committees to inform the President that congress is in session and ready to receive communications from the executive. Ordinarily both houses then would adjourn as a mark of respect to the memory of members who have died during the recess. The senate, after the swearing in of new members, will so adjourn but not so the house.

The house will be the scene of an unprecedented proceeding, an event that may become memorable in our annals. Upon the house, with galleries jammed to the doors, the eyes of this and other continents will be riveted, watching what takes place there in a span of eighty minutes.

Will Vote on Dry Law Repeal.

In that eighty minutes—forty for debate and forty for the roll call vote—the house will go on record in favor or opposed to the outright and unqualified repeal of the prohibition amendment to the constitution.

This unparalleled event will be the product of Speaker and Vice President Elect John N. Garner's demand for the redemption at the earliest opportunity in this session of the Democratic party's pledge to repeal the 18th amendment and the fortuitous circumstance that the session begins on one of the two days each month on which the suspension of the rules for consideration of legislation is in order.

Speaker Garner said tonight that no change has occurred in the program of action. To make the motion to suspend the rules the speaker will recognize the majority leader, Representative Henry T. Rainey [Dem., Ill.]

Requires Two-Thirds Vote.

Two-thirds of the number of members present and voting will be required to suspend the rules. If the motion carries forty minutes' debate of the repeal resolution will be allowed, twenty minutes for and twenty minutes against. No amendments will be in order under the suspension of rules procedure. When the roll is called two-thirds of those voting will be required for the adoption of the repeal resolution.

would be required if all the 429 members were present and voting the wet leaders are counting on the votes of 150 Democrats and 125 Republicans to start repeal on its way through congress. The dry leaders are no less confident that the wets will be unable to muster a sufficient number of either Democrats or Republicans to carry repeal.

If the Democratic proposal of unqualified repeal wins in the house it will go to the senate and be referred to the judiciary committee where it will run head on into the Republican proposal of qualified repeal empowering the federal government to prevent the restoration of the saloon in wet states. In fact the Republican plan is already before the senate for immediate consideration in the shape of a resolution fathered by Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.].

Senator Glass repudiated his party's unconditional repeal declaration when he introduced his resolution in the last session following the Democratic national convention. He stated in the senate that he did not intend to be bound by the declaration of a "hysterical assemblage."

Long Debate in Senate Looms.

Consideration of the repeal in the senate will engender protracted debate on such questions as the definition of a saloon, which few senators regard so easy as does Senator Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], who in the last session propounded that a saloon is a place for "perpendicular drinking." Some of the wet leaders are fearful that a deadlock on such questions as the saloon and the method of ratification—whether by conventions or by legislatures—may enable the drys to block action on repeal at this session.

A failure of prohibition repeal in this session would add another reason for the calling of an extradinary session of the new congress by the new President after March 4. Otherwise there would be a year's delay in initiating repeal, for the next congress with the lame duck amendment adopted, will not meet in regular session till Jan. 3, 1934.

Whatever the action on repeal by the house tomorrow the cry for legalized "beer by Christmas" will be raised anew with increased fervor in both houses. There seems to be little chance, however, of the legalization of beer by the coming Christmas if at this session at all.

The wets realize that their best chance of beer legislation lies in the inclusion of a beer tax in a revenue bill and action on that cannot be had for several weeks at the earliest.

OAK PARK SEES SUNDAY MOVIES FOR FIRST TIME

Sunday motion pictures were shown legally in Oak Park yesterday for the first time in the history of the village. Both the La Mar theater, 120 South Marion street, and the Southern theater, 828 South Oark Park avenue, were filled to capacity throughout the afternoon and evening.

The ordinance prohibiting showings on Sunday was passed in Oak Park with the advent of motion pictures. In 1920 a campaign was begun to permit Sunday operation. In elections of 1920, 1923 and 1925 the movement was defeated.

Last Sept. 20 the management of the La Mar theater gave the first Sunday showing in the village to test the validity of the ordinance. Fifteen policemen blocked the entrances of the theater. Despite their vigilance six paying patrons and 150 children, who were admitted free, witnessed the performance. The theater lost the test case before a justice of the peace.

At the election last Nov. 8, however, the Sunday movie measure won by a vote of 19,111 to 14,121.

Alleged Counterfeiter to Be Arraigned Today

John Molnar, 35 years old, an Austrian piano tuner, will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker this morning on charges of counterfeiting nearly $50,000 in gold notes. He was arrested by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan of the secret service, on information given by Molnar's brother, Edward, who is under arrest in Omaha. Federal agents seized three safety deposit boxes in a loop bank Saturday, and confiscated $44,000 in counterfeit bills.

LEAGUE TO FIGHT TO CUT MONEY PAID VETERANS

Would Limit Benefits to Service Injuries.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Plans of the National Economy league to fight for the repeal of all laws subsidizing special groups at the expense of all the taxpayers were announced today by its general manager, Maj. Henry H. Curran.

The first attack will be on the laws granting compensation and other benefits to veterans for ailments not incurred in military service, under the terms of which 450 millions of dollars are now being paid to 500,000 ex-service men.

Bullitt to Plead Case.

In moving for the repeal of these laws the league will be represented before the joint committee of congress considering revision of veterans' benefits by William Marshall Bullitt of Louisville, Ky., former solicitor general of the United States.

Maj. Curran also said the league will oppose the prepayment of the bonus.

"The bonus is not due until 1945," he said. "To require payment 13 years ahead of that time is like foreclosing a mortgage on a man's home which is not yet due, and doing it at the very time when he is least abole to pay it. To make us dig up over two billion dollars at once for this bonus would crack the treasury. We have been fighting it from the beginning. For the time being it is defeated."

"It is not real economy to cut out government service that is necessary and beneficial," Mr. Curran said, "but it is most obvious real economy to cut out every dollar of expenditure which is not fair and just to all people."

Against "Dole" Payments.

The benefits paid to veterans for ailments whose source was not traced to military or naval service Mr. Curran called a "dole."

"The next thing to stop," he said, "is the payment of the people's money to hundreds of thousands of men who were lucky enough to have the honor of wearing a uniform in the world war but who came out of the war without a scratch and in better health than they ever were before."

Mr. Curran said care should be taken of the "veteran who was hurt in the service or because of his service, but not a dollar should go to any other veteran of any kind."

Any other basis of benefits he called "a dole to support veterans who take sick or get a little cold in the piping times of peace, long after the war is over. If we are to have a dole, then everybody ought to get it.

"Over 500,000 veterans who never got hurt in the war, and most of whom never got beyond a happy training camp in the United States, are being presented with the hard earned money of 120 million hard pressed Americans every month in the year, for a total of about $450,000,000."

Porches of Eight Homes Damaged; Blame Vandals

FARM MEETING IS EXPECTED TO FIGHT DEBT CUT

43 States Send 2,000 Delegates Here.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Opposition of farmers to any consideration of a postponement or readjustment in the war debt payments is expected to be voiced in discussions of the problems directly affecting agriculture, which will be taken up today by nearly 2,000 delegates to the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau federation. The federation will open its three day session at the Hotel Sherman this morning.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the federation, is expected to sound the sentiments of the largest group of organized farmers in his annual message today. He is expected to reiterate the federation's protest against intergovernmental debts being used to pile an extra burden on the already overburdened farmers.

Outlines Three Proposals.

In a message to Alfred P. Sloan Jr. in New York last week, O'Neal expressed the views of farmers along three definite lines, so far as the war debts were concerned. He advocated a devaluation of the American gold dollar to offset declines in commodity prices during the last three years, an international understanding on adequate mediums of exchange, and a general international revision of tariffs to bring back interchange of commodities.

The farm delegates, who began to arrive early yesterday, represent 1,861 counties in 43 states. In the three days here they are to vote not only on the O'Neal expression of the farm attitude toward war debts, but also will face the task of deciding which of the various crop surplus control methods the federation will support in the short session of congress.

Will Revise Whole Program.

Under the supervision of Vice President Charles Hearst of Des Moines, the federation's resolutions committee has been hearing farm spokesmen for the last three days behind closed doors. While no expression of the committee's attitude on farm legislation could be divulged, it was stated that the whole legislative program of the fourteen year old farm bureau federation would be gone over thoroughly and revised at many points.

One of the issues before the committee, which will be carried to the convention floor today is the building of federation support behind the essential services of the federal department of agriculture. This was indicated plainly in Chicago Saturday when O'Neal addressed seventy state agricultural college and governmental leaders on the necessity of seeing that extension work and the county agent system were not carried away in the anticipated bureau reductions in Washington next spring.

O'Neal Host at Banquet.

Last night O'Neal entertained the state farm bureau presidents with a banquet at convention headquarters, following which the group considered privately many of the farm issues to be decided tomorrow and Wednesday.

Among the topics considered were tariff revisions, crop surplus control, rural credits, remonetization of the gold dollar and a national agricultural policy by which the governmental and state farmers' agencies would work in closer harmony with the farm bureau and other independent farm groups.

GETS SUPPOSED RANSOM NOTE FOR LOST CHILD

Rensselaer, Ind., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—A ransom note, purporting to be from the kidnapers of Patricia Pearl Tripp, 4, taken forcibly from the home of her maternal grandparents by a gunman Nov. 28, has been received by Sheriff Leon Green of Branch county, Mich. Sheriff Green came here today to join Sheriff Tone Kanne in the investigation. Both officials believe the note was written by a crank.

"Be at the mansoleum in the cemetery Saturday evening at exactly 10 p. m.," the note said, "and Patty Tripp will be returned to you safe and alive also be sure and have no outsiders Pat is well clothed as some clothes have been bought for her in Sturges bring along $100 for the expense that she costs us it isn't so much from kidnaping a child after all. If you aren't there most anything is liable to happen."

The note was written in ink and no attempt had been made to disguise the handwriting. It was mailed at Coldwater, Mich., last Friday. Sheriff Green, with a squad of policemen, went to the cemetery Saturday night and waited an hour in the rain, but no one appeared.

Operation Saves Baby Who Swallowed Pin

An emergency operation yesterday saved the life of 2 year old Donald Doran of Aurora, who swallowed an open safety pin while at play. An X-ray disclosed the pin lodged halfway between the throat and stomach. Dr. W. E. Curtis of Aurora advised an immediate operation and Donald was brought to the Illinois Research hospital in Chicago, where Dr. Frank L. Lederer removed the pin. The child's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Doran.

Democratic Ward Groups Aid Relief, Says Mayor

A meeting of Democratic officials was held in Mayor Cermak's offices yesterday. Mayor Cermak said he urged them to keep the party's ward organization operating to help relieve the distress of the idle this winter. The ward organizations are assisting other relief agencies in handling relief problems to their utmost, the mayor said.

U. S. AUTHORITIES HAIL CONVICTION IN STONE CASE

Mail Statute Effective in War on Swindles.

Federal authorities in Chicago yesterday hailed the conviction of Henry F. Norcott and six other officials of the defunct H. O. Stone & Co., late Saturday night on charges of using the mails to defraud, as a demonstration of the effectiveness of the mail fraud statute as a weapon against fraudulent financing.

Like the income tax law, these officials said, the mail fraud statute is being invoked by the government against offenders who are not amenable to state or other federal laws.

The Stone case, involving a loss of $14,000,000 to thousands of investors, is one of the largest to be prosecuted in this federal district, but it will be overshadowed, in the amount of money involved, by the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line case, to be tried early next year. In this case Frank P. Parish, "the boy wizard of finance"; S. J. Maddin, Ralph G. Grandall and James F. McManmon are accused of using the mails to defraud in connection with the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company, with a $35,000,000 loss to investors.

Federal agents are now investigating the two billion dollar Insull utilities debacle, and if mail fraud charges should be brought in this case it would be by far the largest of the kind on record.

Depression Expands Uses.

The mail fraud statute has been used extensively for years, but its application has been confined largely to bucket shop operators, quacks and fake advertisers. The depression brought it into prominence as a means of attack on financial crimes involving millions of dollars and thousands of investors.

The Stone officials, who were convicted by a jury in Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward's court, will be sentenced on Dec. 23 if their motions for new trials are overruled. They are subject to maximum penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 fines each, on each of 33 counts.

Besides Norcott, the defendants convicted are Harold D. Bennett, Charles P. Packer Jr., W. Scott Carroll, Leslie A. Needham, David E. Colsman and Marshall W. George. Francis E. Richardson and Claude C. Niles, two other Stone officials, were found not guilty.

END OF SECRET 6 SEEN; SETBACKS HIT SPY SERVICE

Courtney Installation May Mark Its Passing.

The installation today of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney may signalize the passing of the Secret Six, it was learned yesterday. That private investigating service, whose organizer and spokesman was R. I. Randolph, has met with a series of reverses in the last few months which has pointed the need for the official and not private investigation of crime.

Its latest setback came on Friday when a jury awarded $30,000 to William S. Kuhn Jr., who sought damages on charges of false arrest and malicious persecution because of his arrest two years ago by the Secret Six on the charge of sending extortion letters to Miss Marion Wright, debutante daughter of William Van Doren Wright, steel company executive. The charges against Kuhn were dismissed.

Jury Holds Jamie Liable.

Alexander Jamie, chief investigator for the Secret Six, and Edgar Dudley, one of his former assistants, were held liable by the jury for the damages awarded young Kuhn, along with Mr. Wright and Dr. Ferdinand Watzek, a Viennese criminologist who formerly coöperated with the Secret Six. That organization, having no corporate existence, could not be named a party to the suit in its own name.

The Secret Six has been sustained by private contributions of leading business men. The departure of Samuel Insull is understood to have been a severe blow to it, because he was reported to have been one of the leading contributors.

Other business executives, faced with the necessity of cutting both their personal budgets and the expenses of the companies which they head, are understood to have expressed reluctance to contribute further to the Secret Six, in view of recent disclosures of its practices. The fact that Mr. Wright finds himself assessed with damages in the Kuhn case as a result of his seeking the aid of the organization is not expected to loosen any purse strings.

Action Angers Authorities.

The constituted authorities of Chicago, state and federal, were also angered last week when they discovered that the Secret Six had known for four weeks that a bomb had been sent through the mails to Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, wife of the banker, without giving the police, state's attorney or postoffice inspectors any information so the culprits might be sought while the trail was still warm.

Another factor in the present predicament of the Secret Six was the mud slinging incident during the last political campaign in which Randolph and Jamie attacked State's Attorney Swanson, a candidate for reëlection. Each made charges of corruption in the state's attorney's office, but in each case was unable to substantiate the charges when summoned before the grand jury.

These incidents served, however, to inform the public of a number of the hitherto secret practices of the Secret Six. Among these disclosures was the fact that for some 18 months the organization had employed as an investigator, and apparently as first assistant to Jamie, Mrs. Shirley Kub.

Mrs. Kub had had her share of notoriety before. A fat, grotesque little woman, she had been known before her connection with the Secret Six was disclosed as the bride of a Negro, as a police stool pigeon jailed for contempt of court because of her refusal to testify before a grand jury, as a sanitary district pay roller whose home was mentioned in connection with some mysterious parties during the "whoopee era," as an intimate of Jack Zuta, the gangster and master procurer who was murdered two years ago, and as a defendant in a larceny case in which she was sentenced to the Bridewell.

At the time of the controversy with State's Attorney Swanson it was also stated that while Randolph was raising funds for the Secret Six he also raised $24,000 for himself. The president of a large Chicago bank made this statement, asking that his name be withheld because of the political fight in which Randolph was then a party.

Banker Tells of Raising Fund.

The banker's story was that Randolph represented to business leaders early in 1930 that he felt it improper that as the head of the new crime fighting organization he should continue on the pay roll of the sanitary district as an engineer. But he is reported to have pleaded he was a poor man, financially unable to make the sacrifice. Accordingly, the banker said, the hat was passed and a fund raised to recompense Randolph for two years at $1,000 a month for getting off the sanitary district pay roll.

Randolph denied that he got the money. He did not deny, however, that he had been a sanitary district pay roller during the "whoopee era," that he was separated from the pay roll during January and February, 1930, about the time that the fund was supposedly being raised, and that he went back on it shortly afterward, remaining there either personally or represented by his engineering company, until recently.

The Secret Six, it was disclosed only recently, was organized at the request of State's Attorney Swanson. He believed at that time that a nonpolitical, secret investigating agency, supplied with ample funds, might be a potent aid to law enforcement. Randolph, just installed as president of the Association of Commerce, was assigned to lead the organization.

Formed to Fight Crime.

That was in January, 1930. If it lives that long, the Secret Six will celebrate its third birthday next month. It is difficult to compile any record of its achievements. It was formed to fight "organized crime." It might be thought that it would be simple to trace its history through the indictment and trial of prominent criminals. But the appearances of its operatives on the witness stand have been few and far between.

Jamie went to the Secret Six as chief investigator shortly after it was started. He formerly held a responsible position in the bureau of investigation of the United States department of justice, but at the time of his employment by the Secret Six, he had become a prohibition agent. He was asked for a list of his accomplishments in his present office.

He said that his organization has participated in the investigation of some 25 kidnaping and extortion cases [of which the Kuhn fiasco was one], several bank robberies, and in the arrest and conviction of a group of kidnapers in Peoria. The organization also acted as a go-between in the recovery of $600,000 in securities taken in a bank robbery at Lincoln, Neb., a condition of the return, it is reported, having been that criminal charges in that case were dropped against Gus Winkler, a notorious bank robber, who turned back the loot.

Topic for Randolph Speeches.

Randolph also has claimed credit in speeches for gathering important evidence used by the government in sending Alphonse and Ralph Capone to prison for income tax frauds, but federal officials have failed to make public acknowledgment of any such assistance.

The Secret Six has furnished Randolph with an exhaustless topic in magazine articles and public speeches all over the country. As the master mind of the Secret Six he has become noted as driving always with his hands on a pistol to ward off criminals in the streets of Chicago.

Randolph spoke on crime before the National Safety council, the Philadelphia Association of Commerce, the Champaign, Ill., chamber of comerce, the Peoria Association of Commerce, and a Northwestern university luncheon. Randolph issued a statement in New Orleans and another in Chicago, announcing a five year plan for fighting crime. Randolph wrote an article for the Yale News. Randolph urged congress to enact a national kidnaping law.

But except for his claims in the Capone case, available newspaper records do not show that Randolph ever gave a specific example of a crime solved by the Secret Six.

More specific information on the Secret Six's activities came on Aug. 31 of this year, when Jamie announced that he and his assistants had taken into custody some alleged wire tappers who were listening in on a secret telephone wire into a secret office of the Secret Six, only to discover that their prisoners were state's attorney's investigators. Mrs. Kub was using the office. The state's attorney's representatives said that that was the first they knew of Mrs. Kub's working for the Secret Six, but that they had her under suspicion and had tapped her wires in an attempt to verify their suspicions.

Unsuspected by Swanson.

Jamie countered with the statement that he had been investigating the state's attorney's office for 18 months, and had discovered the existence there of a "politico-criminal cabal." State's Attorney Swanson exhibited surprise at this, stating that since the organization of the Secret Six had been at his request he hadn't suspected that it was spying on his own office. Randolph added his bit to the comedy by asserting that never, during the 18 months of the supposed investigation, had he learned of its existence. Details of the "politico-criminal cabal" are still locked in Jamie's and Mrs. Kub's breasts.

Randolph joined Jamie, however, in the next charge against Mr. Swanson, made as the preelection campaign warmed up. They announced that one of their operatives had succeeded in bribing an employe of the state's attorney for $100, to turn over part of the secret files of the prosecutor. They gave the name of the operative as Lester McKeon, 718 North Lotus avenue. A grand jury investigation was ordered. Randolph and Jamie never were able to produce McKeon, and the address they gave for him was found to be fictitious.

New Attack Precedes Election.

Then six days before the election Randolph made a new attack upon the state's attorney's office. He appeared before Chief Justice John Prystalski in the Criminal court, and in an unsworn statement charged Albert Swanson, an assistant and brother of the prosecutor, and Assistant State's Attorney James Clancy with taking bribes from Herman J. Goldberg, a convicted tax fixer.

Again State's Attorney Swanson invited Randolph to repeat his charges to the grand jury. Randolph created a new sensation when he admitted to the jury that he knew nothing of the truth of the charges, but merely had made them at the request of Judge Harry M. Fisher, a member of the party supporting Mr. Courtney, the state's attorney's opponent in the last election.

Goldberg also appeared. Several witnesses who he said could corroborate his charges told the jury that he was lying. He submitted several checks bearing the purported indorsements of Albert Swanson and Clancy. A handwriting expert promptly pronounced the signatures to be forgeries. After questioning Goldberg concerning his reported indictment on an earlier occasion for forgery, the jury indicted him for perjury and absolved the two men he had accused.

Lawyers Condemn Action.

Three hundred lawyers, meeting at a luncheon at the Hamilton club, adopted a resolution condemning "the actions of Judge Fisher and Robert Isham Randolph in their last minute attempts to discredit State's Attorney Swanson." Mr. Swanson asked the bar association to investigate Judge Fisher's part in the affair.

The trial of the Kuhn damage suit gave further light on the detective methods of the Secret Six. Young Kuhn had known Miss Wright socially. Dudley, Jamie's assistant, in testifying for the defense, gave the reasons why the Secret Six suspected Kuhn of writing the extortion letters to her. First, he said, he found that Kuhn visited "speakeasies," and was told by bartenders that sometimes, on being served a drink, the young man would sit and talk to it before drinking it. Furthermore, Dudley said, he invaded Kuhn's room and discovered there, along with a score of other books, two detective stories.

Up until the last few stormy months, the Secret Six supposedly was an undercover branch of the state's attorney's office, and whatever it accomplished in the way of crime detection was with the coöperation of that office. Leaving aside for the moment the question of funds for its operations, it is doubtful if it will be able to continue without recognition by State's Attorney Courtney.

He has not stated whether he will have anything to do with the outfit. Randolph's boomerang attacks on Mr. Swanson apparently give him little claim to recognition by Swanson's successor.

It is an open secret in political circles that the Randolph-Fisher-Goldberg charges were made without the knowledge of Mr. Courtney. At the time he was convinced that he had the election won [his majority was some 300,000], and was content to sit back and wait for election day.

It even has been reported that Mr. Courtney wanted to repudiate the Randolph attack, and only refrained from doing so because of the pleading of Judge Fisher and some of the latter's associates that such a course would put the judge in an embarrassing position. Political observers believe that, had the election been a close affair instead of a landslide, the mud-slinging tactics of Randolph and Judge Fisher might have swung enough votes to State's Attorney Swanson to bring about Mr. Courtney's defeat.

END OF SECRET SIX SEEN IN POLITICAL CHANGES

EVANSTON WILL TRY OWN OFFENDERS WHEN NEW COURT CONVENES

Evanston's new Municipal court, to be established the first of the year, will give the suburb many advantages over the present police magistrate and justice of the peace method of dispensing justice, according to Henry H. Porter, a magistrate, who will become one of the two Municipal court judges. The other is Walter Ross, an attorney.

"The chief advantage," said Judge Porter, "will be in making Evanston judicially independent of Chicago. With a court of record we will have the power to dispose of many cases which heretofore could only be referred to the grand jury for action, causing much loss of time and trouble for complainants. Our new court will have jurisdiction in all offenses less than felonies and may commit prisoners to jail for periods up to one year.

"Another advantage will be elimination of the necessity of sending bailiffs or policemen out on the streets to 'pick' juries. Under the new system our juries will be selected by the Cook county jury commissioners."

Judge Porter said the new court will have power to handle more efficiently one type of case, nonsupport, which has become prevalent with the depression. "We can, in the Municipal court, send husbands who fail to support their families to jail, put them on probation or release them so that they may discharge their obligations," he said.

COUNTRY JUDGES SIT IN CITY COURT FOR $5,000 FEES

Experts' Pay Roll Revealed as $49,393.

The practice of calling in country town judges to sit on the Municipal court bench during summer vacations is reflected in City Controller Szymczak's report to the city council on the payment of fees to "experts" during the month of September of this year. The report shows that, although there are 37 judges on the Municipal bench, country town judges received $5,000 of a total experts fee payment of $49,393.

The salary of a Municipal court judge is $10,000 a year, and that of the chief justice is $15,000. Their vacations supposedly last one month, so that, with 36 of them besides the chief justice, 12 could take their vacations each month for three months and still leave 24 sitting at all times.

Judges Paid for Summer Work.

The $5,000 payments to the country town judges were for services rendered in the summer of 1931, and some of the other fees were for work done prior to 1932. Payments for the month were $4,901 in excess of payments for September of 1931.

Among the larger payments were the following:

|---|---|
| George C. Lenth, engineering | $ 500 |
| George A. Mason, legal | 5,350 |
| Seth M. Gooder, engineering | 1,350 |
| Dr. Miller McClintock, engineering | 1,000 |
| Samuel J. Elson, auditing | 1,050 |
| Drs. Magnuson and Hendricks, medical | 2,155 |
| Thomas Marshall, legal | 2,080 |
| Committee on building ordinances | 7,679 |
| E. L. Adams, real estate valuator | 2,170 |

An examination of the bill presented by the Chicago Drama league, 410 South Michigan avenue, for entertainment, showed that the league had been paid $375. The expense, the controller's office reported, was incurred in the operation of the Children's Civic theater on Navy pier.

Doctors Paid $2,155.

The payment of $2,155 to Drs. Magnuson and Hendricks was for medical service given to three city firemen their vouchers showed.

George A. Mason is employed by the city on transit and subway litigation, and George C. Lenth was employed on traction matters as an engineer under the previous city administration.

AURORA BOREALIS PROVIDES TREAT FOR CHICAGOANS

The aurora borealis was seen last night by hundreds of Chicagoans, many of whom sought information about "the mysterious light in the sky."

Prof. Walter Bartky of the University of Chicago astronomy department cleared the mystery. "The northern lights," he said, "are often visible on very clear nights at this time of year. The light is usually high in the sky and may appear as a single shaft of light."

One observer, S. H. Van Artendale, 2022 West 110th street, described the light as "a thin perpendicular shaft, quite bright and quite long. It was pale yellow in color and was visible for about twenty minutes."

FLOCKS OF PETTY CON MEN REPLACE THE OLD MASTERS

cently had a caller at his home in response to an advertisement for a place as a chauffeur. The caller said he was chauffeur for a wealthy man, but was leaving his position to go west. The wealthy man had noticed Callahan's advertisement, the caller said, and would give him the job. Callahan was induced to go to a loop store with the caller the next day to be measured for a uniform. His companion offered to pay the cashier for the uniform while Callahan was being measured. Callahan gave him $40 and the man disappeared.

M.s. Erna Andressen, 1225 North Clark street, recently took in a new lodger who paid a week's rent in advance. On the second day of his residence a man entered bearing a letter just as the lodger was leaving. Mrs. Andressen said no one of the name on the letter lived in the house.

Buys "Smuggled" Cloth.

She had difficulty in talking to the letter bearer, but the lodger spoke his language. The letter bearer revealed himself as a sailor who had smuggled four bolts of woolen goods into the country. He showed the bolts to the lodger, who became enthusiastic. He wished to buy, but his cash was in the bank. Mrs. Andressen loaned him $150 to buy two bolts and paid a like amount for the remaining two. Her lodger and the stranger vanished, leaving her cloth valued at $15.

"There are many of these petty swindlers operating in the city," Lieut. McGinnis said. "Their profits from an individual victim are as nothing compared with those of the old masters, but anything taken by them is too much. Beware of friendly strangers offering something for nothing. It can only end in loss."

DRUG STORE MANAGER ROBBED.

Joseph Epstein, assistant manager of a drug store at 3400 Lawrence avenue, was robbed of $315 in the store yesterday by two bandits.

20 IN NORTH SIDE HOTEL LOBBY AS CLERK IS ROBBED

A bandit walked through the lobby of the Wellington Arms hotel at 2970 Sheridan road last night, brushing shoulders with several members of the Chicago Bears professional football team, and smiling casually at several women guests in the place.

Removing his hat, he stepped around behind the counter, prodded Stewart Harding, the clerk, in the back with a revolver, and quietly ordered Harding to lie on the floor.

Harding obeyed. The hatless bandit moved about for a few minutes as though he were the clerk, opened the cash drawer and took out about $250. At this time there were perhaps twenty or thirty guests in the lobby, preparing to enter the dining room. None of them was aware of the holdup. The robbery completed, the bandit walked out of the hotel as calmly as he had entered.

CONFECTIONER KILLS HIMSELF.

all in 16 ounce loaves

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 WHERE ECONOMY RULES

Variety, Quality, Purity, Low Price—and one thing more. FLAVOR! Grandmother's Breads are carefully made by expert bakers in spotless modern bakeries.* Only select ingredients are used. Because we bake and sell so many loaves only a small profit is necessary from each loaf. Therefore our prices are very low—a full pound loaf, 16 ounces, for only 5c.

GRANDMOTHER'S
SLICED OR UNSLICED

FULL 1-POUND LOAF (16-OUNCES) 5c

GRANDMOTHER'S
100% WHOLE WHEAT
The brown beauty in the front row of the A & P Varieties. A sturdy, wholesome influence for daily home life. Also positively smart in toasted rounds for hors d'oeuvres and open sandwiches. 16-OZ. LOAF 5c

GRANDMOTHER'S
POTATO BREAD
The whitest of white bread. Fairest of the fair Varieties. Keeps that schoolgirl fairness by that old-fashioned treatment—potatoes. Consequently extra nourishing. 16-OZ. LOAF 5c

GRANDMOTHER'S
VIENNA BREAD
Not an imported feature. Native born, but retains the full old-world flavor of its ancestors. Specializing in a crunchy crust and distinctive taste. 16-OZ. LOAF 5c

GRANDMOTHER'S
BRAN BREAD
Rough and rugged. A tomboy among the A & P Varieties. It's good for you, but don't let that stop you. It's baked for people who eat for enjoyment. 16-OZ. LOAF 5c

GRANDMOTHER'S
SWEDISH STYLE RYE
The Scandinavian tenor of the A & P Varieties Rye Quartette. Sweet and gentle—made with syrup in the true Swedish manner. Modest in that it hasn't a great deal of crust. Or, if you prefer, tender. 16-OZ. LOAF 5c

GRANDMOTHER'S
HOMEMADE STYLE BREAD
Homely as a log cabin, and as honest as apple pie. (Our bakers should wear gingham aprons when they bake this loaf.) Of all the A & P Varieties, this one makes no claim to beauty—It doesn't have to. 16-OZ. LOAF 5c

GRANDMOTHER'S WHITE FLOUR & WHOLE WHEAT BREAD
(52% Whole Wheat Flour)
Half sister to Grandmother's 100% Whole Wheat Bread. Has sister's wholesome disposition but not quite so sunburned. In other words, it's a loaf for people who take their whole wheat with a grain of white flour. 16-OZ. LOAF 5c

TASTE To us taste is the most important thing about bread. We use fine ingredients. We employ expert bakers. We operate the most modern of bakeries. We do all of this to make Grandmother's Breads taste better—to make them more wholesome. That's why we have a bakery on the Northside, another on the Southside and a third on the Westside of Chicago. We must get Grandmother's Breads to our stores oven-fresh every day because only fresh bread tastes best. We bake many interesting varieties because tastes differ from day to day. Whole Wheat, White, Potato Bread, Vienna Bread, Bran Bread, Swedish Style Rye, and many others. A new appeal for every meal. Eight different kinds of bread, all one pound loaves, all priced at 5c. All taste unusually good. Get acquainted with our bread counter and these fine loaves at the nearby A&P Food Store this week-end.

Grandmothers Breads

ON SALE AT ALL A&P FOOD STORES

*Last April we opened a large, new, modern bakery on the West Side making three A&P Bakeries; one on each side of triangular Chicago. So no matter where you live, north south or west, you can get Grandmother's Bread. It is fresher and better because it has been baked in a model bakery right on your side of the city and rushed to your nearby A&P Food Store.

STATE CHAMBER FILES ATTACK ON SEAWAY TREATY

Illinois Protest Is Put Before Committee.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—A brief urging rejection of the present St. Lawrence seaway treaty on the ground that it would jeopardize the lakes to the gulf waterway, surrender America's exclusive sovereignty over Lake Michigan and pile new and unwarranted tax burdens upon the shoulders of "rebellious citizens" was placed before the senate foreign relations subcommittee late yesterday by the Illinois state chamber of commerce.

The plea for a reconsideration of the seaway project was added to the voluminous record piled up during the committee investigation of the pact, by Walter Williams, president of the chamber, after he had been denied an opportunity fully to place his case in person before the subcommittee on Friday. The statement carried a complete exposition of the reasons why officials of the chamber of commerce have gone on record against ratification of the treaty in its present form.

Discusses History of Diversion.

The information carried in the Williams statement, together with oral testimony and a brief filed with the subcommittee by Cleveland Newton, general counsel for the Mississippi Valley association, will afford the committee an opportunity to go fully into the legal phases of the treaty so far as it affects American sovereignty over Lake Michigan and the Chicago diversion.

Included in these records is a full history of the lake diversion from the time together with a compilation of all American-Canadian records touching on the diversion matter and the unequal division of power at Niagara Falls.

Chairman William E. Borah [Rad. Rep., Ida.] has told friends of the treaty that he proposes to make a thorough study of the constitutionality and Lake Michigan phases of the treaty before the pact comes to a vote. The circumstance that former Secretary of State Elihu Root in negotiating the 1909 boundary treaty with Canada flatly refused to permit Lake Michigan to be included as an international body of water is expected to prove a factor in the debate on the treaty.

Backs Valley Arguments.

In his brief Mr. Williams backed up Mr. Newton in attacking the Lake Michigan diversion phases of the treaty as they adversely affected the lakes to gulf waterway. He also called attention to changing world conditions which he said may so cut down American world trade as to destroy much of the usefulness of a St. Lawrence waterway.

"The senate of the United States," Mr. Williams said, "is asked to ratify a treaty that surrenders control over Lake Michigan without effective protest or compensatory profit, and thereby jeopardizing the success of a most important part of a great national enterprise. The Mississippi system can only be a complete success with an adequate diversion from Lake Michigan.

"Let us preserve our sovereignty over Lake Michigan and with it the right to diveert into the Illinois waterway sufficient water to connect the Mississippi system with the great lakes in successful operation and we will be able to comfort ourselves for the loss of the St. Lawrence seaway until such time as we can get it on more equitable and less humiliating terms.

Untimely, Chamber Says.

"From the standpoint of timeliness alone, we believe that the embarkation of the government of the United States on this project, with its colossal cost estimated and unestimated, will simply add to the burden of the already tax rebellious citizens.

"Many of the terms and conditions outlined in the treaty are apparently based almost entirely on expert opinion in terms of export and import conditions maintaining in the past, whereas present world-wide conditions may require a complete revision of our views and estimates regarding the movement of world trade.

"Present conditions in the commercial and industrial field hardly justify the belief that there is at present or will be in the immediate future demand or a source of consumption for the amount of power to be generated at the points of production or elsewhere."

SEIZE 3 TRYING TO SELL STOLEN GUN TO OWNER

Three men were held yesterday by Sheffield avenue police in connection with the theft of fifty revolvers and several other weapons from Peter von Frantzius' sporting goods store at 608 Diversey parkway last May.

Several days ago Von Frantzius received a call from John Foster, 23 years olds, of Earlville, who said he had a gun to sell. Von Frantzius invited him to Chicago.

On Saturday Foster appeared at the store. In the rear were Detectives James Patterson and James Walsh. Foster produced a Mauser pistol. Von Frantzius recognized it as one of the fifty stolen guns and signaled the policemen who arrested Foster. They also seized two men waiting in an automobile for him. The two identified themselves as Frank Huber, 2749 South Turner avenue, and William Ohland, 3122 Walnut street.

Police said Foster told them that Huber had sold the pistol to Ohland. Ohland had then asked Foster, according to Foster's story, to dispose of the gun.

EX-PRESIDENT OF BRAZIL SAILS FOR PORTUGAL EXILE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Former President Arthur Da Silva Bernardes today boarded the steamer Asturias for Portugal, designated as his place of exile. He was captured ten weeks ago while hiding in a cabin in the Minas Geraes forest, following the crushing of a revolt in Sao Paulo and other states.

Several shots were fired in a crowd just before the ship departed and the son of Bernardes was reported shot in the leg. A group jeered and threw stones at the former president and this started the shooting. Several persons were injured in the panic which ensued.

(Former President Bernardes was one of the most important and perhaps the last of about 80 prominent Brazilians who have been sent into exile for participation in the recent civil war in the south. He had been held prisoner in the summer palace he built on Dorijo island for nearly two months.)

GERMANY'S NEW CABINET HAS ONLY ONE NEW FACE

Von Schleicher Reinstates Von Papen's Aids.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—Adolf Hitler's National Socialists lost votes in the Thuringian elections today despite a personal campaign by the Nazi leader. The results were far from the smashing victory his party anticipated. Compared with the reichstag elections on Nov. 6, all parties lost votes.

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The "conciliation" cabinet completed today by Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher contains only one minister who was not a member of Franz von Papen's "battle" cabinet, which resigned last month.

Dr. Hermann Warmbold, who will represent Germany in the world economic conference next spring, today was reappointed minister of economics, and Baron Fredrich Edler von Braun was again given the portfolio of minister for agriculture and eastern relief, which he held in Von Papen's ministry.

Ready to Abandon Quotas.

Retention of Warmbold was taken as an indication that the new chancellor, who was known as "the power behind the Von Papen government," was ready to abandon the Von Papen policy of quotas—a proposal for the limitation of imports.

While Chancellor von Schleicher's avowed aim was to form a "government of conciliation," domestic problems of the last fortnight are not entirely dissipated, for Adolf Hitler, leader of the Nazis, had declared that his National Socialists, controllers of the largest single bloc in the reichstag, would not coöperate with Von Schleicher's government.

One odd sidelight regarding the formation of the cabinet was contained in a government communique wherein Von Schleicher is no longer designated as reichswehr "minister," but is merely called by President von Hindenburg "to conduct the affairs of the reichswehr ministry until further notice."

Army Free of Politics.

This circumlocution, which is expected to have no practical consequences, was said to be chosen by President von Hindenburg to emphasize his conviction that the reichswehr must be kept free from political influence.

Like his predecessors, Gen. von Schleicher will go before the reichstag Dec. 6 with authority from the presidency to dissolve that body should such a course be deemed necessary.

A meeting of the various reichstag parties was scheduled for tomorrow in preparation for the opening of parliament on Tuesday. Hitler arrived in Berlin today at the same time that the new chancellor was conferring with Wilhelm Goering, Hitlerite president of the reichstag. Details of their conversation were kept secret.

Thirteen Hurt in Hamburg Riot.

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Seven members of the reichsbannermen, a Republican organization, and six Nazis today were committed to a hospital here with bullet and other wounds received in a fierce fight between rival sports organizations. The clash occurred on the way to the athletic field.

LUDENDORFF HITS OLD TESTAMENT; "PERIL TO STATE"

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Old Testament today came under the heavy fire of Gen. Erich Ludendorff, strategist and military associate of Field Marshal von Hindenburg during the world war, who addressed a large audience in the Neue Welt assembly hall here. The occasion was a meeting of his "Tannenberg bund," which was founded in 1926 and which includes worshipers of the ancient gods.

Gen. von Ludendorff asserted that the Old Testament was "a Jewish gospel, full of deadly peril to the German state. The Jehovah's commandments, to fulfill which the Jews and Roman Catholics are vying with each other, justify political and private robbery and enslavement, yet they remain a part of the Christian doctrine."

The 67 year old militarist continued that Germans must find strength to throw this doctrine overboard and follow a religion "kin to our blood, and reconcilable with science and with freedom as our ultimate salvation." His wife, Mathilde, who has the same mental outlook as her husband, also spoke before the organization. Gen. Ludendorff expressly disclaimed any intention of attacking Christianity specifically.

No Cutting of Germany's Debts to U. S., French Told

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Dec. 4.—The American disarmament delegation today cleared up an apprehension in the minds of the French over the possible granting of a reduction in the German debt to the United States on mixed claims and which caused such a stir here last night. The only explanation as to how the French happened to hear that the United States had offered a three-quarters reduction on mixed claims and Rhineland occupation costs is that the report of the Basel proceedings regarding a renewal of short term credits to Germany had been garbled.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Happy Wife Keeps Youth; Brushes Away Gray Hair

Now you can really look years younger. Simply brush away those unsightly streaks or patches of gray. It is so easy to do—and at home—with Brownatone. Over 20 years of success recommend this proved method. With an ordinary small brush you just tint your hair back to its natural shade—whether blonde, brown or black. Guaranteed harmless. Active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Does not coat the surface. Actually penetrates the hair. Defies detection. No telltale flat "dyed" look. Cannot affect waving of hair.

No need to guess. First cut a lock of hair from your head and apply a little of this famous tint. If Brownatone does not give your gray, streaked, dull, or faded hair its natural color, youth, and sheen, your money back. Only 50c.

SURVEY OF 400 SCHOOLS TO BE STARTED TODAY

Seventeen Teams to Seek Data on Vacant Rooms.

Seventeen teams of school officials and representatives of the citizens' committee on public expenditures will embark this morning on a survey of more than 400 elementary schools and branches in Chicago. Data will be collected on the number of vacant rooms, enrollment, seat shortage and pupil load.

With the end in view of reducing school building appropriations to a minimum in the future, the citizens' committee wishes to ascertain whether the school plant is being used to a maximum capacity.

In the $100,000 report of Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia university and his associates, made public on June 1 of this year, the number of vacant rooms was estimated at 200. It is expected that the citizens' committee inquiry will reveal more than 400 vacant rooms.

Two Reasons Given.

Two reasons are given by school officials for the increase in unused classrooms.

One reason is that there is a drop of 5,800 pupils in the elementary school enrollment for this year. This would account for the equivalent of 129 rooms, using the accepted school figure of 45 pupils to a classroom in Chicago. The drop in grade school population reflects the declining birth rate.

The second reason given is that this year, for the first time, manual training and household arts have been abolished in the 8th grade schools. Special rooms for manual training, cooking and sewing that have been left vacant in this manner number somewhere between 75 and 100.

Rogers to Conduct Survey.

The inquiry will be conducted by Don C. Rogers, director of research and building survey for the school system. He has divided the city roughly into seventeen areas in which each team will collect figures at about twenty-five schools.

Supt. William J. Bogan has instructed the school principals to cooperate in every way possible in obtaining the information asked by the citizens' committee.

BODY OF FRENCH ACTRESS IS FOUND IN RIVER SEINE

PARIS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Marcel Arbend, known on the stage and screen as Marcelle Romee, who abandoned a promising career in the Comédie Française a year ago because of her health, today was believed by police to have committed suicide by throwing herself in the Seine.

She was 29. It was said she had suffered a nervous breakdown and had been staying in a private hospital from which she disappeared yesterday.

One person reported to police having seen a woman throw herself into the river after leaving some of her clothes on the shore. The body was recovered and authorities identified the victim as the actress.

FLYER KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Smashes Into Hangar

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Lieut. Frank J. Lynch of Summit, N. J., was killed here today. The specially built racing plane he was flying crashed into the roof of the main hangar at Bowles Agawam airport. The plane and Lynch's body were burned. Witnesses said Lynch just missed hitting parked automobiles as the plane got off the ground and apparently tried desperately to lift the plane over the hangar.

The craft, a gull wing racer, powered by a Wasp motor, designed by Robert L. Hall, had been flown to the national air races in September by Lynch.

Lynch was 43 and had been a former movie stunt pilot on the west coast. In the world war he was an army instructor. He leaves a widow, and two children.

LIST FIVE 'CRIME SPOTS' OF YOUTHS IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Five "crime spots" where the problem of youthful offenders is so acute as to suggest special reform measures have been located upon the map of New York City, the state crime commission made known today through publication of a report by its sub-commission on causes.

Three of the areas were described as in Manhattan, one in Brooklyn, and one in the Bronx. In each of them the total of offenses for which boys between 16 and 20 were arrested and the ratio of such arrests to the total male population of the same age group were said to be significantly high.

From its studies, which included a detailed consideration of statistics on adolescent crime during the year 1929, the sub-commission concluded that half of all the arrests for automobile thefts in New York and one-fourth of the arrests for burglaries, together with a large number of arrests for sex crimes, involved offenders more than 16 years of age and less than 21.

The sub-commission joined with those who recommend separate adolescents' courts to deal with youths who show criminal tendencies.

State in Mexico Limits Number of Priests Today

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The new religious law limiting Catholics to one priest for every 25,000 inhabitants will go into effect tomorrow in the State of Guanjuato, Leon, the capital, will be allowed four priests. The legislature of the State of Queretaro sent a resolution here today asking congress to expropriate all Catholic churches throughout Mexico and convert them into schools, training shops and recreational centers. The resolution will be considered before the end of December.

DIAMOND JEWELRY

FOR CHRISTMAS GIVING

REDUCED ONE-HALF!

IN OCTOBER, Spaulding-Gorham held its first store-wide sale. 1932 prices on our regular merchandise were reduced one-half. November first, after the most successful sale in our history, prices reverted to former levels.

Now, faced by conditions prevalent in the merchandising of diamond jewelry in Chicago, we are returning to our October sale policy. We are reducing prices on the major portion of our stock of pearls and diamond jewelry one-half.

Spaulding-Gorham patrons, as well as the general public, may well ask—"What, again?" Spaulding-Gorham answers—yes, contrary to our plan, but out of fairness to you as purchasers, and in justice to ourselves, we are reopening the sale on diamond jewelry.

We feel that those of you who are buying diamond jewelry, prefer to buy it here. We know that values, quality for quality, are better here. Therefore we feel justified in again giving you the opportunity of selecting diamond jewelry at Spaulding-Gorham, at half-price. Christmas is less than 18 shopping days away. # WARN PUBLIC NOT TO BE LULLED BY TAX REDUCTIONS

Civic Groups Estimate 16 Pct. Cut in 1931 Bills.

The Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency yesterday made public estimates of the 1931 and 1932 tax rates for various districts in Chicago. On the basis of these estimates it is indicated that the 1931 real estate tax bills, which come out next month, will be approximately 16.6 per cent lower than the all time high set by the 1930 bills. Real estate taxes under the 1932 levy, it is indicated, will be in the neighborhood of 22.3 per cent below the 1930 level.

"Taxpayers should not permit themselves to be lulled to sleep by the degree of relief from high tax bills now in prospect, and public officials should not permit themselves to look with complacency upon the reduction of public costs thus far achieved," states the federation's bulletin.

"The numerous forces which have built up high tax bills in the past are still resistant, even in the face of economic depression, and will be persistent for new advances the moment pressure is removed.

Foes of Economy Revealed.

"These forces include not only the organized influences which depend upon the public treasury for existence or profitable relationships, but also groups of private citizens who think that public economy should apply only to those services in which they themselves have no immediate or sentimental interest.

"In our judgment the approaching budget making season is by far the most critical which has yet confronted our public officials and citizens."

The reduction in tax bills will be the result of the general slash in real estate assessments in the 1931 quadrennial assessment just being completed. This assessment, with few changes in values, will also be used for computing 1932 tax bills. Under it the total of real estate assessments in Cook county dropped from $3,459,088,569 in the 1930 assessment to an estimated $2,609,857,467 in the present reassessment.

That is a reduction of 24.5 per cent in the average real estate assessment. Were the tax rates kept at the same level, it would also means a 24.5 per cent cut in taxes, but in every case, the federation's estimates show, the tax rates have been raised to compensate for the loss of revenue by the lower total of valuations.

Estimates of New Rates.

The estimates of tax rates for 1931 and 1932, with the actual 1930 rates for purposes of comparison, follow for the various city towns:

| Towns. | 1930 Rates. | 1931 Rates. | 1932 Rates. |
|---|---|---|---|
| West Chicago [west park district] | 6.58 | 7.28 | 6.74 |
| North Chicago [Lincoln park district] | 6.86 | 7.63 | 7.14 |
| Lake View [Lincoln Park district] | 6.88 | 7.66 | 7.16 |
| Calumet | *6.02 | *6.63 | *6.10 |
| Other Chicago Towns | *6.00 | *6.61 | *6.08 |

*Exclusive of small park district tax rates.

An approximation of the size of 1931 and 1932 tax bills may be obtained by taking into account both the increased tax rates and the decreased real estate valuations.

Basis for Tax Reduction.

Upon this basis, the average reduction below 1930 bills for the towns included in the three large park districts is found to be as follows:

| Towns— | Reduction— 1931 | 1932. |
|---|---|---|
| West Chicago | 16.5% | 22.7% |
| Lake View | 17.9% | 21.4% |
| North Chicago | 16.2% | 21.4% |

The average reduction in the other Chicago towns is 16.8 per cent for 1931 and 23.5 per cent for 1932, without taking into account the taxes for support of small parks. Whether the tax bills actually will show this reduction depends, however, on the diligence of the various small park commissioners in paring their 1931 and 1932 budgets.

State Rate Increase Seen.

"A still greater reduction in the indicated aggregate rates might be anticipated," the civic federation states, "were it not that sharp reductions in taxable values throughout Illinois are likely to produce a considerable increase in the state tax rate for 1932."

To estimate his own 1931 tax bill the property owner should obtain the 1931 assessment on his property from the assessor's office, multiply the assessed valuation by the rate for his township, and divide by 100. For property in the towns of Calumet, Rogers Park and Jefferson, small park tax rates must be added to the general rates given in the federation's present bulletin. A previous bulletin, giving estimates of these small park rates, is available at the federation's office at 160 North La Salle street, it was announced.

The same rates may be applied to personal property assessments for 1931 to estimated 1931 personal property tax bills.

Shooting in Store

A bandit was shot by a policeman and a customer was wounded by the robber in an attempted holdup of the United Cigar company store at 2401 Roosevelt road last night.

The gunman, who later identified himself as George Lipman, 47 years old, of 810 West Garfield boulevard, entered the store alone and commanded Sidney Phillips, the manager, and John Lyon, 60 years old, 2411 Washburne avenue, the patron, to hold up their hands.

In a rear room, waiting for such an emergency, was Policeman George H. Vasko of the Marquette station. Lyon stood in Vasko's line of fire. He realized this and casually stepped to one side.

Policeman Vasko fired three shots at Lipman. One bullet hit him above the heart and the other two struck his left shoulder. The bandit, believing that the gunfire came from Lyon, fired three shots at the latter. One bullet inflicted a slight wound in Lyon's neck. Lipman was taken to the Bridewell hospital in a critical condition. He said at first that his name was Harry Sack and that he came from St. Louis.

GENERALS QUIT IN CHILE TO ASSIST NEW PRESIDENT

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 4.—(AP)—All seven generals of the Chilean army presented their resignations today with a statement declaring they wished President Elect Arturo Alessandri to have freedom of action in reorganizing the military service.

The generals presented a report to the government on activities of high officials in different military movements this year. The commander-in-chief said the committee suggested that a number of officers be eliminated because of their tendency to participate in activities alien to the military profession.

Last Provincetown (Mass.) Town Crier Dies at 83

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Walter Smith, 83, last of the Provincetown town criers, died today. Smith quit his job five years ago because his feet got sore when cement replaced board walks. For years he had strolled through the town streets as in stentorian voice he announced church suppers, dances, lodge meetings and theater programs, interspersed with bits of news.

PAY TAX BEFORE CHRISTMAS, PLEA TO DELINQUENTS

Officials Seek Money for Salary Rolls.

An appeal for payment of taxes before Christmas was launched yesterday by County Judge Jarecki, the county commissioners, and County Treasurer McDonough on behalf of 42,000 unpaid city, county, sanitary district, and school employés and those of the other 400 taxing bodies in Cook county.

An examination of the treasurer's records made last week disclosed that $235,000,000 in delinquent 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes is either in forfeiture or tied up in the County court. Of this mountain of taxes only $47,000,000, or one-fifth, is needed to pay up in full all the unpaid local government workers.

From the judge, the treasurer, and the county board the plea that some taxes be paid by those who have neglected to make even payments on account was directed to civic groups and citizens' organizations. They asked that enough taxes be paid to assure at least one more pay roll for all employés before Christmas time.

Jarecki Issues Warning.

Judge Jarecki sounded a warning when he said: "This is a government by the people as well as of the people. If these large taxpayers who are able to pay a substantial part of their contested taxes refuse to participate in the conduct of their government by willfully withholding their taxes they are not in a position to censure others whose rebellion against government may take a different form.

"The statutes prescribe the steps the court may take to enforce the collection of taxes. These statutes are being followed. I cannot go beyond them. The methods prescribed by law are slow and this is a time for immediate action."

A resolution prepared by Commissioner Dan Ryan will be presented to the county board for formal approval today. The resolution recites that 18,000 teachers, 16,000 city employés, firemen and policemen, 4,000 county workers, 2,000 sanitary district workers, and at least 5,000 other governmental employés in the county have gone unpaid for an average of more than six months' work.

Seek Funds for Christmas Pay.

A cheerless Christmas is in store for all these employés and their families, the resolution states, unless enough taxes are collected to provide funds for a Christmas pay day. Bankers whose purchases of tax anticipation warrants have managed to keep government in operation, the resolution states, apparently have reached the limit of their resources and are unable to buy any more securities from the local governments.

"Christmas is just three weeks away and it is now up to the delinquent tax owers to determine whether the government employés in this county have a pay day which will enable them to provide some degree of Christmas cheer for their families, or to further embitter them by continuing to withhold the payment of taxes," said County Treasurer McDonough.

"I am, of course, referring only to those individuals or corporations that are able, financially, to pay tax-a Many large taxpayers have filed objections to the 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes and paid little or nothing on account. It is to those of this group that I am making my appeal to 'Say it with Taxes' this Christmas."

HELD AS THEATER "STINK' BOMBER.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Ralph Parks, 21, Omaha, is being held by police in connection with the release of a stink bomb in a nonunion theater which caused patrons to rush for exits.

ANOTHER GROUP HOPES TO MAKE AL SMITH MAYOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Announcement was made today of the formation of a committee to draft former Gov. Alfred E. Smith for mayor in 1933, as the first step in ridding the city permanently of blind allegiance to organization politics.

Six members of the committee, none of whom has been prominently identified with politics, were announced as organizers by Hamilton A. Long, chairman, a lawyer of 40 Wall street. The other members are Lewis G. Adams, an architect; Earle H. Balch, vice president of G. P. Putnam's Sons, publishers; Borden Helmer, investment counsel; Edward G. Sperry, vice president of Sperry Products, Inc., and Charles G. Wray, banker, and member of the board of governors of the New York Young Republican club.

Persons close to Mr. Smith said he was unaware of the formation of the committee. The committee was regarded, however, as foreshadowing increasingly great pressure on Mr. Smith within the next six months.

A committee of real estate men, early last summer started a similar movement, and then silently dropped it as premature.

Mr. Smith's plan for reorganization of the city government, presented by him to the Hofstadter investigating committee, is cited as a reason why he should be mayor.

JAPAN IS PRIMED FOR WAR; SEES IT AS HOLY CRUSADE

Justifies Its Actions as the Road to Peace.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 13 [by mail].—Japan has forsaken the dreamy, muddled, inefficient old orient, ridden and exploited by foreigners, and has taken power, wealth and pleasure as its new goals, after the manner of the west. Tokio reflects this brilliantly. It has about as much mystery as Detroit or Philadelphia. Its Ginza is another 5th avenue, its theater district a new and blazing Broadway, its boulevards, parks, subway, department stores, banks, newspapers a matter of pride.

Just as London is English and Chicago distinctively American, Tokio is Japanese. No foreign or international control of things here. There is hardly an English word to be found in a block. The Japanese effort is to take the western method and adapt it to its own ends, its own mentality, and to produce a finer civilization. Its roots are in the fundamental philosophy of the east, which eternally "beats the drum of the immortal in the darkness of this world," and out of it all, perhaps, may come a new aristocracy, a materialism restrained and more beautiful.

Viewed from Many Angles.

This process of becoming may be glimpsed in various ways in Tokio, a jewel of many facets. Just now, while the financiers are occupied with the new budget, the army is marching on Osaka plain in autumn maneuvers and the people are stacking the rice harvest, the imperial household department announces that "Morning Sea" will be the theme for the poems to be written at the annual poetry reading ceremony in the imperial palace on New Year's day.

Now for a month poems and chrysanthemums will bloom together under the pine trees of Japan. Emperor and empress, princes and princesses of the blood will join with school children in searching history, memory, nature for suitable lines. Japan has 2,000 miles of coast line. Its inland sea is not only a place of beautiful resort, wooded temples, fishing and commerce, but is a great fort, considered impregnable. The poetry bureau gives the hint, however, that peace, not war, is to be the subject, saying:

"The selection of 'Morning Sea' is particularly auspicious; at this moment the nation is confronted with international difficulties. We all hope to see the dawn of peace with all the four seas calm and peaceful."

Talk Peace; Expect War.

Peace, yes. But they do not really expect it. They expect war. It may be just around the corner, they think. And they are prepared. They are at war now. The western nations have taken this way to power and Japan has taken this lesson deeply to heart, finding its moral sanctions in the religious veneration in which the imperial family is held. War is rationalized as the way to peace.

The Kobe Women's club, for instance, holds a program of sword dancing and it is explained that this carries with it the spirit of bushido, the national trait of knighthood. The Japanese sword, it is said, is drawn to protect wisdom, courage, and benevolence, not to abet selfish conquering. The sword dance is taught not only as athletic training but as a spiritual culture. Whatever war is undertaken will be a holy war in the eyes of the Japanese, a war to keep Japan safe from the world.

Reality Vs. Theory.

A year or so ago this writer heard an eminent economist lecture before the Foreign Relations club of Chicago on the economic impossibility of Japan ever going to war over Manchuria. The economist had spent a year in Japan investigating the economic situation and was very convincing and plausible in his argument.

But today there is war in Manchuria against 150,000 Chinese "bandits" who do not like the new state of Manchukuo. And next door to the army and navy shrine in Tokio is a tank recently returned from the bombardment of Shanghai. Parts of Shanghai look like the devastated regions of France after the great war. So much for reason and reality.

The conflict in China and Manchuria has made the shrines of the national religion, Shintoism, more popular than ever, and new shrines are being authorized. The shrine dedicated to the Emperor Meiji is the finest in Tokio. It is approached on foot through a long forest path. Evergreens enclose it, tall pines with the lower branches lopped off to let in the light, guard its stillness. There are three gates, or torii, opening upon a wide and empty court which faces the shrine. This is a low pagoda structure in wood and rice straw, with no altars or idols or images. Just an open place in the woods, with no priests. A profound stillness pervades it, a delicate purity, a cleanliness, and extreme simplicity.

Patriotism and Loyalty.

The chief points of this faith are patriotism and loyalty. The army takes its moral sanctions here. The gods, it is taught, have mystic souls or "jewels," dwelling invisibly in the recesses of these temples. Here earth may have audience of heaven, as in the word of the emperor, it has the voice of God. These souls are known as mitama, and in the shrine mitama is represented by a material object or spirit body, such as a mirror, or a sword, which was used at the investiture of the emperor at Kyoto. The people bow their heads and make brief prayers, drink in the silence and go away purified.

At Gokokuji temple, the largest of the Buddhist temples in the city, the structure and open air features are much the same, for Shintoism is an outgrowth of the older religions, but the appeal is more to the senses. The huge placid Buddha image sits behind tall gold lotus flowers under canopies and behind altars, where the people bring offerings of fruit and flowers.

The chief priest sits in front of the image at a low altar or table, the other priests ranged in a row at one side, kneeling, their shaved heads bowed. The people kneel behind. A gong is struck which gives a soft tender note, and the priests begin to pray in unison in a sort of musical recitation which, striking the same note again and again, has a lulling effect on normal consciousness.

The priests hold services here early every morning and the people may drop in any time of day. Religion here, as in India, is not kept for Sundays, but prayers are held every morning before the family tablets in the Buddhist homes. There is popular Buddhism and then the Zen sect, which is an austere practice in the sinking of self, and an intellectual search for the higher classes of Japanese.

The Tenrikyo cult, which has 10,000 churches and 59,000 preachers in Japan, is a more recent religious growth. It is devoted to social welfare and educational work. Tenrikyo has started a national movement which aims at a new idealism with healing in its wings. There are many sects, many paths, but Kobo Daishi has written:

"All the 84,000 Bibles of Buddha are summed up in a few words. 'It is having God's mind, doing what God wishes'—this is what Hokoyo says."

A Day's Radio Program.

On Tokio's highest hill, Atago, there is another shrine, also a broadcast station. One may visit the gods or listen to the baseball game play by play. The Japanese broadcast of such events is a machine gun of words. Crowds stand in front of stores and listen. The stadium holds 50,000 and every public park has a game going.

The day's radio program is made up of children's hour, Tokio radio orchestra, lecture on economic unification by a professor at Kwansai university, news, folk songs, chamber music by Suzki quartet, weather report, market news, lecture on the military maneuvers by Lieut. Gen. Honjo, Shogi lesson, lectures by the war minister on Manchukuo, ballads and more music.

500,000 Idle in Tokio.

The Tokio jobless army is now about half a million and the government is worrying about relief, and when business will begin to improve. The Manchurian war is a business venture in a way, but it has not proved anything but costly so far. People are complaining about taxes and the farmers are organising to get some sort of government relief. All this has a familiar note.

Fall fashions in kimonos in the department store windows. These remain the ordinary dress for the girls, but the men are almost all attired in European clothes, although occasionally one goes clumping down the street in wooden shoes, wearing the long skirt robe of the old days. The kimonos are as gay as butternies and there are still many of the elaborate headdresses of the type of "the woman with the fan" painting. Rickshaws have disappeared from the streets, their places taken by cruising taxi men who make a terrible honking and kill and injure a long list of people every month. The new subway is under way on the main street and the traffic conditions are bad. More familiar problems.

The uniqueness of Japan is in having to hunt for something unique. A dinner dance at the Imperial hotel might be anywhere. Hearn's Japan and Kipling's India are taking new patterns in the changing loom of time.

RETURNS TO STAGE

MISS ANNA CASE.

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Miss Anna Case, former Metropolitan opera soprano, who shortly after her marriage to Clarence H. Mackay more than a year ago announced her retirement from the professional field, will return to the concert stage because "she likes it," her manager, Samuel Emilio Piza, director of the Plaza Artistic Mornings, made the announcement today.

Mrs. Mackay's first concert appearance, since her marriage will take place at the Hotel Plaza next Thursday morning, when she will appear in song recitals with Efrem Zimbalist, violinist.

LAW STUDENT IS KILLED, 4 HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Concordia, Mo., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Chester Jones, 22, University of Kansas law student and well known midwest amateur golfer, was killed in a motor car collision near Concordia today.

Three other University of Kansas students and Miss Cleo Hite, Kansas City nurse, were injured. The motor car of the five, who were returning from Columbia, Mo., following a debate between the Universities of Kansas and Missouri, was hurled from the highway in a crash with a newspaper truck driven by Frank Beebe, 35, of Kansas City.

Which One of Us Do You Choose? We Are— $1 to $4.95

TODDLE TOT is the choice of Jean (the center Mamma, below). She's older than Toodles, but young enough to cry—and she'll take naps whenever you want her to. 25 inches tall. $3.95.

MISS PETITE is just irresistible to Mary Ann (the right-hand Mamma). It's because of her gorgeous curls (actually real hair). Miss Petite is 24 inches tall and stands alone. $3.95.

ENROLLMENT OF GOOD FELLOWS ENTERS 2D WEEK

Army of Christmas Cheer Volunteers Grows.

Good Fellows today begin the second week of their campaign to bring cheer to the downhearted on Christmas. In the first week, enrollments in this Santa Claus army exceeded last year's record by 39 per cent.

An explanation of the increase is that this year there are more folks in need of the wholesome pleasure that comes with unselfish giving, and more of them are filling this need by enlisting in the Good Fellows.

Would your Christmas be the happier for your having delivered a basket to the poor? Cut out the coupon on this page and mail it to Good Fellows, TRIBUNE, Chicago, or call in person at the Good Fellow headquarters in THE TRIBUNE public service office at Dearborn and Madison streets. The telephone is SUPerior 0100.

Obtain Name of Family.

The headquarters will give you the name of a family recommended for your kindness after an investigation by the United Charities, the Central Charity bureau, the Cook County Bureau of Public Welfare, the Juvenile court, or some other affiliate of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies.

With the name will be the address and a brief description of the family. On request, the address can be close to your home. There are few neighborhoods without their destitute this winter. Many Good Fellows without automobiles are requesting families within walking distance so that the basket can be carried on Christmas Eve.

The description of the family probably will list a number of children, some so young that only a Good Fellow can save them from their first disillusionment about Santa Claus, and some a little older but still dependent upon a Good Fellow to save them from bitter disappointment. A few of the families are childless old couples, destitute in their last few years of life, highly responsive to a kindness.

Cash Also Acceptable.

Wouldn't you like to cheer some such family? All it takes is an inexpensive basket of toys, candy, fruit, and foodstuffs, and a few minutes of your time on Christmas Eve.

Or if you can't spare the time, cash donations will be accepted at the Good Fellow headquarters. Of course every penny will go into some basket, THE TRIBUNE paying all administration costs. Cut out the coupon today —Christmas Eve is only two weeks from Saturday.

Fog Forces Down Archduke with Ileana and Baby Son

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Archduke Anton and Princess Ileana, with their infant son Stevan, today flew to Belgrade to visit their relatives, King Alexander and Queen Marie. Fog forced the archduke to land at Turnu Severin in the Carpathians but despite the delay their plane arrived in Belgrade at 4:10 p. m. In a few days the archduke plans to fly to Vienna near where his family will reside.

Invents New Gunpowder for Anti-Aircraft Shells

SEVILLE, Spain, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Col. Juan Moreno Luque of the artillery today announced he had invented gunpowder for anti-aircraft missiles hitherto incapable of adequate distance. Representatives of artillery and aviation units today attended a demonstration of the use of the gunpowder. They were quoted as saying the experiment was successful.

Paraguay Plane Explodes in Gran Chaco Air Fight

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Military authorities here today issued a bulletin saying that "after ten minutes of a thrilling aerial fight, a Paraguayan airplane exploded eight kilometers southwest of Fort Saavedra." Fort Saavedra has been a center of fighting in the Gran Chaco area during the last few weeks between Bolivian and Paraguayan forces.

DOOLITTLE OFF TODAY ON 10,000 MILE FAIR FLIGHT

Air Ambassador to Seek New Records.

Maj. James H. Doolittle, holder of the world's land plane speed record of 294.39 miles an hour, was to take off from Chicago airport at dawn today on a 10,000 mile record breaking flight which will cover the nation. Acting as air ambassador of the World's Fair, he will deliver messages to the mayors of twenty-five cities, inviting them to attend the fair next summer.

After seeing that his plane is ready and studying weather reports, Maj. Doolittle announced yesterday that he first would fly the southern leg of his trip and then the eastern and western legs, in that order. A storm in the east caused him to alter his original plans.

In New Orleans Tonight.

His itinerary for today includes stops at Kansas City, Tulsa, Dallas, Houston and overnight at New Orleans. Tomorrow he will return to Chicago by the way of Memphis and St. Louis. Wednesday he plans to fly to Cleveland, Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, and Boston, stopping overnight at the last named city, and continuing on Thursday to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and back to Chicago.

On Friday he plans to head west to Cheyenne, Salt Lake City, and San Francisco. He will stay overnight at San Francisco and continue on the next day to Los Angeles, Pueblo and Denver. Next Sunday he plans to return to Chicago by the way of Kansas City and St. Louis, thus completing the 10,000 mile flight in six days.

Maj. Doolittle expects to set a new series of speed records for transport planes between each of his stopping points. He will carry four passengers in his low wing Lockheed Orion monoplane [Wright motor]. The plane is said to be the fastest transport plane in the world, attaining a top speed of 245 miles an hour, and cruising at about 230 miles an hour. It is equipped with radio, blind flying instruments and a rubber device to keep ice from forming on the wings.

Plans Speed Demonstration.

"We are going to demonstrate with a slightly specialized but standard commercial airplane that it is possible to bring the cruising speed of transport planes to more than 200 miles an hour with safety," he said.

Maj. Doolittle is a former army pilot. He was the first pilot to fly a course and land a plane entirely by instruments, and he holds many speed records, including the American seaplane record and the closed course record.

His most notable feat was flying the Andes mountains with both his ankles broken and in plaster casts. He was the first to perform an outside loop. And he has won the Schneider, Harmon, Mackay, Bendix, Thompson, and Shell trophies. Maj. Doolittle lives 'n St. Louis.

Last night he explained over W-G-N the purpose of this flight. He will broadcast in detail the story of the flight over W-G-N when he returns to the city at the completion of each of the three legs of the flight.

Flying Forecasts

Special flying route forecasts for the period from 9 p. m. yesterday to noon today:

Operate at Sea on Captain of Ocean Liner Europa

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Stricken at sea with appendicitis, Commodore Nikolas Johnsen, commander of the North German-Lloyd liner Europa, was successfully operated on by the ship's surgeon, a wireless message reported today as the vessel neared New York. Pending Johnsen's complete recovery, he has been temporarily relieved of his command by P. Petersen, first officer.

CHINESE REBELS SHOOT AT BOAT; 200 TROOPS SLAIN

HANKOW, China, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A gruesome episode of the Szechuan war was revealed here today when the small Chinese river steamer Wanan arrived from Chungking, with the bodies of more than 200 Szechuanese soldiers on her decks. The little vessel was scarred from stem to stern by machine gun bullets.

The Wanan had carried troops of Gen. Liu Schiang and was making her way down the rive between the gorges above Ichang, her captain said, when the hostile Szechuan troops, deployed on the rocky cliffs above, opened machine gun fire at close range. Many of the soldiers lining the steamer decks were killed. The Wanan ran through the gantlet and immediately came to Hankow seeking aid for the scores of wounded soldiers who managed to survive the withering attack.

The episode occurred during a civil war in which four Chinese provinces were engulfed. Dispatches from the capital of Kewichow province last week said the provincial government was fighting for its existence against rebels who sought to establish an independent administration. One of the other provinces was Szechuen where hostilities continued for some time between Liu Schiang and his nephew, Liu Wen Hui, for the control of the province.

HANGS HIMSELF IN CELL.

ALIENIST FINDS IGGY SANE; URGES LIFE IN PRISON

Says Varecha Has Mind of 10 Year Old Child.

James [Iggy] Varecha, 17 year old killer, rapist and robber, is legally sane but mentally defective, with the intelligence of a child of ten and a half years, in the opinion of Dr. Orlando F. Scott, psychiatrist. Dr. Scott's report will be submitted today to Varecha's lawyer, Joseph Nosek, who employed the alienist to examine his client.

"I am convinced from a week's observation and examination of this boy that he is legally sane, that he has the ability to distinguish between right and wrong," said Dr. Scott yesterday. "But by the same token he is unable to follow the dictates of his will. Such a person knows the thing he is doing is wrong, but he cannot control his impulses because of his defective intelligence."

Urges Life for "Iggy."

Dr. Scott expressed the opinion that Varecha should be incarcerated for life. The youth is awaiting trial on charges of killing Frank F. Jordan and robbing James Quisinger, whose companion, Miss Lillian Henry, he kidnaped and raped.

"The defense in this case is called upon to protect society by a recommendation that this defendant be put away where there will be no possibility of pardon, parole or escape," Dr. Scott said.

Dr. Scott said he would have nothing to do with any defense of Varecha based on insanity. He said the persons best qualified to handle Varecha's case are Judge Mary Bartelme of the Juvenile court, Dr. Paul L. Schroeder, head of the Institute for Juvenile Research; Dr. Warren E. Murray, head of the hospital for mental defectives at Dixon, where the boy killer escaped; and doctors affiliated with the courts.

Regarded as Harmless.

The psychiatrist declared that "Iggy" should never have been permitted to return to his old haunts, "to run at large like a man-eating tiger," without serious efforts to recapture him, but added that the officials through whose hands he passed honestly believed that he was harmless, that he was incapable of murder or rape.

"They knew he was not mentally capable of first degree murder intent, because of his mentality, as they had studied it, proved this. And that is why they went serenely on their way and made no great effort to keep him under lock and key or to recapture him when he escaped, knowing his address and that he always went back to his old neighborhood."

Dr. Scott distinguished between Varecha's mentality and that of the other boy killer, Bertrand Arnold. The doctrine of the irresistible impulse, as recognized by the courts of New York, Wisconsin, Utah, Rhode Island and the United States Supreme court, is applicable in the Arnold case, while Varecha's is the unresisted impulse, he said.

POLAND HONORS YANK AS Y.M.C.A. OPENS BUILDING

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Earl Richard Cummings of Cleveland, O., was decorated with the Polish gold cross of merit today in connection with the inauguration of a new Y. M. C. A. building here.

The edifice was made possible by the late S. P. Fenn of Cleveland, who willed $300,000 for that purpose. Premier Prystor opened the structure with considerable ceremony and personally awarded the medal to Cummings, who is director of the Warsaw Y. M. C. A.

Members of the American embassy staff, cabinet members, and prominent citizens attended the exercises. Minister of Education Janusz Jendrzejewicz lauded the work of the Y. M. C. A. and said the building would be a great boon to the city's working youths.

SWIFT TRAGEDY TAKES MOTHER FROM HER BABY

Mrs. Gertrude Trumpp, 24 years old, of 2638 Newcastle avenue, was killed by a sleeping hit and run automobile last night as she alighted from the rear platform of a Grand avenue street car at Oak Park avenue and was reaching out to receive her 2 year old child from the arms of her husband, Carl, who was still on the platform. Shortly afterward Cragin police arrested the three occupants of the automobile, one of them the driver.

Witnesses said the automobile was traveling at a speed of 50 miles an hour when it passed the standing street car. It hurled Mrs. Trumpp twenty-five feet and sped on. A few minutes later it was wrecked in an alley in the rear of 3415 New England avenue. Lieut. Thomas O'Hara and Detectives Edward McBride and John Hill traced the license to Edward Przybyski, 19 years old, of 2545 North Mason avenue.

Lieut. O'Hara said they arrested him in a neighbor's home at the moment he was telephoning police that his car had been stolen. He had been drinking, police charged. Przybyski admitted that he drove the car and named his companions. The latter, Stanley Dudek, 18 years old, of 2832 North Moody avenue, and Clyde Girard, 24, of 6034 Melrose street, were seized as material witnesses.

Fall from Car Kills Child.

Betty Jeanne Vetrus, 4 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Vetrus, formerly of Detroit, was fatally injured yesterday when she fell out of a car driven by her father and beneath a rear wheel. The accident occurred in Milwaukee road, just northwest of Waukegan, while the family was en route to the father's former home in Medford, Wis.

The child was sitting on her mother's lap. Suddenly the side door flew open. Mrs. Vetrus grabbed Betty's coat and Vetrus held on to his wife, saving her from toppling into the road. She could not retain her hold on Betty, and the child fell.

George Knoop, 35 years old, of 1135 South Cuyler avenue, Oak Park, a grocer, was killed early yesterday when his automobile was struck by a rapid transit train on the Garfield Park branch at the Ridgeland avenue surface crossing in Oak Park. The car was dragged 250 feet and set afire by the explosion of its gasoline tank.

Oak Park police and Chief Deputy Coroner S. J. Kolanowski charged that the crossing gates had not been lowered in time. The gates were cracked, but this, they asserted, might have been caused in descending tardily on the roof of the car. Transit company officials insisted the gates had been lowered in time and that Knoop drove through them. C. L. Bagley, 629 South Kilbourn avenue, the watchman, said he lowered the gates.

The deaths of Mrs. Trumpp, Knoop, and two others increased the 1932 Cook county motor toll to 1,037 for the year. The other victims:

Patrick Lynch, 76 years old, 7141 Ridgeland avenue, a pensioned employé of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Fatally injured at 72d street and Jeffery avenue by an automobile driven by James Jones, 16 years old, 2666 East 73d street, a son of Buell Jones, attorney for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

James Cinnelli, 64 years old, 1339 51st avenue, Cicero. Died in Frances Willard hospital. He was struck Saturday night at 14th place and 51st avenue, Cicero.

Joseph Wagner, 43 years old, 1904 Nelson street, a city fireman, was seriously injured last night in a collision at 1410 Milwaukee avenue. Wagner's brother, Bernard, 28 years old, received cuts and bruises. The driver of the other automobile, which had been stolen, escaped on foot.

Fire Destroys Congressman Atkins' Records in Home

Decatur, Ill., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Fire originating in the library of his home here today destroyed many of the Congressional Records and government literature collected by Congressman Charles Atkins during his ten years in Washington. The blaze was attributed to a defective wire. Firemen placed the damage at $1,500. Congressman Atkins, a Republican, was defeated in the November election. He is in Washington.

THE STORE OF THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Christmas is the shining festival of the unselfish. It is the homecoming of the spirit. The glorification of the good, the true, and the beautiful.

Christmas gifts are the outward evidence of the inward feeling of love and gratitude which men cherish toward their fellow men. Christmas giving is the exaltation of man's gentlest instincts in the gentlest festival that he knows.

Generosity burns this year as brightly as ever in the hearts of men, but there is less with which to be generous. Yet the need for giving was never greater. This is a time therefore, to give with your head as well as with your heart. To remember in your giving the human and pressing needs of those to whom you give.

We suggest that this year you give sensible gifts, whether you buy them at Sears or elsewhere. Tinsel cannot shelter a woman who faces the Winter without a warm coat. Trinkets are but poor things when a family needs blankets. Baubles, however magnificent, cannot reduce the burdens of housekeeping. Cake cannot take the place of bread.

Come to Sears for sensible gifts. For useful things by which men and women live and with which they can live. For things which you would be asked to give if people expressed their urgent needs. Let your gift giving reveal not only your devotion but also your human sympathy and warm understanding of the lives of those to whom you give.

Sensible gifts and sensible giving in this year of difficulty will cause your memory to endure long after this Christmas has itself become a bright memory, and until the next Christmas begins to cast its light upon the horizon.

WHAT IT DID NOT MENTION.

While the British note on debt payments is as strong and comprehensive an argument as can be made on behalf of the debtor, it leaves out a good deal that the American people cannot dismiss in arriving at a judgment based not merely upon economic expediency but upon the higher and more lasting expediency of justice. The case for further American concessions and sacrifice must face considerations which British advocacy naturally omits, but which America does not and ought not to forget.

We are told that America has refused under its protective tariff policy to allow the only means of payment practicable, and it is intimated that this policy has forced similar defensive actions on the part of Great Britain. But nothing is said of the recent Ottawa conference and its agreements, the objectives of which no one pretends or could seriously pretend were forced upon British policy by any other motive than the strengthening of the ties of the empire and the absorption by Britain of as much of the trade of her dominions as possible. One of the chief efforts of this conference was a formidable blow at our trade with Canada, and it will occur to the fair mind that if American policy has, as charged, weakened the British ability to pay us, British policy has to that substantial degree weakened America's ability to sustain the sacrifice now asked of it.

In the same sense the raid upon the dollar, conspicuously fostered by a formidable section of the English press and undoubtedly by financial power in Great Britain, taking place at a crisis of our recent financial difficulties, threatened ruin to the American credit structures and went a long way toward making further financial sacrifices on the part of the American people intolerable.

This found no consideration in the British statement of our relations, and conspicuously absent also was any mention of the gains to our debtors accruing from the victory which the sacrifices of the American people assured. No such gains as the taking of the German colonies represents accrued to the United States, but when the note asserts that international debt payment must be made in gold or goods and service, the factor of property is overlooked and there is nothing more significant in the British argument than its omission. But the people of the United States do not forget that it was from the British island of Jamaica that the most formidable assault was delivered upon us in the days of our youth and weakness. That island is still under the British flag, facing the vital link of our coasts, the Panama canal. And there are other British islands, from the Bahamas, almost in sight of our shores, to Trinidad, all belonging geographically to our system and all potential bases of attack. Even more salient is the threat of Bermuda, a British naval base within easy striking distance by airplane of New York and the New England states. If Amsterdam was a pistol pointed at the heart of Britain, what is Bermuda?

American policy, backed by practical action and the sacrifices of advantages we know no nation in Europe would have made, has been influenced, and it now appears to our substantial hurt, by the desire to help. Our reward is to be admonished for ruthless self-interest and to receive demands for further sacrifices under covert threat of punishment. We should be more open to appeal could we find in our debtors more candor, more willingness to share sacrifice and more will to correct within their own household self-wrecking internal policies and world-wrecking international conflicts which are far more fatal to peace and recovery than any disturbance chargeable to the foreign debts.

AMERICAN LIBERALS AS MARXIAN BROTHERS.

The thought patterns (jargonese for instinctive or automatic opinions) of the American liberals and intellectuals of this era will never be understood except by the psychiatrist. They probably will be found to have gland origins or, possibly, to arise from diet deficiencies. The logician will never understand them and to the rest of us ordinary mortals they are merely bewildering, like Chinese politics, Japanese statesmanship, Mr. Stimson, and Huey Long.

In the liberal thought pattern there is no stranger exhibit than that which discloses an affectionate indorsement of soviet Russia. A primary postulate of the intellectuals is that anything done by a military force to a mass of population is vile. The extermination of a top caste is, of course, righteous. The assassination of the Russian ruling classes of the old régime would need no other justification in liberal opinion than the corpses. This leaves the common people, Mr. Coolidge's ordinary run of folk. Ever since the massacre of their old bosses the Russian masses have lived under military dictatorship.

The soviet party is as restricted as the old New England Congregational franchise. The fate of a minority opinion may be found in Trotzky, Lenin's right hand man in the revolution which Stalin has usurped. The religious enthusiasm of communism is packed inside the soviet grand lodge. The majority of Russians are ox eyed, chew the cud, and are herded as the dictator wills they shall be.

All this is inherently horrible to the American liberal except as he sees it in Russia, where it becomes magnificent. Stalin may deny the rights of a citizen to Trotzky, but if Trotzky were stopped at Ellis island the outrage would be indescribable. If any American industrial or agricultural region were put in the control of troops to provide security for free individuals the liberals would shatter the peace of heaven, but they like the use of the Red army to despoil fairly prosperous Russian farmers of their goods.

The Marx Brothers (not Karl) are probably the best interpreters of American liberalism: "We're nuts to you."

THE LADIES' CRUSADE.

Rich ladies, intellectual ladies and a legal lady, a "group of noble dames," mostly of New York, went to Washington to call at the White House and on Vice President Curtis. Their purpose was not social. It concerned the state of the nation. They had a petition to present in behalf of the hunger marchers. They were not allowed to see the President. At the White House there was an interchange of polite ice, Mr. Joslin of the secretariat being the official iceman. Mr. Curtis received them. Mrs. Gann, the second lady, would have done more for them.

Mr. Curtis, as one lady remarked, "stood up to receive us, but when we left he slammed the door. That tells the story." Mr. Curtis is timid and there are times when he is not sure he knows what it is all about. Probably he did not know what this was all about and the slamming of the door was not a discourtesy but an involuntary confession of relief that, whatever it was, it was over with.

Mr. Curtis is not alone in being puzzled. The newsreel camera may explain the ladies who had their pictures taken on the lawn, but there remains the new idea of the right of petition which has come to justify various forms of public nuisance. In the operation of a fully expressive democracy the right of petition becomes rudimentary. It loses necessity. It is a right most esteemed when the petitioners, hat in hand, approach autocratic authority. As authorities become more and more responsive to democracy, in truth afraid of it most of the time, the petitioners do not ask them. They tell them.

Within the last year or so persons having various reasons for coming to the front have rediscovered the right of petition as containing not only the authority for claiming the attention of the government but also a warrant for the expenditure of public funds to maintain the petitioners in their pilgrimages and their protracted assemblages. It is supposed to be good for free transportation, living quarters, and orders on the public commissary.

The right of peaceable assemblage does not in itself seem to justify a march, so provendered and transported, upon Washington, and therefore the right of petition has been rediscovered as the essential privilege of American citizenship and amplified to cover almost any incursion upon public authority, funds, convenience, or security.

GENEVA IN THE GRAN CHACO.

It is reported from Geneva that the league of nations committee having under consideration the territorial dispute, a first rate war, between Paraguay and Bolivia, proposes that an international military commission proceed to the scene of hostilities for an inquiry.

The league seems to have its hands full with the Japanese-Chinese issue focused in Manchuria. That large job appears in no way to be about to reach an outcome which will even save the face of the leaguists. But the opportunity to invade the precincts of the Monroe Doctrine may be too alluring to be neglected. Mr. Stimson's pervasiveness in making anybody's fight his own must be conceded as precedent for almost any interventions or inquiry or meddling which could be proposed at Geneva or elsewhere. A military commission which got itself into the Gran Chaco might soon have good reason for wishing itself back home, even if the Paraguayan mincemeat division did not mistake it either for something hostile or something edible. That possibility is one apparent mitigation of the idea that a European commission should try to discover why two American republics are fighting in the jungle.

NULLIFIED STUPIDITY.

[The Grand Rapids Press.]

Import taxes of two dollars a ton on coal shipments from Canada, Great Britain and Germany have been voided by the discovery of previous treaty agreements, thus canceling one of the silliest duty impositions ever enacted by congress. The state department harked back to the treaty of 1815 to find an "excuse" to abolish application of this tariff against England.

The coal duties were tacked on the billion dollar revenue bill last spring as a tariff rider and as part of a log rolling program with lumber, oil and copper interests. They were sponsored by a small minority group which wished to halt principally the comparatively small shipments across the Canadian border.

Coal imports, however, total less than a million tons annually. Total income from duties would have been only about $175,000 or less. But revenue was not the purpose of this tariff. It was admittedly an embargo measure, although imports were not more than one-sixth of one per cent of the total production in this country.

But while congress was attempting to shut out less than a million tons of coal it was placing in jeopardy exports of fifteen to twenty times as much. It was subjecting to retaliation nearly three per cent of the American production which was being sent to foreign consumers.

The strangest aspect of the embargo was the fact that it was aimed principally at Canada, which had been taking about eighty-five per cent of our coal exports. And Canada has not been backward about imposing retaliatory barriers against United States goods.

The state department was fortunate in being able to discover prior agreements that canceled this suicidal measure. We are not always so successfully delivered from these stupidities and must expect this type of legislation as long as we send representatives to Washington who are at the beck and call of shortsighted minorities.

INTROVERSION, KALEIDOSCOPIC.

(For Hans E. Lehmann.)

Some sinful, shameful lust that is his fashion:
But mine, though painful, 'tis in hue and tone
At least 's an honest and an open passion.

I fancy that my tastes are liberalmic
And give beholders (shall we say) a pain;
My fellowman, sans doubt, I strike ophthalmic;
My rainbow luster, certes, is his bane.

But notwithstanding that my liking's lurid,
The truth I shall confess e'en though it hurts:
I shall go as I will investiture:

THA DUKE MEETS THA NEW STYLES.

Lissen: I walks in tha shack lass nite an fer a minute I thought I got tha wrong house and hit a style show. Instead of finding tha B. an C. doing a stirring soup act in tha kitchin she's parading up an down tha parlor with her arms floatin thru space. A bran new coat an about 3c worth of hat is covering her frame. On inquiring whether she's going out or just coming in she tells me she aint doin neither she's just admiring herself in her new finery; my first question was, is they paid for and where'd ya get tha bucks? Her reply is that as long as I didn' bring home tha 85 smackers she put in a requisition fer last week she charged them on my sister-in-law's account and that I shood start worrying about getting tha dough together by tha 10th of next month. Now I aint tha worrying type an besides my slogan is that tha guy you owe is tha guy that shood worry. Tha Mama aint no piker; she also bought 3 pairs of sockes and new shoes. Just to be polite I asks her if she got black and tan stockings an I get informed that they aint anything like that ennymore as beige, gun-metal and smoketone are tha new colors. To me that's all Greek but I got to thinkin it wood be funny if some new country got organized and adopted a patriotic song like "Three cheers for tha Beege, Gun-metal and Smoketone." You shooda seen tha shoes she pays 8 berries fer. Seems tha less leather you get tha more tha shoes cost; without foolin there's more material on tha kind they dish out at a Turkish bath. Tha big kick I got was looking at tha hat, it's made out of about a nickles worth of felt an covers one eye shut. I didn' ask tha price but if she spent over 35c fer it I'm gonna close her other eye. I think she tried to pull a fast one on me cause when I asks her what kind of fur there was on tha coat she tells me it's un-born lamb. Her riddles as a rule are so louzy I didn't bite, so long as she dont serve un-born fried chicken next Sunday I'll be satisfied. On inquiring as to when do we eat supper I get told that she's just too excited to cook so I'm forced to tell her that tha excitement goes two ways unless I get fed. Between tha 2 course supper she tells me she wood love to have me bring home a gardenia next Saturday afternoon. Not being at all interested I dont even ask what tha hell is it, a gardenia, but Saturday noon I asks a waitress and she tells me she has got a slight idea that it's a plant or sumpin. We've got 2 geraniums an a cuppla ferns but I won't argue. I drops into our Greek vegetable store where they also carry a side line of flowers and when I asks fer a gardenia tha boss looks blank an tells me tha spinach is nice so I gotta tell him a gardenia is what you call a flower and he says "Shure Mike, we godda cauliflower." By this time I'm so damn mad I bought that first thing I laid my eyes on and went home. I got a very nice reception.

CONGRESS BEGINS! Will Mr. Garner be for beer today or against it? Let's see. It's now the dark of the moon; the second day of the week and fifth day of the month, an odd number; Mars, Venus, and Jupiter are morning stars and Saturn is an evening star, so—well—yes—under the circumstances it would seem that Mr. Garner might be in favor of beer today. But we wouldn't bet on it.

LEARNING TO SEE.

As a rule cross eyes is acquired. In fact, it is usually gradually acquired, there being several steps in the process. We might even call it a process of training or education. It runs counter to one's conception of education and training to speak of cross eyes or any other undesirable characteristic as being their product. Nevertheless, they are. What is more, the only proper correction is through education or training. The cross-eyed child must turn around and go out by the hole he came in. A baby at birth has sight, but having little mind to register vision on he might as well be blind. The common opinion is that some lower animals are born blind, and most people think babies at birth are in about the same fix.

But the rule is that when a baby is born his eyes have the power of vision already developed, and that he has in reserve the power to register visual impressions on the brain, to have the muscles of the two eyes work together, and to fuse images of the two eyes. Let us state two other facts and then we will be ready to begin the discussion of the subject immediately in hand.

Most babies at birth are quite farsighted, and one eye is dominant, just as one hand—usually the right—is dominant. During the baby's first month of life he improves daily in his ability to see and to register what he sees on his brain. Nevertheless, his vision is poor and he sees two flat images, one with each eye, and one image may, in some slight measure, dominate the other.

At about six weeks the two eyes have learned to work together. At about eight weeks the eyes will follow an object. The power of fusing the images of the two eyes, making one image with something of depth to it, stereoscopic vision, begins to develop. This power of fusion increases month by month until about seven years of age.

In a young baby either eye tends to cross temporarily. If the child is headed for cross eyes somewhere in the second half of the first year it will be noted that one eye tends to cross and stay crossed. If the eyes are examined at this time it will be found that the vision is poor, farsightedness is marked, the straight eye dominates, and vision in the crossed eye tends to be disregarded or suppressed. Progressively, as time elapses, the power to fuse becomes lessened, the vision in the crossed eye becomes poorer and, in time, the eye is fixed in the crossed position and it has lost some or all of its vision.

At four years of age another factor is added. The playmates are now calling the child "cock-eye," and a psychic-social factor is added.

At maturity the crossed eye is farsighted and blind, and an occupation must be chosen that does not require the kind of work a man cannot do who is farsighted, has a dominant straight eye, and a blind crossed eye.

Now what is the cure? Whatever it is, it must be attended to before the child is seven years old. After that age operation may improve appearance, but it will not improve vision. The first step in cure is to have the child wear glasses that correct the farsightedness. That is the basic trouble. Another requisite is that the glasses should promote fusing of the images and should lessen the superiority of the dominating eye.

As a rule glasses should be fitted at fifteen months. Dr. L. C. Peter says that most children wear glasses satisfactorily at that age, and that if they are worn steadily during the second half of the second year of life nothing else need be done in more than half the cases.

The next step is to spend some time periodically in retraining vision of the crossed eye. This is very effective if it is undertaken before six years of age, but the earlier the better.

The next is training in making the images fuse. The final step is operation on the eye muscles. Some cases will require that, but it must be done before the child is ten. Operations done after that straighten the eyes, but they do not restore fusion or sight to the crossed eye.

CREAKING JOINTS.

P. B. X. writes: I have read about nearly all the ailments there are, but here is a new one. What causes creaking and stiff joints? Every time I move my arms and legs my joints pop. I am young.

REPLY.

You must be young and just learning to read. You could swim in the ink used in printing articles on this subject which have appeared in the newspapers. Creaking joints result from mild, chronic arthritis.

GRANULES IN TONSILS.

Mrs. R. D. writes:

1. What causes white granules in the tonsils which, indirectly, cause bad breath?
2. What cure is there, if any?

REPLY.

1. Accumulation of food and other debris in small pockets in the tonsils.
2. They can be massaged out, or sucked out with a vacuum apparatus. Or, the tonsils can be removed.

LICENSE REQUIRED.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there a law preventing a farmer selling milk direct to the consumers, providing he complies with the law as laid down by the health authorities with regard to pasteurization, etc.? The farmer in question has a farm near Chicago, and wishes to drive in each morning and make his own deliveries.

H. S.

Section 3082 on page 1167 of the city code provides: "No person, firm or corporation, nor any driver of any milk wagon, nor any servant or agent of any vender of milk, shall sell or offer for sale, expose for sale, dispose of, exchange or deliver, or with the intent so to do have in his possession, care, custody or control, milk or cream for human food, without having obtained a license for that purpose."

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CONTESTING WILL.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like to ask a few questions concerning a will of my grandfather which was read in Pennsylvania in August, 1932. The heirs were his daughter [my mother]; myself [granddaughter]; my dead sister [granddaughter]; my sister's four children, and about 15 friends. My mother receives monthly the interest on the principal. At her death the principal is to be divided between the four great-grandchildren. My two daughters, aged 4 and 5, also great-grandchildren, were not mentioned. The will states anyone contesting same will lose their share. 1. Can I contest the will in behalf of my children? 2. Can this will be broken? 3. Can my children receive an equal share of the principal? 4. Is it necessary that I obtain a special lawyer and go through court proceedings to obtain this? F. Z.

1. Of course you can file a bill to contest the will, but you would not succeed merely on the ground that your children are not mentioned. You would have to show undue influence or lack of testamentary capacity in order to set the will aside, and even if it were set aside your children would not be heirs as long as you yourself are living.
2 and 3. See 1.
4. If you wish to contest the will you should employ an attorney.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 5, 1916.

LONDON.—The great battle for Bucharest has almost been decided in favor of the Germanic invaders. The capital is under bombardment from German artillery eleven miles distant. The Rumanians have been thrown back over the Argesu river, immediately south of the city. The invading armies of the north, the west, and the south have formed a junction and together are moving toward Bucharest. In the Carpathians and in eastern Transylvania the Russians have won local successes in desperate engagements, and in the Dobrudja Gen. Sakharoff continues to batter fiercely at the enemy's lines. But there is little chance to divert the Teutonic commanders from the campaign against Bucharest, and it is only a matter of hours before the city falls.

PETROGRAD.—The timely arrival of Russian troops before Bucharest gives the Rumanians at least a fighting chance to retain their capital. Information from Bucharest is that the German plan of encircling Bucharest was near accomplishment when it struck an obstacle in the Russian force between Bucharest and the Danube. Strong cavalry columns had been sent forward on both wings of the united front of Lieut. Gen. Krafft von Delmensingen and Field Marshal von Mackensen. A flanking movement was succeeding when the Teutonic forces advancing from Lake Greca encountered a sudden stiffening in the resistance, due to the arrival of Russian troops, and were compelled to retire in disorder.

LONDON.—Special dispatches from Athens, filed on Dec. 3 at Piræus, say the situation in Greece is one justifying Lord Robert Cecil's statement in the commons that it was of "extreme gravity" for the allies. The dispatches represent that last week's fighting in Athens was the result of a "deliberate trap, treacherously proposed by the king and the government," 25,000 troops being disposed around the positions which Vice Admiral Du Fournet had previously notified the Greek government he would occupy. These troops then attacked the allies, who numbered 3,000.

TARRYTOWN, N. J.—John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, died at his home here. In his career and that of the late James J. Hill there are strikingly similar points. Both men rose from poverty to leading positions in great industries, and in their rise both accumulated vast fortunes and exerted great influence.

CHICAGO.—Dressed in a home made coat of sheet iron, wearing iron shoes and a 33 inch sword, Michael Inik, a lunatic, shot and seriously wounded Judge Charles E. Greenwald, Superior court judge; Lou de Bow, a bailiff, and George Robbins, a juror, in th courthouse at Hammond, Ind. When finally overpowered by witnesses and court attaches, Inik proved to be a human arsenal. Strapped around his suit of armor were four large caliber revolvers, all loaded, two hatchets, a long sword, a "billy," a length of chain, and a dagger a foot long.

THE LIFE AND DEATH OF A BEER GARDEN.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—It is gratifying to know that we have so many friends who cherish the memory of the old Bismarck garden as revealed in their published letters. From foreign countries and nearby cities many travelers during the years have come and inquired, "Why don't you open the garden again?" After all this time such sentiment affords great consolation.

To that question we always make the same answer. Persons who obtained their ideas of the drinking habits of the people from dives and saloons decreed that drinking was a menace to the nation. They passed the prohibition amendment. We struggled along at the Marigold garden (changed during the war from the Bismarck garden) under the handicap of this discriminatory legislation.

Then came the tax eater, ravenous for his booty. Quadrennial assessments followed each other until today we have a situation at the fully tenanted Marigold garden where the entire gross rental revenue almost to the penny is demanded by the tax machine. In Russia a man's property was taken from him at the point of a gun. It was called revolution. In the United States they take it with the point of a pen and call it law! Of what can the local government officials be thinking? They tax a property beyond all capacity to pay and then when the burden has become unsupportable and the owner seeks legal redress in the courts he is called a tax striker. Sucking the last drop of blood from the real estate body, they demand more. When none is forthcoming they threaten confiscation! After they have taken it, then what? Don't they know the story of the goose and the golden egg?

Today the experts have the audacity to offer property holders a 13 per cent reduction on their taxes! Do they realize that rentals have decreased 25, 50, and in some cases 80 per cent? If they do, then they are mad to think 13 per cent will do us any good. If they don't, then they are ignorant of their business and some one should be installed who does know the facts on existing conditions.

Why should real estate be the one form of wealth to be taxed on a four year basis? Would the holders of stocks and bonds purchased in 1929 or 1913 be content now to have an evaluation made on their worth at that time? It would take an extremely vivid imagination to produce the particular individual who would stand for that. Yet real estate is subjected to this treatment and there is no outcry against the gross injustice of it.

Between the prohibition fanatics and the tax locusts the Marigold garden is doomed to extinction. In startling contrast to this is the Stadtgarten in the city of Stuttgart, Germany. The city of Stuttgart feels keenly that the Stadtgarten is an asset of such worth as an attraction for visitors that it has made it tax exempt and provided it with water and similar easements. Similar customs may be found in other European cities. Compare the two methods of treatment and decide which was practiced in the country whose constitution provides for the protection and sanctity of private property!

KARL EITEL.

DISRESPECT.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—It is disgraceful to hear children, some of them as young as seven, boo the pictures of the president and the Vice President of the United States when they are shown on the motion picture screen. Much of this disrespect was born with the passing of the prohibition law, so these children have never been taught the proper respect they should have for law and our government officials.

Let us all put on a special drive to teach the future men and women of our country the same respect that we were taught to have for law and our government officials. We can do this by our example in public, every American mother and father at home, and school teachers in school.

ROBERT J. MORAND.

PENSIONS FOR ALL OR NONE.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—There is one thing which nobody seems to take into account, and that is that most all of our public utility corporations are paying a pension to their employés after they reach a certain age. I wonder how many of the citizens of this country realize who is really paying this pension. Most of our large competitive industries do not pay pensions. These pensions which are paid to the noncompetitive business employés in the long run come out of all of our pockets. Most of us would be extremely fortunate to even hold a position or job after we reached the age of 65 years. If there is to be a pension system which is to be paid for by the public it should extend to all people who are employed.

L. H. COLBY.

DOUBLE TAXATION.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Although we have but one phone, both my name and my husband's are in the directory. We both received tax schedules. When my husband returned his he sent mine back with it, explaining that I was his wife and had no property to schedule apart from his. Everything I have was listed on his schedule, from my sewing machine to my wedding ring.

Now I am on the list for $185 just for having my name in the phone book. Can any one beat that?

G. O. P. RADICAL MAKES A CALL ON ROOSEVELT

Cutting Cordially Greeted by Man He Supported.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—The first Republican of the radical wing to invade this sanctuary of President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt came today, but he was given a glad hand of welcome.

He was Bronson Cutting, United States senator from New Mexico, and one reason he was so cordially received is that he was one of four Republican senators of the radical wing who openly supported Gov. Roosevelt for the presidency.

Mr. Cutting spent an hour in discussing general matters with Mr. Roosevelt, and afterward he showed a belief that the President elect would follow the progressive principles which first wooed the New Mexican to his support.

"We did not go into a specific program of progressive legislation," Senator Cutting said, "but it was quite clear from the President elect's attitude that he has the same sympathy for progressive ideals which first led me to come out for him for the presidency, against my own party."

No Patronage to Lose.

Senator Cutting was asked, after he left the Little White House on top of Pine mountain, whether he expected that he and the other Republican radical senators who gave their support to Mr. Roosevelt in the campaign would be given the patronage for their state organizations.

"I have no reason to think so," he replied. "If I don't get any patronage in my state it will only be what I am used to."

Quite obviously he referred to the fact that President Hoover did not give much weight to Cutting's desires in the patronage dealt out in New Mexico the last four years.

Mr. Cutting said he had not consulted any of the other radical senators—Hiram Johnson of California, Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, or George Norris of Nebraska—since the election, and he said he had no idea whether a deliberate effort would be made to mold the radical element of the Democratic party, which element is now in the ascendancy, with the radicalism in the Republican party.

Will Seek United Democracy.

Gov. Roosevelt, however, is known to be determined to make an effort to unite these two forces under the Democratic party banner, or at least to obtain a working entente which will give stronger unity to whatever such legislation may be proposed in congress.

"It is too early to pass on what may result in this situation," Senator Cutting declared. "It depends upon what the Democrats can accomplish and what the Republican party may have to offer."

Asked whether he considered the Democratic party to be "on trial," Mr. Cutting said:

"Sentiment in the country today is more fluid than ever before in the history of the country. Anything may develop."

Senator Cutting said he had no information as to what may transpire in the short session on the prohibition question, and he declined to discuss the matter.

Jacob S. Coxey, of Coxey's army fame, the mayor of Massillon, O., was another visitor at Warm Springs today, the bearer of still another scheme for collecting the foreign debts owed the United States.

"COLOR MUSIC" TO LIGHT DAIRY BUILDING OF FAIR

Thomas Wilfred, inventor of the clavilaux, or "color organ," has accepted a commission to design and execute the lighting effects for the World's Fair Dairy building next year. Exposition officials announced yesterday that five huge murals would be projected on a 40 by 90 foot cyclorama in the central hall of the building.

By means of his instrument, Mr. Wilfred said, he will "tell in mobile light and color the story of 100 years of progress of the dairy cow and the importance of its products to mankind." The light murals will be "played" from a key board almost as music is played from a pipe organ.

JAPANESE SMASH GEN. SU'S REBELS; WILL TALK PEACE

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

HARBIN, Manchuria, Dec. 4.—Following a smashing Japanese victory at Chalantun on the Chinese Eastern railway about midway between this city and the Siberian frontier, the Japanese military announce that Manchukuo delegates are proceeding to Hailar from Siberia on the invitation of the rebels led by Gen. Su Ping-wen.

At Hailar negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the Barga rebellion will be opened.

Tsitsihar dispatches late today said the vanguard of the Japanese offensive in northwest Manchuria passed Mientuho and at noon entered Yakeshi, 50 miles east of Hailar. Many prisoners were reported taken.

Capture Railway Pass.

TSITSIHAR, Manchuria, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Japanese forces today occupied the strategic Shedyn railway pass in the Khingan mountains and were vigorously pushing on toward Hailar near the soviet border, after putting Chinese rebels to rout.

The rebels under Gen. Su Ping-wen relinquished without a struggle the pass, which is equidistant from Tsitsihar and Hailar, although a handful of defenders could have withstood thousands of enemy troops.

Planes Bomb Hailar.

Bombing of Hailar from the air seemed to have demoralized Gen. Su's men, so that the Shedyn tunnel, a few miles west of Pokutu, easily fell into their hands.

Engineers on the trains were forced to make frequent stops to repair broken rails, which spread in the intense cold.

Japanese air scouts, meanwhile, reported that following the bombing of certain buildings in Hailar, which supposedly were Gen. Su's headquarters and barracks, troops were seen fleeing.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 4.—Behind the walls of Yeravda prison at Poona, Mahatma Gandhi again went on a hunger strike yesterday to drive home the evils of untouchability to his own people. This time his fast lasted only 36 hours, but it was long enough for the mahatma to win temporary satisfaction today from prison officials. He warned, however, that he might resume his fast Wednesday.

The mahatma's gesture was a protest against what he regarded as official obstruction in his campaign against untouchability. It was provoked by one Prof. Patwardhan, a high caste Brahmin imprisoned in the Ratnagiri district jail, who asked as penance to be permitted to perform the task of prison scavenger, an age old job of the untouchables.

For a few days the professor was granted his request but recently an order arrived forbidding him to continue. When his pleas to be reinstated as scavenger went unheeded, he went on a hunger strike on Nov. 17. The mahatma heard of the strike and, realizing its value to his own cause, began a sympathy fast.

MOSCOW ACTS TO PRY MORE GRAIN FROM PEASANTS

Admits Collections to Be 'Unsatisfactory.

MOSCOW, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A sharp warning to peasants against grain hoarding was issued today by the two most powerful soviet newspapers, Izvestia and Pravda, simultaneously with the revelation of stiff sentences meted to a kulak [wealthy farmer] for slaying a government grain collecter.

The kulak was sentenced to death and his wife to ten years' imprisonment for the killing.

The newspapers in leading editorials took cognizance of the possibility of widespread hoarding. They admitted that the government's grain collections as a whole are so far "unsatisfactory" and said that such important producing regions as the Ukraine and Volga are still much behind.

In an effort to improve collections elsewhere, the government has just announced that privileges recently accorded Moscow province and the Tartar republic will be extended to other regions. These privileges permit farmers to sell surplus grain in a private market as soon as they have satisfied the state collecting scheme. Under the original plan, farmers could not sell privately until Jan. 15, 1933.

Izvestia and Pravda branded peasants who refused to deliver grain to the state as "traitors to the revolution." Areas not fulfilling their quotas as scheduled were warned that farmers who attempt to sell in the open market before their allotment is filled will be arrested as "speculators."

Kept on Ship

ANTWERP, Belgium, Dec. 5 [Monday].—(AP)—Many detectives and police were on hand early today when the steamer Bernsdorff arrived with instructions to see that Leon Trotzky, exiled Russian revolutionary, did not go ashore. Trotzky, returning to Prinkipo island, near Istanbul, after delivering a lecture in Copenhagen, remained aboard during the call here.

NONSURGICAL 'CROSS EYES' CLINIC OPENED

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—A clinic for correcting "cross eyes" without the usual surgical operation, the first clinic of its kind in this country, has been opened at the 5th Avenue hospital. The clinic is modeled after the first of this type established at the Royal Westminster Eye hospital in London, England, through the influence of Dr. Ernest Maddox.

Treatments in this clinic are limited to corrective exercises given by means of instruments recently developed by eye specialists and physicists. Some of the apparatus used is the first of the type in this country.

Dr. Le Grand Hardy, director in charge, is being assisted by a group of eye specialists, neurologists, psychiatrists, and a special research worker, Miss Elizabeth Stark, who has recently returned from London, where she had been sent to study the methods developed by Dr. Maddox.

Citing the need for the clinic Dr. Hardy stated that more than 45,000 school children in New York City suffer from "cross eyes."

Until recently surgery alone had been used to correct this type of defect, but that procedure has not been found thoroughly adequate. Some clinics have used corrective exercises as secondary to surgery, but the older methods required too long a time when surgery was not employed.

A major problem in this field of eye work, Dr. Hardy said, will be investigated at this clinic in coöperation with the neurologists and psychiatrists, through research work on the phenomenon of "fusion" and to ascertain whether there exists a "fusion center" in the brain.

The hypothetical existence of such a fusion center is believed by some to be responsible for the so-called "fusion sense."

THOUSANDS FLEE AS VOLCANO DUST DESTROYS FARMS

Peasants in Foothills of Andes in Peril.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 4.—Thousands of simple country folk, who up till now have thrived in foothills and valleys on the Argentine and Chilean sides of the southern Andean mountain range, fear they are doomed to famine and possible asphyxiation by what seems to be an eternal rain of volcanic smoke and dust.

The three main craters, Descabezado Grande, Quizapu, and Azul Grande, have been belching out smoke and dust ever since the big eruption last April. Unless it ceases South America will undoubtedly see a large scale emigration on the part of the farmers and cattle men who have seen their crops and their animals poisoned by fume laden winds from the mountains.

Scene of Desolation.

The Talca district, about 200 miles south of this capital, has suffered the most. An orchard valley, at one time yielding rich fruit and produce for the metropolitan market, is now a scene of desolation, reminiscent of the Siberian steppes. At the whim of a mountain breeze, day is turned into night, vegetation is choked by sulphuric smoke and the flow of mountain water, essential to the irrigation of farms, is checked by accumulated lava dust thousands of feet above.

Ruined by ash drifts and menaced by hunger, the plight of the peasants has increased by the frequent earth tremors that accompany the eruptions.

Travelers from the interior state that in addition to the three main craters, six smaller ones in the same vicinity are in continual eruption. They reported that an incessant rain of cinders, ash and dust was wafted toward Argentina one day and that on the next day it was swept toward Chile. They told of ash drifts twenty to thirty feet deep in the foothills. On the plains the average fall was two feet. They said they saw thousands of dead cattle. Many herdsmen were missing. Thousands of peasants, the travelers said, had already fled further south.

Reports on Damage.

Henry Donoso, a government seismologist from the observatory at El Salto, was sent to Talca with orders to proceed inland to investigate the phenomenon and report the damage.

In his first communication he said that a partially inhabited area of fifty miles square was affected by the eruptions, which, he added, gave no signs of dying down.

"A battery of a dozen craters is in continual action," he reported. Descabezado Grande is the principal offender and is discharging lava, but the molten flow is swallowed in the mountain wilderness, 10,000 feet above sea level, and there is no danger of an overflow."

Donoso added that in an aerial trip over the craters he had observed a huge lagoon, several miles in circumference, which acted as a gigantic overflow pot for Descabezado and Quizapu.

"Unfortunately, however, it is also the natural source of the waters that supplied the Maule and Claro rivers which irrigated the plains below, and the settled lava has blocked up the passage," his report concluded.

He estimated the agricultural damage at $16,000,000 and said he feared the evacuation of the region would be necessary.

OIL FIRM GIVEN PRIZE CHICKENS AS RESTITUTION

Fur Farms Also Serve to Cover Thefts.

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Socony-Vacuum corporation has come into possession of an odd assortment of property, including fur farms and prize chickens, one of its attorneys said today, as a result of the efforts of an employé to make restitution for sums appropriated to his own use in the last seven or eight years.

The attorney, Claude Thompson, said William C. Head, an assistant paymaster in the Standard-Vacuum Transportation company, a subsidiary, had signed a statement and had turned over to the company the property on which he said he spent most of the money.

Head was quoted as saying he put $300,000, all company money, into three projects—the Twin Brooks fur farm and the Twin Brooks Poultry farm, near Bangor, Me., and a muskrat and beaver farm at Hudson, Me.

Exact Amount Unknown.

Head was said to be unable to give the exact amount of his appropriations and he refused to say exactly when they started, although he placed the date at "about 1924 or 1925."

The attorney said Head paid the men on oil barges and tugs and that because of the constantly changing personnel in this type of service he found it possible to place on the pay roll fictitious names or names of men who no longer worked for the company.

The discovery was made after the company, in its efforts to lower expenses, found that this department was not being reduced in proportion with others.

Some Records Destroyed.

Some of the records were destroyed, the attorney said, so the task of making a complete check was an involved one. Head was described as a married man, living in Brooklyn. The attorney indicated information gathered by the company would be available to the proper authorities if they wanted to consider criminal action. Head was bonded.

Head was quoted as saying both the fur farms and the poultry farm were among the finest in the country. He claimed to have exhibited thousands of chickens in various parts of the country, winning many prizes with them.

WAGE CAMPAIGN IN ICELAND TO END COMMUNISM

Former Chicago Cop Heads Police in Drive.

BY AXEL THORSTEINSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Dec. 4.—A former Chicago policeman, Harold Johnson, who is now chief of police in Reykjavik, has become a key man in a campaign to put Iceland's communists in their place.

Aroused by recent increased lawlessness and mob violence by the Reds, the authorities of Iceland's capital have instructed Chief Johnson to increase his force from its present handful of 28 men to a robust organization of nearly 600.

Around the nucleus of 28 regulars will be built a special "shock troop" unit of 120 and back of it will be more than 400 additional reservists who will be available for immediate mobilization on riot calls.

Johnson Under Cloud.

Chief Johnson himself is under a small cloud as a result of the communist activities. Leaders of the Independence party charge that he has shown partiality to the Reds and that he did not take proper precautions to forestall a recent demonstration in the town council hall.

Communists, realizing the inadequacy of the Tom Thumb police force, have been growing increasingly audacious. Disorders recently in which a mob of Reds bullied the town council and almost overwhelmed the police in the resulting clash, because of the latter's scarcity, brought Iceland's capital city to the realization that something had better be done about it.

The alarm was deepened by the fact that although citizens may be impressed for police duty, Iceland has neither an army nor a state police.

The trouble between the communists and the town council began when the Reds ganged a meeting to force the majority Independence party to revoke a decision to reduce the wages of workers employed on municipal relief projects.

The communists, augmented by radical Socialists and idlers, blocked the exits and refused to allow any council member to leave until the wage slash was rescinded. A compromise was worked out but the Reds would not budge. Brandishing staves, bricks and other home made weapons they threatened to attack the council members unless they complied with their demands.

Red Roundup Begun.

At this point Chief Johnson ordered the fifteen policemen on duty inside the building to clear the hall. A sharp fight followed in which the demonstrators were finally ousted. By this time, however, a mob of about 300 had collected outside the building, and when Johnson gave orders to his men to disperse the crowd another battle resulted.

The small band of police was broken up, and each officer was forced to fight for himself in a whirlpool of rowdies. Some received bloody heads. Others suffered broken arms and similar injuries before the crowd dispersed.

That was the last straw. Steps were taken at once to organize a stronger police force to deal with the radical elements. Meanwhile a round-up of all communists has been started and an investigation into the day's events is under way.

HAWAII EYES U.S.; FEARS CONGRESS ACTION ON TARIFF

Sugar Trade Faces Blow if Rates Are Cut.

BY J. A. MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WAILUKU, Maui, Hawaii, Dec. 4.—Reacting from an election campaign that was the bitterest in Hawaii's history, the great issue here now is not presidential appointees. It centers on two things: what will congress do with the sugar tariff and with the government of Hawaii.

Sugar production is the foremost sustaining industry of Hawaii. The natives look askance at the Democratic campaigning against the Smoot-Hawley tariff. They hope beet sugar growers of the mainland will be strong enough to retain sugar protection, which will benefit Hawaii and the Philippines against foreign producers.

Massie Case an Issue.

The proposed governmental changes include a string of senate and house bills which have followed Hawaiian events. In the train of events were the rape of Mrs. Thalia Massie and the subsequent murder of Joe Kahahawaii. Mrs. Grace Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and Seamen Albert O. Jones and Edward J. Lord were sentenced for the murder of Kahahawaii, but Gov. Lawrence M. Judd commuted their sentences to an hour in custody.

Lincoln McCandless, 73, a Democrat who came here in 1882 from Pennsylvania on Nov. 8 defeated Victor S. K. Houston, Republican incumbent, by a vote of 29,430 to 27,057, for delegate to Washington.

In the campaign this fall the McCandless faction paraded the Kahahawaii and Massie cases, denounced the subsequent reform legislation as a betrayal of the Hawaiian race, accused Delegate Houston of forcing the pardon of the Massie defendants, called for a common law for white, brown, black, and yellow people instead of "government by vested interests," and cried against the importation of Filipino labor for the cane fields.

An Upheaval in Honolulu.

The campaign resulted in a great upheaval in Honolulu, on the island of Oahu, but the islands of Maui, Hawaii, and Kauai sustained Republican majorities in the senate and house. And out of the election Senator Charles Rice of Kauai, Republican, looms as the probable controlling factor of both houses, because of the defeat of Speaker Roy Vitousek, also a Republican.

Senator William Heen, a Chinese Hawaiian and one of the defense lawyers in the Massie rape case, was the lone Democrat in the senate, but he now is joined by Lester Petrie, Henry Freitas and David K. Trask, all from Honolulu. Republicans have a majority with eleven members.

The house membership will be made up of 10 Democrats and twenty Republicans.

Reform Leader Beaten.

The outstanding surprise of the entire election was the defeat of Vitousek, in the fourth district of Oahu. The fourth is predominantly white. Vitousek had led the reform legislation which abolished the corrupt political power dominating the police and prosecuting machinery of the city of Honolulu.

Willie Crozier, Democrat and part Portuguese, led the ticket in the effete fourth, the most thoroughly white community outside of the army and navy posts in all Hawaii. A white resident of the district commented:

"We are going to get commission form of government. It is in the air. The fourth district took the surest way."

Japanese Bogey Exploded.

The Japanese bogey was exploded in the election. A study of the results in the precincts where the Japanese dominated shows not only an intelligent vote, but a decidedly independent vote. Votes went to men for their ability and not because of race or racial hatred. The Hawaiians and part Hawaiian and the Portuguese were the offenders in the onslaught on Houston, together with the whites who were voting for a commission form of government.

FIND ROAD HOGS CUT EFFICIENCY OF HIGHWAYS

Auto Drivers Urged to Improve Manners.

BY HAL FOUST.

To relieve congestion and to reduce the motor accident toll, automobile drivers must improve their courtesy. Due to the depression, governmental agencies are reluctant to incur any large expense for additional traffic facilities, and it therefore behooves the motorists to make the most of existing pavements.

These are conclusions of Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Harvard university traffic bureau, who has been engaged in a Chicago survey in the last year. In a statement issued yesterday he estimated that bad motoring manners detracted at least 25 per cent from the effectiveness and efficiency of the nation's highways.

Acquire Speed Too Suddenly.

"Twenty-two million Americans," he said, "drive twenty-six million motor vehicles, totaling nearly one billion horsepower, 560 million miles a day. Prior to the coming of the motor car, man had been trained only in the leisurely ways of cooperative, amiable animal motive power. Then, too suddenly for him to adapt his ingrained mental habits and responses, man was given an engine of tremendous power and speed.

"The psychologist undoubtedly can offer many reasons for bad road manners. But these do not concern us for our immediate purpose. It is intended here only to point out the adverse economic result of such conduct as it relates to the efficiency and usefulness of our highways.

"When a motorist, driving mainly for pleasure, maintains a snail's pace on the inside lane of a 40 foot highway, despite the oft repeated exhortation to 'use the outside lane except when passing,' he displays himself as a selfish boor, utterly indifferent to the interest of those behind him who may desire to maintain a reasonable speed, or whose business may demand that they get to their destinations in a hurry.

Disregard Others' Safety.

"For all the roadhog cares, the other fellow may risk the chance of serious accident by passing on the wrong side, or encroaching on the half of the road reserved for oncoming traffic. Again the driver who, on a narrow pavement in dense traffic, selfishly insists on pushing out of place for the debatable advantage of a few yards, jeopardizes not only his own safety, but worries and delays those around him.

Incidents of the sort are common, everyday experiences. They result in a material limitation in the utility of the highway, as well as in a serious reduction in the facility as a safe medium of travel.

ILLINOISIAN DIES IN INDIANA CRASH.

Vincennes, Ind., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Corrie Wright, 37, Sumner, Ill., was killed when his automobile ran into a bridge abutment on route 50, five miles west of Vincennes, early today.

THRILL SEEKERS BARRED FROM POLICE SHOWUP

Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker stood at the door of the showup room at the detective bureau, 1121 South State street, yesterday afternoon taking complaint tickets from those who entered. Comparatively few of the several hundred persons who appeared got in, because Chief Schoemaker turned away all who did not have tickets.

"The showup is not an amusement, or a free education," he said. "Between 300 and 400 persons have been coming down here every Sunday just to get a thrill, or to appease their curiosity. We are going to stop that, and keep the showups clear of all spectators except those who are seriously trying to identify criminals."

Mrs. Barbara Jordan Arlington, 26 years old, was identified at the showup as the women's club burglar whom police accuse of more than 200 thefts during the last eight months.

FRENCH 'FARM BOARD' BILL IS UP TO SENATE

Cabinet Behind Plan to Enter Wheat Business.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 4.—The French senate will soon be called upon to decide whether this country shall go into the wheat business in much the same manner as the United States did when the federal farm board started its operations.

Yielding to the clamor of the peasants, who declare that the present price of wheat will not even repay them for the fertilizer they used to raise it, the chamber of deputies has passed a bill providing for the formation of a national bureau of breadmaking cereals. Its chief duty will be to make the price of wheat go up and to keep it up until the next harvest.

Will Buy Up Domestic Stocks.

The proposed bureau is expected to accomplish this by controlling the importation and exportation of grain and by buying up surplus domestic stocks with funds to be supplied by the French treasury, the Bank of France, and farmers' organizations. It will also control the prices of milling and baking and will pay monthly premiums to farmers who stock wheat to keep it off the market.

This measure, which is denounced by conservative opinion as socialistic and dangerous to the nation's finances, was rather reluctantly espoused by Premier Herriot's government in a moment of emergency when the cabinet saw that it was in danger of being overthrown by the chamber unless it enlisted the support of its Socialist allies. The Socialist party hails the measure as a great victory of the policies of collectivism in France. They were aided in putting it over by the unruly left wing known as the Young Turks of Herriot's radical Socialist party.

Conservatives hope that the senate will save the country from this experiment. Whether this hope will be realized is problematic, especially in view of the fact that Abel Gardey, minister of agriculture, who is supporting the bill, is a senator of one of the important groups, the democratic left. Gardey, in reply to accusations that the government accepted the bill merely as a sop to the Socialists, has issued a statement showing, by quotations from his former speeches, that he was in favor of just such a measure all along and that it is not inconsistent with the government's general policy.

Financial Circles Stirred.

The possible effect of government speculations in wheat on the stability of the franc has set the financial community by the ears. A. L. Jeune, eminent financial writer, points out that if the Bank of France starts buying grain at three or four times its normal price in world markets this inflated, stored up wheat will become part of the guarantee upon which the nation's currency and credit is based.

"To be sure," writes Jeune, "the gold stocks of the bank are now so big that the parliament can for the moment indulge in all the foolishness it likes. Errors will not be followed immediately by their punishment, because just now the franc is a refuge for frightened international capital. It is a golden idol and nothing can affect it.

"But such privileges are not eternal. The day will come when the foundations of the franc will be examined, just as it happened for the dollar a little while ago and before that for the pound sterling. Will stocks of wheat valued at fake prices be considered effective reserves to back up the franc?"

WOMAN, 73, DIES OF BURNS.

Mrs. Anna Cada, 73 years old, 1427 West 16th street, died in the county hospital yesterday of burns she suffered in her home on Nov. 21 when she tried to beat out a fire that started in a bundle of rags.

SALES CHIEF FOR DAIRY DROWNS IN AUTO IN RIVER

White Fish Bay Man in Arkansas for Health.

Benton, Ark., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Submerged in eight feet of water, the body of a man identified by police as Frank T. Cook, 55, of Milwaukee, Wis., was found in a large sedan in Alum Fork river, ten miles from here, today.

The car had plunged through the railing of a bridge. It was discovered by a boy passing along the road.

A farmer living nearby said he heard a crash shortly before daybreak, but could see no signs of an accident.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Frank T. Cook, 4627 North Larkin street, Whitefish Bay, who was found drowned in his automobile near Benton, Ark., today, left Milwaukee Wednesday, Nov. 23, for a southern trip for the benefit of his health.

Mr. Cook was sales manager of the Gridley Dairy company, an office he had held for the last 10 years. He had been with the company 25 years, starting as a bookkeeper and then turning his attention to company sales. He had been spending his vacation at Hot Springs, Ark.

Mr. Cook was past master of the Kenwood Masonic lodge and was a member of the Kiwanis club. A representative of the Gridley company left at once for Hot Springs to aid in closing Mr. Cook's affairs there. Arrangements were made by telephone for the return of the body to Milwaukee.

A widow and three daughters, who are in Milwaukee, Marion, 21; Olive, 17, a pupil in Shorewood High school, and Doris, 11, a pupil in Atwater school, survive him. A married daughter, Mrs. Ethel Wheaton, lives in St. Paul, Minn.

The family had received word of the accident from Arkansas authorities but had no detail of how it had occurred.

FORMALITIES ARE PUT ASIDE WHEN STEVE RETURNS

For five months police had been searching for Steve Gains, 25 years old. That long ago Steve bought a new suit from Tony Sleeter, a tailor at 5122 Wentworth avenue, and gave him a check for $35. The check was no good and Sleeter swore out a warrant.

Yesterday, to Sleeter's surprise, Steve returned to the tailor shop. Sleeter waived such a formality as asking Steve to make good the check, and put in a hurry call for police. Steve also waived formality. He jumped through the store window and started away.

Along came Sergt. John Caddigan and his squad from the Stockyards station. They started after Steve, collaring him at 52d and Federal streets. Sergt. Caddigan asked the prisoner his name. Steve told him.

It was. In Caddigan's pocket for the last five months had reposed the warrant sworn out against Steve.

FILLMORE AREA LEADS CITY IN THEFTS OF AUTOS

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Lieut. Maurice Wall, who is in charge of the stolen automobile section of the detective bureau, revealed yesterday that during November more automobiles were stolen in the Fillmore police district than in any other. A record is believed to have been made when the East Side district report showed that no cars were stolen there during the month.

During November there were 2,740 automobiles stolen and 2,633 recovered in all the 41 police districts of the city, Lieut. Wall said. His report showed that 875 cars were stripped of their parts and accessories during the month. Of the cars stolen, 220 were taken in the Fillmore district.

Lieut. Wall pointed out that more stolen automobiles were recovered in the Marquette and Maxwell street districts, the area where the "42" gang has its headquarters, than in any other district. Of the 153 cars recovered in the Maxwell district, 97 were stripped, and of the 152 recovered in the Marquette district, 116 were stripped.

S. SIDE EDITOR LEADING IN RACE FOR PARK POST

W. H. McDONNELL.

William H. McDonnell, editor of the South Town Economist, a neighborhood weekly newspaper, is scheduled to become a member of the South park board this week.

A postponed meeting of the Circuit judges, who elect the park commissioners, is to be held Wednesday afternoon and it was reported yesterday that although the court now includes only nine Democrats against eleven Republicans, McDonnell, whose candidacy originated with several south side Democratic ward committeemen, is assured of election. He began his newspaper work as a journeyman printer and has been in the editor-owner class since 1918. His residence is at 10162 Longwood drive.

If elected he will take the vacancy created by the resignation of John Bain, a Republican, but his addition to the board will not change the party control, since the Democrats already have three of the five members, President E. J. Kelly, Michael L. Igoe, and B. F. Lindheimer.

SEARCH RIVER FOR SUICIDE.

Police and coast guardsmen yesterday searched the Chicago river for the body of George J. Williams, who gave his address as Saginaw, Mich., in a suicide note found pinned to a pillow in the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 South Wabash avenue.

HOSPITALS URGE R.F.C. TO FINANCE CARE OF NEEDY

Resources Exhausted by Charity Cases.

An appeal to the Reconstruction Finance corporation to extend its resources to hospitals of the country not receiving help from tax sources, that charity patients may be accommodated and many of the institutions saved from closing, was mailed yesterday by the American Hospital association through its secretary, Dr. Bert Caldwell. The correspondence was addressed to Senator Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the R. F. C. at Cleveland.

In every large city of the United States, Dr. Caldwell's letter states, the American Hospital association has a member institution. These he refers to as "voluntary" hospitals—organized by and supported by philanthropic organizations and receiving no tax revenue. There are 1,556 such hospitals, he writes, operated as public welfare agencies.

Third of Cases Nonpaying.

"Primarily organized to provide hospital care for all classes, and devoting, particularly within the last two years, 33 and 1-3 per cent of their disbursements to the care of nonpaying patients," he explains, "these hospitals have admitted and cared for 5,500,000 out of the 7,156,000 patients admitted to all hospitals in this country during the last year.

"They find themselves called upon to take care of an increasingly large number of indigent patients, and those who in other times would be able to contribute a part of the cost, but are now unable to contribute anything. So serious is the situation that in 1931, 110 voluntary hospitals closed their doors for lack of funds, and from Jan. 1 to Dec. 1 of the present year, 162 of these hospitals have been forced to close.

"Our public tax supported institutions are, without exception, crowded far beyond their bed capacities, and unable to care for all the indigent sick who apply for admission. The voluntary hospitals have for the last two years exhausted their resources in taking over the care of nonpaying patients. If it were not for this service, there is little doubt that many of our communities would have experienced unheard of suffering among its sick poor, as well as constant danger of widespread epidemics of communicable disease.

Dispensaries Aid 22,000,000.

"In addition to the care of patients admitted to the wards, these hospitals during 1932 have given medical attention to more than 22,000,000 patients in their dispensaries and out patient departments. A vast majority were cared for without charge and the remainder at only a nominal charge, averaging less than twenty-five cents per visit.

"They have not received any assistance in any form from national or governmental relief organization. If there are any public welfare agencies entitled to favorable consideration for relief by the R. F. C., the voluntary hospitals are entitled to that consideration."

U. S. DANCE GIRLS FREED BY PORT; SPEED FOR PARIS

LE HAVRE, France, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Immigration authorities released sixteen American dancing girls tonight after having held them all day because they did not possess working permits.

Port officials were informed from Paris tonight that the girls' papers were in order and the dancers lost no time getting started toward Paris. The dancers, who said they were part of Ned Wayburn's troupe, arrived from New York on the liner Champlain.

Texas Guinan, night club entertainer, was similarly detained last year when she attempted to reach Paris with a group of dancing girls. When the ministry of labor refused to grant working permits, "Tex" had to return to New York.

REINSTATE U. OF I. STUDENT OUSTED FOR FATAL CRASH

Vincent J. Del Beccaro, who was ousted from the University of Illinois following an automobile accident on Oct. 28 in which a girl student was killed, will return to his studies today, and to his office as junior class president at Urbana. Del Beccaro, whose home is at 218 South Seeley avenue, is one of six students dismissed for infractions of the automobile regulations whose reinstatement was announced yesterday by the university senate's committee on student discipline.

Names of the other five students reinstated were not disclosed by the committee. It was explained that reinstatement of the six had been made on the basis that the students were considered to have been sufficiently punished, in view of the circumstances connected with the violations.

Del Beccaro was the driver of a light roadster en route from Champaign to Chicago for a football game on Oct. 28. When he lost control, the car skidded into a ditch and Jayne Rodenhouser of Peoria, owner of the car, was fatally injured.

FILIPINOS ASK MORE RIGHTS IN FREEDOM BILLS

Legislature Redefines Its Position.

MANILA, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Further concessions in the terms of the Philippine independence bills pending in congress were called for by the insular legislature in redefining its position after a series of public hearings and months of discussion.

The legislature, meeting as the independence commission, followed the leadership of the veteran senate president, Manuel Quezon. It approved unanimously a resolution drafted by Quezon calling for immediate independence but expressing willingness to have congress defer the grant provided a definite date is fixed and satisfactory arrangements made for the intervening period.

Attacks Both Bills.

Quezon declared in an address that both the Hare bill voted by the house last April and the Hawes-Cutting bill scheduled for further senate consideration this week failed, in their present form, to meet the aspirations of the Filipino people.

He attacked particularly the proposal to name an American high commissioner with considerable powers to serve during the period between enactment of a new Philippine organic law and complete severance of political ties.

"Certain amendments will have to be introduced both into the clauses of the bills dealing with the powers of the Philippine commonwealth and the high commissioner and with the trade relations if the measure to be enacted by congress is to have the general acceptance of our people," Quezon said.

Immediate Independence.

"I go on record as willing to have the granting of independence postponed for 10 years in case immediate independence, with free trade relations for 10 years, cannot be given us."

Quezon recalled that the Hare bill provides for a transition period of about 10 years and the Hawes-Cutting measure for approximately 19 years. Both would limit duty free imports [into the United States] during the transition], sugar to 850,000 long tons annually, cordage to 3,000,000 pounds, and coconut oil to 200,000 tons.

Toledo Stops Cleaning of Streets to Save City Cash

Toledo, O., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The street cleaning department will be closed down the remainder of the year effecting a saving of about $10,000 a week, Mayor Addison Q. Thacher announced today. The action will make idle about 400 men and 50 trucks.

FIND 12 LAWYERS AMONG MEMBERS OF POLICE FORCE

The records of the police department's secretary revealed yesterday that of the approximately 8,000 members of the department, 12 are attorneys. They include one captain, two lieutenants, two sergeants, five patrolmen and two police stenographers. Most of them gained their legal education by attending schools after their daily police duties were finished.

The roll includes Capt. Dennis M. Malloy of the Dearing street station; Lieut. George E. Peterson, assigned to the commissioner's office; Lieut. William Byrne of the Pekin Inn station; Sergt. Sidney Sullivan of the Fillmore street station; Sergt. Kyran Phelan of the detective bureau; Patrolmen John Howe, John O'Malley, Daniel O'Rourke, Frank Murray, Vivian Westbrook, and Stenographers Thomas Shannon and John Kiely.

Most of them hope to practice law within a short time, it was said. Lieut. Peterson, who already is eligible for a pension, will enter actively into the profession when he retires, he said.

REPORT NATION HAS SURPLUS OF 25,000 DOCTORS

Some Communities Short, Commission Says.

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—There are about 25,000 more physicians in the United States than needed, though some communities haven't enough, says the final report of the commission on medical education issued tonight.

The commission recommends regulation of specialists, regional relief where needed, perhaps by "salaried" physicians, and a change and shortening of pre-medical courses.

Physicians of the future, it points out, must be trained more and more in the illnesses of adulthood and of old age, for there sickness is now increasing, due to conquest of childhood diseases and the consequent lengthening of life.

This commission was organized in 1925 by the Association of Medical Colleges. Its work has been financed by contributions from most of the medical schools in the United States and Canada and the American Medical association, the Rockefeller foundation, the Carnegie corporation and the Josiah Macy Jr. foundation. Its president is A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university.

The final report is made public by Dean Willard C. Rappleye of the school of medicine, Columbia university, director of the study. It is a 125,000 word book of 401 pages.

The report recommends that states permit graduates of approved medical schools to be licensed without further examination by the state.

There are now 156,140 licensed physicians, one for every 780 persons, says the report, and by 1940 probably will be one for every 750 persons.

Need One to Thousand.

"There are more physicians than needed to provide an adequate medical service to the country. Available data indicate that proper medical service can be provided on the basis of one active physician to every 1,000 or 1,200 persons.

"Some remote communities cannot support medical services on a basis of private practice. The solution in such districts appears to be the employment of a physician on a salary.

"Medical faculties and societies, by study of the problems of community needs, can contribute effectively to the better distribution of trained personnel and the development of necessary facilities for proper medical services throughout the country."

The report says that "undue emphasis" has been given to "the various specialties." It adds: "This subdivision of labor has gone beyond the actual needs of the community and most patients. It has been greatly overdone, especially in the large cities."

Responsibility Is Divided.

One bad result of specialization is noted in "dispersion of responsibility for the patient as a whole, which not infrequently turns out to be unsatisfactory or even harmful."

Only those who have had a thorough training should be permitted to practice as specialists, says the report. And there should be a register of specialists in each state to provide the public with information.

The main change in schooling of physicians suggested is "a sound general education." This is held of more value than "a narrow technical training in the pre-medical sciences."

Standardized medical service on a "mass production basis" is opposed because the "unit of practice is the individual patient."

TAKEN BY DEATH

COL. JOHN F. J. HERBERT.

HONOLULU, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Col. John F. J. Herbert, prohibition administrator for the territory of Hawaii, died at the Tripler General hospital here at 1:25 a. m. today. For twenty months prior to his assignment here last Feb. 26 Col. Herbert was prohibition administrator in Chicago.

He suffered an apoplectic stroke Nov. 21 and had been in a semi-conscious condition since. One side of his face and body was paralyzed and he was unable to speak. Funeral arrangements awaited advices from Mrs. Herbert, who is aboard the steamer Maui, due here Tuesday.

Col. Herbert was born in Worcester, Mass. On completing high school he worked on newspapers in Boston and Worcester. At one time he was managing editor of the Worcester Evening Post. He enlisted in B battery, then a militia unit in Worcester. He rose through the ranks to command the battery at the Mexican border in 1916 and was promoted to major when the battery went to France as the 102d field artillery. He was promoted to lieutenant colonel while in France and commanded the regiment through severe action in several sectors.

R. M. CALKINS, RAIL OFFICIAL, DIES IN FLORIDA

R. M. Calkins, 69 years old, a member of the executive staff of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railway, died suddenly early yesterday at Daytona Beach, Fla., where he was visiting his family. His Chicago home was at 90 East Chestnut street.

Mr. Calkins had been in the service of the Milwaukee road for 53 years, beginning in 1879 as a clerk and telegraph operator at Monticello, Ia. Later he served in various capacities in Iowa, Kansas, Montana, and Seattle. He became traffic manager in Butte, Mont., in 1910, and in Seattle in 1913.

In December, 1917, he became vice president in charge of traffic, with headquarters in Chicago, and since 1926 he has been executive assistant.

Mr. Calkins is survived by his widow, a son, Raymond M. of Deerfield; a daughter, Mrs. Clayton O. Hull of Highland Park, and a brother, Frank J. of Vancouver, B. C. The body will be returned to Chicago for services later in the week, according to relatives.

Hold Services Tomorrow for Mrs. Nellie A. Kelly

The funeral of Mrs. Nellie A. Kelly, mother of Congressman Edward Kelly, will be held tomorrow morning from her home at 7708 South Union avenue. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery. Mrs. Kelly died Friday following a heart attack. She was 65 years old. She is survived by her husband, John J. Kelly, a retired fire captain, five daughters and two sons.

Oscar F. Breese, 84, Son of Aurora Settler, Dies

Oscar F. Breese, 84 years old, died in his home in Aurora yesterday. He was a retired employé of the Burlington railroad, for which he worked fifty years. Mr. Breese was born in Aurora, the son of Grover Breese, one of the city's first settlers. Surviving Oscar Breese are his widow, a son, William, of Chicago, and a daughter, Mrs. A. Nelson of Aurora.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The play, "Peter Ibbetson," which is to be presented by the Hinsdale Woman's club, will be given at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Hinsdale club. In the Metropolitan section yesterday it was erroneously stated in a picture caption that the play would be given tomorrow evening.

Thomas P. Seeley, Will Co. Democratic Leader, Is Dead

Thomas P. Seeley, for 17 years Democratic member of the Will county board of review, died yesterday in his home at 316 Buell avenue, Joliet. Death was due to blood poisoning which followed an injury to his right foot three weeks ago. He was 64 years old. Mr. Seeley is survived by his widow, Mrs. Joanna Seeley; three sons, William, John and Thomas Jr., and three daughters, Helen, Mary, and Mrs. H. P. Volker of Wilmette. Funeral services will be held in St. Raymond's church Wednesday. Interment will be in Mount Olivet cemetery, Joliet.

Nurse's Body Found, Victim of Poison; Bottle Missing

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The body of an auburn-haired young woman, found on a sand dune near Ocean Beach today, was identified tonight by friends, police said, as that of Miss Letha Driscoll, a 30 year old graduate nurse. Dr. A. A. Berger, city autopsy surgeon, said death was caused by poison. Mystery was added to the case because no bottle in which the poison could have been carried was found near the body.

Tiger Loose in Mexico City; It Was Frightened, Too

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A Bengal tiger which escaped from a circus cage went galloping down Ramon Guzman street here tonight, apparently about as frightened as the frantic people who fled pell-mell into doorways. The animal was recaptured by circus employés and returned to its cage.

RITES HERE AND IN SOUTH BEND FOR STUDEBAKER

Funeral services for Clement Studebaker Jr., utilities magnate and president of the North American Light and Power company, who died Saturday night in his room at 1500 Lake Shore drive, will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at St. James' Episcopal church, 666 Rush street. The Rev. Duncan H. Browne, rector, will officiate.

Following those services, Mr. Studebaker's body will be taken to his birthplace, South Bend, Ind., on a special South Shore line train, which will leave the city at 10:30 a. m. In South Bend the body will lie in state from 1:15 to 2:15 p. m. at the home of Mr. Studebaker's brother, Col. George M. Studebaker. Services will be held there at 2:30, with the Rev. Paul L. Benedict and Dr. James L. Gardiner officiating. Burial will be private.

The active pallbearers will be Col. George T. Buckingham, Henry L. Hanley, Louis E. Fischer, Lloyd F. Weaver, Orville J. Taylor, and Henry Bartholomay.

Mr. Studebaker's death was caused by angina pectoris. He was 61 years old, and a son of one of the five brothers who founded the Studebaker wagon and automobile works. Mr. Studebaker started his business career with that organization but later turned to utilities. He is survived by his widow, Alice, and two children, Clement III. and Mrs. James M. Peticolas.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 4.—What is believed to have been the largest banquet in modern Europe was given here today by the Conservative Regional league with the guests numbering 6,348 and the waiters served a typical Catalan meal. Francisco Cambo, leader of the party, said, "The Catalan parliament opening tomorrow will have the responsibility of the success or failure of Catalan autonomy."

Hold Up Hospital Nurse in Office and Get $20

Two bandits, who gained entrance to the Chicago hospital, 811 East 49th street, when a young woman was taken there after a minor accident last night, held up Miss Gladys Gold, 19 years old, a nurse, in the office of the hospital and forced her to give them $20, the contents of the cash drawer. None of the patients was aware of the robbery.

Elks Hold Memorial Service for 55 Dead

Members of Chicago lodge of Elks held their annual memorial service yesterday afternoon in their clubrooms at 174 West Washington street, in honor of 55 members who died during the last year. The speakers were Judge Justin F. McCarthy, exalted ruler, Attorney Rocco DeStefano and the Rev. F. J. Bergs.

Don't Coddle a COLD!

The moment a cold shows, knock it off! Don't let it linger—and don't attempt to palliate it! Many remedies merely pamper a cold, to the victim's regret. The only way to deal with a cold is to kill it—as quickly as you can!

If treated promptly—when the sneezing or headache begins — a cold can usually be knocked in 12 hours. But you must get at the root of the trouble, a germ infection within the system. This calls, first of all, for a COLD remedy, not a cure-all. A preparation that's good for all kinds of ills and ailments can't be equally effective for a cold. Many popular remedies only make relief more difficult because they are constinating and also make the system acid.

A Cold Is an Internal Infection

Take a cold remedy and an internal one. A cold is an internal infection and, as such, requires internal treatment. Don't be fooled by merely local or external applications. They can't reach the seat of the trouble and they can't stop the spreading of the infection within the system. Your doctor will tell you that.

Your doctor will also tell you that there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Most physicians will frankly admit they couldn't write a better prescription for a cold if they wanted to. For Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine does the several things necessary to rout a cold, in the way that is necessary.

First, it gently, but thoroughly, opens the bowels—the first requirements in overcoming a cold. Second, it kills the cold germs in the system, drives out the poisonous infection and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and that grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

That is the treatment you want for a cold and, for your own safety, be satisfied with nothing less!

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine may be taken with utter safety by young and old. It contains no narcotics and produces no bad aftereffects. It does not upset the stomach, nauseate or make the head ring or swim. In virtually every country in the world it is the accepted cold remedy.

The "Stitch in Time"

In dainty tablet form, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is convenient and pleasant to take, as well as effective. It comes in handy, pocket size boxes, cellophane-wrapped, and is sold by every drug store in America. When you feel a cold coming on, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at once. There is no better remedy for a cold and no reliable dealer will try to tell you there is.

MACHADO ENDS TWO YEAR ARMY RULE OVER CUBA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 4.—Martial law will be terminated in Havana province Tuesday and constitutional guarantees will be restored, according to a presidential decree today. National press censorship will also be ended. Military rule was withdrawn from all other provinces last week.

The nation thus is politically normal again after more than two years of rule by the military and by presidential decree. The period has been marked by continuous efforts to oust President Gerardo Machado and consequent riots, bombings, murders, plots and other acts of terrorism.

Under the new conditions military judges are to turn over to civil authorities all cases now under prosecution. Press censorship has been invested in five army officers who at times confiscated newspaper editions, closed plants, and imprisoned newspaper men.

Osage Writes Moving Story of Own Tribe

"Wah'Kon-Tah," by John Joseph Mathews [University of Oklahoma Press].

"Indian Removal," by Grant Foreman [University of Oklahoma Press].

JOHN JOSEPH MATHEWS, the author of "Wah'Kon-Tah," is a member of the Osage Indian tribe. He received his education at the University of Oklahoma and took a higher degree at Oxford, England. The cosmopolitan life he has led makes him signally qualified to write disinterestedly of the Indians.

JOHN J. MATHEWS.

Wah'Kon-Tah, the author says, is "that which the children of the earth do not comprehend as they travel the roads of the earth and which becomes clear to them only when they have passed on to the great mysteries." Thus is the God of the Indian described.

This book is the story of the Osage agency in Oklahoma during the last quarter of the nineteenth century. The Indian, who is known to most people as the savage and strange inhabitant of America long before the Europeans ever dreamed their glittering dreams of gold and conquest, is presented in this book as a proud but pathetic race, conquered by men with white skins, who now receive only a pittance from the government in return for the possession of their vast territories and are allotted reservations where they try to live peacefuly and unobtrusively, turning their eyes away from the splendid dreams of their former freedom and bravery.

The author never asks for the sympathy and sentiment of the reader; nevertheless the story cries out the inevitable and tragic injustice of the white man-red man drama.

Maj. Laban J. Miles, who is the hero of the book, was the agent in this Osage reservation for a quarter of a century. He was deeply loved and respected by the Osage tribe, though many of his reforms seemed curious and wrong to the Indians. Nevertheless through his devotion to and interest in the tribe he took it upon himself to help them and to work always for their ultimate good. The story of the major's love for the Indian as revealed in these pages is a moving record of man's unselfishness and nobility.

Though the status of the Indian has changed, "Wah'Kon-Tah" describes the ancient customs and rites that are passed on from one generation to another. In the last part of the nineteenth century there were still many of the old ceremonies performed that had been part of Indian history since the memory of man. As the book closes, however, it becomes apparent that the invasion of the white man has altered the morals, the traditions, and the customs of the ancient Indian.

"Wah'Kon-Tah" records the feasts, funerals, celebrations, and dances of all sorts. Vividly the home life and the communal life of the Osage tribe are pictured in brilliant, dramatic scenes. Throughout the descriptions of Indian activity there runs the somber thread of unconscious tragedy. It is almost as if the lost race in frenzied self-defense threw themselves into their dramatizations of human experience, knowing in their hearts that they were only dramatizations, the last bright markings on a faded shell of a rich, varied, exciting, and free life.

The author of "Wah'Kon-Tah" writes with impressive calm and justice. His story is further from passion than most white men's stories of the Indian. Besides this impartial and intellectual attitude John Joseph Mathews distinguishes himself in lovely, fresh, and original descriptive prose. "Wah'Kon-Tah" was a November choice of the Book-of-the-Month.

Grant Foreman, a distinguished scholar of the Indian race, has collected in "Indian Removal" the thousands of manuscripts, official and unofficial reports concerning the expulsion of 60,000 Indians over a period of ten years in America. First hand observers, officers employed by the government to expel the Indian, occasionally wrote down facts about the tragedies that were occurring from day to day.

More data about the southwest, though the Indian does not figure in them, are contained in "Texas Camel Tales," by Chris Emmett [Naylor], which describes the famous camel experiment in Texas; "Historic Sketches of the Cattle Trade of the West and Southwest," by Joseph G. McCoy [Rare Book Shop], a record of a thrilling chapter in American history, and "A Social and Political History of Texas," edited by Eugene C. Barker [Southwest Press], a simple and readable review of Texas history. M. D.

Debut at Dinner Dance

Miss Marion Gordon is to be introduced formally to society at a dinner dance Wednesday night to be given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Malcolm Gordon of 1430 Lake Shore drive, at the Drake hotel. Only this year's debs and their escorts and a few of last year's buds, friends of Miss Isabel Gordon, who came out last season, have been invited. [Rayhuff-Richter Photo.]

Recall Exploit of Marquette 258 Years Ago

Father Marquette, Jesuit explorer and missionary, who made the first recorded visit of a European to the site of Chicago 258 years ago, was honored yesterday at a series of exercises held in conjunction with an observance of the completion of 75 years of educational and missionary work in Chicago by Jesuit organizations. Also taking part in the exercises were representatives of the Chicago Historical society and M. S. Szymczak, city controller, representing Mayor Cermak.

There were two morning programs, one at the Marquette memorial pylon at the Michigan avenue bridge, and the other at the Marquette memorial at Damen avenue and the river. The speakers were the Rev. George Mahowald, S. J., president of Marquette university, Milwaukee; Rene Wellier, French consul; the Rev. Robert M. Kelley, S. J., president of Loyola university, and Mr. Szymczak. Music was furnished by the Marquette university band.

In the afternoon scores of school children assembled in the Hall of Science of A Century of Progress for a program sponsored by the World's Fair management. The children, led by the Melinromer Junior Boy Scout troop in uniform, marched to the hall from the Field museum. Following brief talks by Thomas A. O'Shaughnessey and John W. Gorby of the exposition staff there was a concert by the Marquette band.

In the center of the platform was a huge "birthday" cake, six feet in diameter and four feet high, decorated with figures in icing representing the arrival of Father Marquette at the site of Chicago. On top of the cake were four candles, each six feet tall.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT? BY H. A. RIDLEY

Copyright 1932 By New Syndicate Co., Inc.

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

WAREHOUSE MURDER.

The light from the lantern he had been carrying stood at his feet casting flickering shadows over the dead body of William Brown as Inspector Kelley and Prof. Fordney entered the third floor of Olson's warehouse.

Brown lay on his back in a pool of blood . . . shot through the neck. After being assured that Jones had touched nothing, police photographers went to work while he told his story.

"There've been so many stick-ups around here lately that I was put on to help Brown. I had just come down from inspecting the fourth floor when I saw him walking along here toward the elevator. Something whizzed past me and Brown threw up his hands and fell to the floor. A man ran down the fire-escape. I ran after him, fired three times, then rushed to the office and called headquarters. When I got back to Brown he was dead."

"In a few minutes he returned carrying a cap which he found on the landing below. Before he could speak Jones exclaimed, "Why I . . . I . . . had a cap like that. Lost it just two days ago!"

"Where were you when the shot whizzed past?" inquired Fordney ignoring Jones' remark.

"About here. It came from behind me."

"H'mmm. I'd say you had a narrow escape! Too narrow, in fact. Put the cuffs on him, Kelley!"

WHY?

[See Solution on page 35.]

Frank Teurfs Wins a Place in Rising Group of Singers

Frank Teurfs, baritone, appeared in joint recital with Dorothea De Muth, pianist and accompanist, at the Playhouse yesterday. Mr. Teurfs classifies as being among the rising generation of singers. He has not yet reached his full vocal and artistic stature, but by comparison with another recital which he gave about a year ago, he shows that his growth is steady and even rapid.

He is endowed with a voice of fine quality, full, resonant, and brilliant, and he has acquired a woring knowledge of many, if not all the uses to which it should be put. His control of words in song, English in particular, is excellent.

Mrs. De Muth, serving in two capacities, was heard a soloist in a Bach transcription made by Jan Chiapusso of this city, a Mozart sonata which was not the one containing the Turkish march, and a Chopin group. She has marked ideas of interpretation which sometimes miss her aim through inexactness of performance, but at her best plays in an expressive and attractive manner. E. M.

Ed Wynn Show Is Superlative of Amusement

Comedian-Manager Offers "Laugh Parade."

"THE LAUGH PARADE."

A revue with Ed Wynn as star and under his management; given at the Grand Opera house Dec. 4, 1932. Dialogue by Mr. Wynn; music by Harry Warren; lyrics by Mort Dixon and Joe Young; dances staged by Albertina Rasch.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

As an entertainer Ed Wynn is extraordinary and unique. In his vein of grotesque and captivating clowning he has no rivals and not even a following of imitators. All this has been known for years—long, long before the radio networks discovered him and expanded his range of communication. There is, however, a new aspect of Mr. Wynn to be observed in his show called "The Laugh Parade," which began an engagement at the Grand Opera house last night. He has blossomed out as a producer, a comedian-manager, whose offering ranks with the richest and gayest of the Broadway musical revels. He has become a revue master de luxe.

"The Laugh Parade" is a sleek, swift-paced, handsome amusement that gratifies the most exacting taste in song and dance frolics. It is gay, spectacular, and mirthful; it is diversified with novelties, and its sense of humor is not debauched. Even without the presence of its droll and fantastic star it would be an excellent show. With him it is superlative.

There are nineteen episodes in "The Laugh Parade," and Mr. Wynn appears in almost every one, always in a new manifestation of his hesitating, effusive vein of comic chatter. His wardrobe of queer clothes and insane hats seems unlimited; his passion for primitive puns is hot; his stutterings and lispings and giggles are forever winning laughter.

The show is copious with the eager and apparently artless outgivings of an amazingly ingenious clown, and yet there is never too much of him. The performance is admirably balanced, and Mr. Wynn's auxiliaries, who include many dazzling girls, have ample opportunity to rise and shine.

Early on the program Mr. Wynn submits to this modern world a glimpse of a Punch and Judy show with himself as the puppeteer, and this ancient bit of folk-drama becomes up-to-date merriment for the sophisticates. About 10:30 he puts on an exhibition of "protean" character acting as practiced by the old-timers, and it becomes a brief masterpiece of wynnishness. In between he is always active with one thing or another. He is a freakish bartender in a speakeasy; he is third man in a rough-and-tumble acrobatic number; he is a Simple Simon of the stage-door, making grotesque "passes" at the emerging choristers. He changes character in every scene—and remains always the inimitable Ed Wynn.

The most unusual performer among Mr. Wynn's assistants is a little pantomimist named [if the complicated program does not deceive me] Jack Powell, who has added something new to the technique of beating on drums. He is, in fact, a superman of the drumsticks, so skillful that he doesn't need his drum at all. He taps out amazing intricate rhythms on chairs, the floor, the walls, people's heads, and any surface within his reach. Here, for the veteran theatergoer who thinks that he has seen everything, is a surprise. This strange wizard of the drumsticks is a complete novelty.

Elsa Ersi, a trim little singer of Europan origin, leads several songs effectively; Frieda Mierse is the prize beauty of the troupe; Bartlett Simmons is a handy man in the sketches and also the musical numbers, and Eunice Healy is worth watching as a dancer. Some of the episodes of pageantry, with bonny girls parading about in fantastic costumes, are striking stage pictures.

Tomorrow night's performance of "The Laugh Parade" will be omitted to permit Mr. Wynn to attend to his radio duties. The broadcast will be from the stage of the Grand Opera house, the public will be admitted, and the proceeds from the ticket sale will be devoted to Christmas charities.

Sunday Club Hears Plea for 'Partnership with God'

"Forming a going partnership with God is not compulsory; it isn't yielding to superstition, coming under the spell of hypnotism, or getting religion; it is just common sense," said Dr. Albert W. Beaven, president of the Colgate-Rochester Divinity school, Rochester, N. Y., in his address before the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night. "You have to live some kind of a life in this one chance you have. Why not link up with the greatest wisdom, strength and power available and get the benefit of it?"

Attractive Debutante

Miss Louise Dewey, one of the prettiest and most popular of the season's debutantes, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey. She made her formal bow to society at a charming at home early in the fall and she is to be given a dance by her parents on the night after Christmas at the Casino.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning:

"Rackety Rax," adapted from the satire by Joel Sayre, kids the racketeer and football much after the manner in which "Once in a Lifetime" got gay with Hollywood and all that therein lies.

The piece is amusing and different, though, from what I hear of the original, the movie has failed to capture the latter's keen edge. "Rackety Rax," the picture, isn't any scintillating opus. But it certainly does have its moments and hands out plenty of laugh studded action.

Mr. McLaglen is seen as one Knucks McGloin who controls practically all the rackets in his own fair city. He lives and works in much the same eccentric splendor as does that great producer, Mr. Glosglauer in "Once in a Lifetime." When he sits on his throne his satellites bow and hustle and when he emerges into God's sunlight, none ever had greater guard of yes men, nay not even Cecil De Mille.

One day his sweetie drags Knucks to a football game. He'd never been to one before and so is utterly unprepared for the milling crowds that evidence what the gate receipts will be.

"My, what a swell racket!" he says, and—"I'm going to cut myself a slice of THAT. . . !"

"O, NAW?" says Knucks McGloin.

So he buys himself a down and out school of learning, puts his gorillas on its gridiron, hires a coach who has been satisfactory in turning out good penitentiary teams, and, for a long, long time, wins games wholesale.

All is merry as a marriage bell with the McGloin enterprises when Giloti, McGloin's only rival, decides things have gone far enough. He, too, acquires a college. . . .

And, one bright day, the two teams meet—McGloin, until the game is half over, being in ignorance of the fact that his brother in crime has stolen a march on him. . . .

Funny ending!

The acting, all considerably burlesqued, is up to snuff and the director kept his eyes on the road. Some of the dialogue is pretty snappy and some isn't snappy at all.

[Get over to the State-Lake while the going's good. It closes Friday, you know.]

Mrs. Fowler M'Cormick Will Give Party for Young People

Affair Will Be at Arts Club New Year's Eve While Alexander Stillman Visits Mother.

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOME of the younger members of society have received invitations to a New Year's eve party to which I'll venture they wrote acceptances at once, for they all know it will be one of the jolliest parties of the holiday season.

The charm and originality of the hostess, Mrs. Fowler McCormick, are well known, and all the debutantes and other young people who have been invited to see the old year out and the new year in with Mr. and Mrs. McCormick at the Arts club are glad to be included on the invitation list.

Some are invited for dinner at 8:30 o'clock and more for dancing at 11. Alexander Stillman, Mrs. McCormick's son, will be here from Harvard for the holidays; nood news for the debutante crowd, for he is immensely popular here.

Mrs. Shedd Hostess at Lovely Party.

Although those pretty young cousins, Miss Mary Reed and Miss Jean Schweppe, did not want a debut party and were able to persuade their mothers, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, not to give them a traditional tea or ball, they couldn't dissuade their grandmother, Mrs. John G. Shedd, from giving them some sort of a large party (so their mothers told me).

I'm sure, however, that the girls were glad Mrs. Shedd had insisted upon having the musical she gave for them Saturday afternoon, for it was a lovely party with "every one" there, young and old, and no one seemed to be enjoying it more than the tiny little hostess who stood between her granddaughters — neither of whom is tall, but both are nearly a head taller than Mrs. Shedd.

They made a lovely picture as they stood just outside the ballroom of the Drake hotel, receiving the hundreds of guests. Mrs. Shedd wore black velvet with orchids on one shoulder and a tiny round bouquet of violets in one hand. Miss Reed was lovely in powder blue crêpe that was most becoming to her blonde beauty. The gown was made simply with long sleeves, the only trimming being narrow crystal bands at the shoulders. She wore a tiny black cap and black slippers and carried a bouquet of lavender and white orchids.

Miss Schweppe's piquant brunette beauty was set off to advantage by her gown of beige velvet. It had leg-o'-mutton sleeves of heavy lace, the same shade as the velvet, and she wore a turban of the velvet, and beige slippers. Her flowers were green orchids and valley lilies.

Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Schweppe did not stand with their mother and daughters but held a sort of secondary reception in a secluded corner of the ballroom, Mrs. Reed in brown duvetyn and Mrs. Schweppe in beige crêpe with sable trimmings. Edward Johnson, one of society's favorite singers, gave the program.

The same palms and ferns that decorated the ballroom for the Assembly Friday night had been left for Mrs. Shedd's party, but the dozens of baskets and vases of flowers that had been sent to the debutantes entirely changed the appearance of the ballroom and its adjoining rooms.

Tea was served in the tower room after the program from a long table covered with pale green lace over silver cloth. Three silver urns of long stemmed pale yellow roses were on the table.

To list those who were there would

Muriel Hubbard Decides Against Opening Theater

Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Winter residents of Palm Beach will have to do without stage productions this season—that is, in so far as they have been depending on the Palm Beach Playhouse.

Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, the former Muriel McCormick, socially prominent president and founder of the Playhouse, has announced that existing economic conditions made it necessary to refrain from opening the theater here this winter.

Mrs. Hubbard did not reveal plans further ahead than this season. The Playhouse was organized in the fall of 1930.

BARTER AND SAIL

By HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Henry White sails his four-master ship, the Abigail White, in search of a ship filled with pearl oysters, sunk by a French captain before the world war in a lagoon in a South Sea island. Arlette Mordecai, the French captain's granddaughter, has brought him complete instructions for finding the ship. Arlette is accompanied by an English woman of title known as Ladybird. In his crew are Adam Eden, an unemployed engineer. Roberta Millbank and Peter Cavan. Roberta's father died after his bank failed and Peter was his trusted employé. Henry Shepard, backer of the venture, fills the boat with a cargo of his own choosing, including a lot of used cars and launches, and plans to stop at certain ports to trade cargoes. One owner of an unused car sends his French chauffeur, Raoul, along. Ladybird, who is a naval officer's daughter, is made mate, Benny, a cook, hires up for his keep. Four seafaring men Henry hired to load the cargo didn't appear to collect their wages before the boat sailed. They turn out to be bandits, who hide on the ship until it is well out to sea, then take charge.

INSTALLMENT XIII.

FAMILIAR FACE.

The only difference wrought by the stowaways to the life and routine of the schooner was in the first twenty-four hours an unpleasant constraint.

The four men were at least not intrusive. Neither was their guard of the Abigail's crew corroding. The only noticeable feature about it was one of the armed stowaways was always near each of the four men on deck. They did not attempt to enter the cabin where the girls were quartered, nor to intrude in any way.

The second day of this surveillance Roberta passed two of them on her way to the galley. They were helping Raoul who was at work on the engine of a big half-decked dory that was in the nature of a sea-skiff. This would be the boat in which they would make for the shore where they were to land, Roberta thought. One of them glanced at her and said in a clipped but friendly tone, "Ladies' weather, Miss."

"Yes," she said, "and let's hope it lasts."

But she had got a shock. She had recognized the face as one that she had seen before but could not place. She went forward to where Adam and Peter were passing extra lashings over one of the launches. The boats had been stowed on deck in tiers, leaving space for the handling of gear where necessary. This disposition was safe enough if they were properly secured against bad weather, and Capt. Hiram had been taking this precaution.

He gave her a troubled look. "Where?"

He did not answer. Roberta had the sudden intuition that Peter had seen him too. But if so he did not see fit to say so. Roberta went on, "I can't make them out."

"Don't try," Peter said.

Peter stooped down and passed a lashing through a ring bolt in the deck. Roberta stood thinking hard, searching her memory. She looked off to the horizon where a steamship was moving under a smudge of oil smoke.

"What's that vessel?" she asked.

The words "mail steamer" brought her the clew. Mail suggested postoffice, the post office at Millbank. There flashed across her mind the last time she had gone in there just before leaving home. She now saw herself buying stamps, then staring at the portrait of a man tacked on the partition. That was the face she remembered, and under it in heavy lettering in capitals, "Wanted for mail robbery," and other indications about such felons as got out by the postoffice department.

She said in a low voice to Peter, "Now I remember. In the postoffice at home."

Peter said, "I was afraid you might. Don't tell the others."

"Does Capt. Hiram know?"

"Yes. I told him. Nothing to do about it."

"There's nothing to prevent their being both. It might be only this one though. If a man's wanted for mail robbery a rum boat would be a good place for him to hide out."

Adam said, "The man that calls himself Capt. Smith is a sailor."

"Yes. But the others look more like gangsters to me. There's something close and tight about them."

As if sensing the nature of this brief talk, one of the guard lounging by the rail walked their way. Adam said to him casually: "Want to give us a heave on this lashing?"

"Sure." The man seemed to have no fear of any overt act. He helped to haul the lashing taut. It was obvious that the Abigails could not attempt to get command of the ship again. The overpowering of one man could not have been managed without swift violence from the other three. There were the women to consider.

The showdown came suddenly and curiously and at a moment when a sort of suspension of watchfulness prevailed. This was at sundown. The breeze had lightened and the decks were comparatively still. Henery was at the wheel. Capt. Smith took his watch where he could glance at the course from time to time with his back against the after cabin house close beside its open door. Ladybird, who liked to take sights and work out the ship's position under Capt. Hiram's instruction, was seated at the chart table making calculations.

Raoul had set up Henery's radio in the saloon of the cabin, but so far it had not been used. Everybody had been too busy to give it a thought. But now as Ladybird glanced at the cabin clock that showed a few minutes before five, it occurred to her to check the hour with a time tick. She had just been looking up equation of time in the nautical almanac and this had suggested the idea.

Henery called to Adam who in turn summoned Raoul. The young Frenchman came aft. He alone had preserved his good cheer as though nothing out of the ordinary was happening aboard, often joking with his guard.

"Raoul," Ladybird said, "See if you can get the time on this machine."

Raoul entered the cabin. As he did so Capt. Smith rose and looked inside. He had not quite got the meaning of Ladybird's order. It is probable that he did not know of there being a radio aboard. He was naturally suspicious and always on the alert to catch anything that passed between the Abigail's people.

"I want to check the time," Ladybird said to Capt. Hiram at the center table. "You might stand by the chronometer."

Raoul started to manipulate the knobs. There was a whine of music, that was quickly gone. Suddenly a penetrating voice said with startling loudness: "An announcement. The four bank robbers who killed the watchman and rifled the vaults of the . . ."

That was as far as the announcement had got when the radio was roughly quenched. Capt. Smith had sprung through the door across the saloon and almost in the same instant knocked Raoul aside and cut off the radio message.

Capt. Hiram leapt to his feet. Smith's hand snatched the pistol from where he carried it, hung gunman fashion under his left arm. For a moment Ladybird thought a massacre was beginning.

GASOLINE ALLEY—SOLUTION

I'M SERIOUS ABOUT THAT RANGERS' SHACK, WALT. YOU SHOULD BE AS ANXIOUS AS I AM TO HAVE IT DONE AWAY WITH.
I'VE HAD A BETTER IDEA, PHYLLIS. I'VE PADLOCKED IT.
WELL JUST SEE THAT IT STAYS LOCKED.
BUT THE BOYS HAVE TO HAVE A PLACE TO GO AND I'VE DECIDED TO GET UP A CLUB THAT WILL MEET HERE WHERE WE CAN WATCH THEM.
WHAT WILL THEY DO HERE?
THAT'S EASY. I'M GOING TO READ OLIVER TWIST TO THEM. WE'LL CALL IT THE OLIVER CLUB. IT WILL KEEP THEM OCCUPIED AND THEY WON'T MISS THEIR HOUSE

Care in Cooking Brings Out Savoriness.

BY MARY MEADE.

It does seem that since economists are still undecided just which corner it is around that prosperity is sunning itself, it's about time we found a few new and tasty ways of serving meat cheaply. So often, if we only knew it, we are guilty of paying large sums for pieces of meat because they are the ones we know the most about, while we turn a cold eye and ear to the blandishments of the less notorious but just as delicious meats for main dishes.

Certain cuts of meat are bound to be less expensive than others because they are less tender and therefore need long, slow cooking or special methods of preparation. Among these less tender cuts in beef which are therefore the least expensive we find chuck, shoulder, round, flank, and rump all making good steak platters: Chuck ribs, rump, round, clod, and cross-arm, which supply us with cuts for roasts, and finally the neck, plate, and brisket, shank, flank, and heel of the round which simmer and bubble themselves into delectable stews.

Sometimes with roasts and steaks taken from the more muscular part of our beef animal we lend a helping hand to the cooking process by soaking the meat first in a marinade—a combination of vinegar, lemon juice, tomato juice, or other acid plus savory seasoning and cooking oil. This combination adds flavor and fat as well as applying acid—which latter aids in breaking down the not so tender muscle tissues.

The following meat dishes have been worked out with economy and deliciousness held first in mind. If your economy meat dish is to be of the oven variety, plan to have your potatoes or squash baked and your other vegetables and dessert also oven cooked. If it is a stew or top stove dish, avoid heating the oven at all and if possible make it as much of a one-dish meat as possible, requiring the use of only one burner. Let fresh fruit or an icebox dessert top off the feast.

BRAISED PORK SHOULDER.

4 cups stale bread crumbs
3 teaspoons salt
4 tablespoons bacon or other fat
1 cup crushed pineapple
½ cup grated onions

Have the butcher prepare the shoulder by boning and trimming. Wipe with a damp cloth. Mix the remaining ingredients and use to stuff the opening in the shoulder. Skewer or sew up and dredge with flour and salt. Heat a heavy kettle and in it sear the shoulder on both sides. Add one cup of water and cover tightly. Turn down the heat and let simmer about three hours in the oven or on a burner.

HAMBURG STEAK ON SPANISH ONIONS.

3 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 cups hamburger (ground lean beef)
¼ cup ground suet
8 strips of bacon
1 small onion, minced
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups soft bread crumbs

Arrange the onion slices in a shallow, heatproof baking dish and add the melted fat. Add the water and dashes of salt and pepper. Cover and let bake in a moderate oven till tender—about half an hour. Meanwhile blend the remaining ingredients and form into eight flat patties. About the edge of each wrap a strip of bacon. When the onions are tender place a cake on each slice and broil for five minutes on each side, basting occasionally. Serve with tomato sauce if desired.

Let Child Alone When He First Sees His Gifts

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Experience is a good teacher. But it need not be always one's own experience. And often I feel that first babies have a hard time in some ways because their mothers and fathers have to learn "on them." So it is quite possible to profit occasionally by the experiences passed on by a mother who has made mistakes and profited by them. Or by one who has avoided them.

What is in my mind just now is, to put it baldly, just this: Let your very little son and daughter receive their gifts in peace. I can remember vividly a scene in which a small boy was being given his Christmas presents. The people who loved him gathered around as he slowly took off the wrappings. They exclaimed with delight; they "oh-ed and ah-ed and ah-ed and oh-ed." They discussed the wonderfulness of the engine or toy animal. They asked him if he liked it and told him who gave it to him. And they expected him to exclaim with pleasure, to be articulate about his delight—and if you know small children you know they don't do this.

Now, these things were all done with the realest, warmest love, of course. But they were too much. They overwhelmed the child. They confused him. They stole his thunder. They got between him and the object of his pleasure and surprise.

Little children should be allowed to receive their presents in peace. Don't be disappointed if they don't exclaim. Don't be surprised if they don't even show great pleasure. And don't—I was going to say for heavens' sake don't—expect them politely to thank the donor of the gift.

I've heard people at the very peak of a child's interest in some desired toy push in with "Why, Betty, you haven't thanked Uncle John," or "David, can't you say thank you to mother?"

You may understand all this yourself without this suggestion, but your friends and relatives may not. See if you can't somehow tactfully get the others to "pipe down" with their exuberant exclamations.

QUICKEST WAY TO KNOCK COLDS
Feel Like A New Person Almost Before You Know It
If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start trying a lot of fancy ideas or remedies.
Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.
Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system and you feel like a new person.
If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now for a few cents. Way it works will surprise you.

Salary Less Than That of Fiancee So He Refuses to Marry Now

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She earns almost half as much again as her fiancé. They've been drifting along for four years. The young man says he will not marry until he is earning as much as the girl. His idea is that people will lose respect for him if he marries a girl earning more than he. In fact, he'd prefer that she did not work at all after they are married.

Other people's opinions and a jealous clinging to a worn out theory that man must do all the providing weigh more than the girl's feelings. The girl wants to marry, and at once. She wants to continue with her job until they can get sufficiently ahead to warrant her staying at home. She recognizes in the man a person of sterling character and the only man she'll ever love, but one who never will be a financial success, as such success is generally measured.

Unless something happens it begins to look to the girl as if she'll be in her thirties before marriage will be possible on the man's terms. And all that time lost, she protests. If she is willing to help out financially she can't understand why they cannot be enjoying each other's company on marriage terms. As it stands now, there is always the cheated, disappointed feeling and a growing fear that they never will be married.

If the girl in love with him cannot change the fiancé's mind, can we hope that outside pressure will? It does seem that a man of this particular period we're living in should be willing to see emergencies in a modern light. There are thousands of couples who could not marry if the wife weren't able to carry on at her job, too. They're doing it without any silly fuss about the man's place as chief provider. Our economic structure has changed. It isn't any weakness on the man's part that he often has to subscribe to the order of income sharing. Rather, it is weakness not to face reality. Besides, the fiancé's happiness should matter. Loss of respect from outsiders should be cast aside as imaginary, which it is, where the man works to the best of his ability.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Request for Guitar.

"I am living with a family in one of our suburbs where I get my room and board in exchange for my services. It is so lonesome here in the evenings I'd like to get a guitar for my amusement. If I had some music it would help a great deal. L. M."

A guitar would provide companionship and enjoyment which this woman lacks now, and I know she'd be very grateful for one. Perhaps one of you can supply it.

Befuddled Buyer of Masculine Gifts Can Be Sure She's Right

BY RHEA SEEGER.

BEFUDDLED female shoppers with that wild and weary gleam in their eyes are the very few who have not heard of the newest scheme in one shop that definitely takes all masculine gift problems and solves them while the aforementioned weary soul waits and gasps in wide eyed wonder.

One comparatively quiet section on the first floor has been dedicated to the male; here, one may shop unhampered, even with a certain joyousness, for strictly masculine things that will greatly satisfy, please, and surprise the most grumpy male relative.

Obligingly and with much enthusiasm this shop has assembled so many fascinating new and old favorites that the average shopper nearly doubts the eyesight. Smarting under the memory of spurned cravats that you optimistically selected last year, or the inevitable pair of slippers, or the socks that you liked, but the lord of the manor sniffed at, you probably will shut your eyes to such easy temptations this year. This first impulse can be ignored . . . buy the socks, the ties and the comfortable slippers, but buy them from collections that have been officially O. K.'d by a regular guy who knows his accessories.

And how they enticingly urge you to buy this season . . . a half a dozen winter socks in all the prevailing fashionable colors are boxed alluringly . . . three swanky cravats are folded persuasively one against the other in a box that would appeal to Beau Brummel himself and what they do for slippers [and what gorgeous duets they do show you] is something to marvel over.

The grand old favorite, the neck scarf, is dressed up to be everybody's business; snooty, thick, white dress scarfs have been smoothly stowed in a box and then covered with eye-opening red cellophane.

Sports things are practical and swagger — complete knockouts. You can buy your favorite male everything from skis, snow shoes, windbreakers, toboggans, sports socks, shirts, caps and every other outdoor necessity. Then you can buy the stuff that will keep him snug by the fire, the games, the gaming gadgets, the cards, puzzles and books, and all, again officially, anything but sissie, according to the highest authority.

Look for the newest trifles, the carefully assembled ensemble, the cuff links, tie, and collar pin and key ring, all matched, in metal, design and style. Some knockout combines are so low in price that you will find it hard to believe the price marks.

If you are consumed with a greater desire for ensembles, you will be thrilled with some new Scotch plaid . . . a fine plaid wool cravat, a matching scarf with fringe, and—get out your smelling salts—some giddy Scotch braces, suspenders to you and you . . . and these, too, are made of the same fine wool that looks like super-elegant flannel with distinguished Scotch ancestry.

Another thing to snicker over is the mock turtle neckpiece . . . a naïve arrangement fashioned to pinch hit for a regular turtle neck sweater. It has all the smart swankiness of the swathed neckline but ends as a mere chest protector with two fringe ends that tie Ascot fashion . . . sounds complicated, but isn't, looks frightfully prince of Walesish and is quite the newest import to be unpacked in time for presentation for some very particular as well as appreciative star attraction on your list.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

Mrs. Harold Ruckman Mixsell will give a luncheon at the Carlyle, Dec. 20, for her debutante daughter, Miss Mary B. Mixsell.

Mrs. Arthur Crary and her daughter, Miss Mary Crary, who have been traveling in Europe since early autumn, will join the Empress of Britain world cruise at Naples, Italy, and will not return here until April.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schuyler Ogden are at the Ritz-Carlton before going to White Sulphur Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Griswold A. Thompson gave a luncheon yesterday at the Ritz-Carlton for Mr. and Mrs. Imre de Josika Herczeg, Mrs. William May Wright, and Paul Yaccacci.

Infant Welfare.

Mrs. Fowler M'Cormick to Give Party

Young People Invited to Arts Club.

be to make a list of every one in Chicago and on the north shore whose names make social news. From 4 until after 5 there was a steady line of guests greeting Mrs. Shedd and her granddaughters and, although the program did not start until after 5, there were people still coming at that time.

Dance at Casino for Young Crowd.

Saturday night the debutante set and a few of the "young marrieds" dined and danced at the Casino at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick for Miss Marjorie Goodman and Miss Carolyn Erminger. The young married couples who were invited were friends of the McCormicks' nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stuart Stone Jr., who moved here from Boston about eight months ago and who are attractive additions to the smart young crowd.

One of the gayest parties for the young set during the holidays will be the subscription dance the pupils of Miss Harris' school are planning for Tuesday, Dec. 27, at the Belden-Stratford hotel. Not only the pupils of the school but many of the alumni plan to be at the party, the proceeds of which will go to charity.

The children of this school feel keenly the necessity of helping those less fortunate than they and last year they contributed more than $700 to the Emergency Relief fund, all of which they raised by giving benefits. Some of those assisting the young people in making plans for the dance are Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, Mrs. Charles G. King, Mrs. Robert H. McCormick, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Albert A. Sprague and Mrs. Nelson Thomasson Jr., all of whom have or have had children in the school.

Mrs. Pynchon to Be Hostess.

Mrs. Harold Pynchon will give a tea this afternoon at 4 o'clock at her residence, 210 East Pearson street, for the members of the executive committee of the Silver Screen ball and her daughter, Miss Edith Atwater, who is appearing in "Springtime for Henry" at the Blackstone theater. Miss Atwater and the others of the small cast of the play will be at Mr. and Mrs. Pynchon's dutch treat table at the ball which is to be given by the Association of Arts and Industries at the Drake a week from Friday.

Miss Atwater's Chicago stage début Friday night attracted a large and fashionable audience, for she is well known here, being the granddaughter of the Edwin L. Lobdells and having lived here until recently.

The audience was unusually festive in appearance, for many of its members were going on to the Assembly after the theater. Some of those who were there to enjoy the light but sophisticated comedy were the Lobdells and the Pynchons, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, Miss Cornelia Conger, Miss Frances Weary, Miss Jeannette Peterkin, the Raymond Dudleys and Miss Lillian Dudley, the Francis R. Dickinsons, the Harold C. Smiths, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Shaw, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, the John A. Chapmans, the Alfred Cartons and Miss Edith Behr.

Many Parties for Miss Vilas.

Miss Virginia Vilas, who will be married to David W. Norton Jr. next Saturday afternoon, is being entertained at many different and exciting parties these days. Last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Van Gorder Kirk entertained for Miss Vilas and Mr. Norton at their home on Linden avenue in Highland Park, and Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beuttas gave a party for them in their penthouse studio-apartment atop 720 North Wabash avenue. Last night Miss Vilas' brother, Royal C. Jr., gave a small party at the Vilas Glen View residence, afterwards taking the guests to the hockey game at the Stadium.

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hill Fleming will entertain at dinner for Miss Vilas and Mr. Norton at her father's, Benjamin H. Marshall's, lakeside studio in Wilmette. Mrs. Fleming will be Miss Vilas' matron of honor. Wednesday Miss Roberta Harvey, whose engagement to Mr. Vilas Jr. was recently announced, will give a luncheon at her home, 340 Barry avenue, for Miss Vilas.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is in New York for the musical at which her daughter, Miss Janet Fairbank, will sing today at Mrs. Horace Hawes Martin's residence on East 79th street. Mrs. Martin is a former Chicagoan. Mrs. and Miss Fairbank are visiting the Paul Manships in the eastern city.

Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter and Tommy and Bobby Ames arrived at home Saturday from a brief stay at French Lick Springs and Mrs. Knowlton L. Ames and Buddy Ames will return today from the spa.

At a travel tea this afternoon at 3 in the home of Miss Esther Somerville, 1228 Forest avenue, Evanston, Katherine C. Ferguson will lecture on "Unusual Types and Costumes in the Balkans." After the program Miss Somerville will entertain with a Yugo-Slav tea. This talk is the last in a series of travelogues given on the north shore under the sponsorship of Mrs. Ralph Sewell Farwell.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover attended the morning service in the Friends church today and went for a motor ride this afternoon. They had a few personal friends at their evening meal.

Mrs. Adolph Casper Miller, formerly of Chicago, entertained at tea this afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Frederick Coolidge of Boston, founder of the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge foundation which gave to the library of congress the beautiful auditorium for chamber music a few years ago. Mrs. Coolidge is spending the week-end in Washington to attend some concerts in the little auditorium.

The marriage is announced of Miss Jessie Beatrice Fanyo, daughter of the mayor of Watseka, Ill., to Wilbur Gayle Payne, son of Claude A. Payne, also of Watseka, which took place here Friday afternoon in the national Metropolitan church in Wesley Heights, the Rev. James Shiera Montgomery, chaplain of the house of representatives, officiating.

Unusually Pretty Frock with Straight Yoke, Plaited Skirt for School Wear

GIRL'S DRESS.

An unusually pretty school dress having a straight yoke across the back and front, has the lower part plaited in place. These plaits should be stitched down between the yoke and waistline. The sleeves are full length and finished, as is the neck, with detachable cuffs and collar of white piqué. The belt may be worn, or, if the frock is more becoming hanging straight from the yoke, it may be left off. Soft woolens, silk crêpes, and cotton tweeds are good.

The pattern, No. 3211, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material with ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting

Cleverness Is as Important as Beauty to the Modern Woman

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Wonder if the time hasn't come to create a new beauty maxim. One something like this: "Be clever, sweet maid, and let who will be pretty!"

I've noted, especially among the screen stars I've been seeing and talking with lately, that being clever has it all over being pretty when it comes to four-starring a charmer. I've seen quite a number of these famous screen girls in the last year. The girls who linger in the memory are those who wisely discount the value of mere prettiness of face today. Some of them haven't even especial prettiness. But those who have know they must bring something else to the scene of competition or they're marked for a short run of popularity.

They have to be clever—and the four-star ones ARE clever. They're clever in the way they dress, in the way they do their hair, perhaps. Clever in manner. Clever in conversation. And this, I think, is what our modern day definition of "personality" largely consists of.

The other afternoon I tea-d with a young woman, Florence Lake (Mrs. Edgar Kennedy to you "Average Man" comedy fans). She has played parts in "Romance" and "The Rogue Song" and other successes. Now she's on a long term contract with R. K. O. Here's a young woman who illustrates what I mean by that new twist to our present day standard of fascinating women. She has the sort of appeal you don't forget. A slight blonde, she was dressed in an original little black and white two piece suit, coat buttoned up to the throat, and a tiny cape collar of Persian lamb and the most impish looking bellhop hat. She's not beautiful. But she is clever and just that bit "different" that's so engaging today.

She has in her general makeup an emotional appeal comparable to Ruth Gordon or Helen Hayes, let's say, that has nothing to do with the shape of the nose or the color of the eyes. Florence is a comedienne. In social life a cleverly restrained one—but most amusing in the way she tells a story or relates an incident. Her lovely hands talk engagingly. She offers a surprise element—a valuable thing in woman today. Every little while when you are with her an expression of face or eye, a gesture of the hand, or a sudden unfolding of a touch of beauty you had not noticed before, intrigues you.

Yellow, stained teeth are not natural. For proof start using Kolynos—a half-inch of this scientific dental cream on a dry brush, twice daily in 3 days your teeth will look truly 3 shades whiter!

This remarkable dental cream cleans teeth so much whiter than other preparations you've used because it contains two remarkable ingredients. One—the finest cleansing agent known—foams into and cleans out every fissure, removes decay-causing debris, erases ugly tartar and yellow. While the second ingredient kills millions of germs that swarm into the mouth and cause most tooth and gum troubles. Thus the mouth and teeth are quickly cleaned right down to the beautiful, natural white enamel without injury.

Now if you want gleaming white teeth free from decay, and firm, pink gums free from disease start using Kolynos, with its unique Dry-Brush Technique. You'll never regret it. Buy a tube today.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The hidden man trick, as old as football itself, was the lever by which the Chicago Bears pried a victory from the New York Giants, 6 to 0, yesterday at Wrigley field. This touchdown, scored by Luke Johnsos on a pass from Keith Molesworth, carried the Bears one game nearer the championship of the professional league.

However, the hope that the Green Bay-Bears game next Sunday would be for the championship was dissipated when Green Bay was overwhelmed by Portsmouth yesterday. The Packers, champions for three consecutive years, now are out of the race. Portsmouth, however, is emphatically a title possibility. The Spartans have won six games and lost one. This percentage can be equaled by the Bears if they whip the Packers next week.

Bears Repeat Charity Offer.

If the Bears and Spartans tie for the title, arrangements already have been completed for a championship game Dec. 18. The proposal, which George Halas, president of the Bears Football corporation, had accepted, so that the welfare fund of Cook county would receive part of the football receipts next Sunday, last night was extended to include the Portsmouth game, if this title game possibility becomes fact.

The first three plays by the Bears decided the game yesterday, although this six point lead was in continual dispute in the second half. During the final 30 minutes New York camped on the Bears' goal line, threatening to tie the score six times. But the alert Bears' secondary, when it was crowded back to the goal, slapped down the Giants' passes.

Johnsos All Alone.

The Bears kicked off to the Giants to open the game. After short gains by Red Cagle and Jack McBride, Flaherty punted short to Molesworth, who brought the ball back ten yards to midfield. From here the Bears' winning parade got under way.

Red Grange hit the line for three yards, then he stepped down the center of the Giants' defense to take Molesworth's pass to the 29 yard line for a gain of 18 yards. On the next play Johnsos scored. As his teammates lined up in the center of the field, Johnsos knelt along the side line. His white jersey offered target for easy perception, but none of the Giants saw him. Miller shot the ball back to Molesworth, who immediately lobbed it to Johnsos near the side line. There was none to oppose Luke's run to the goal.

Tiny Engebretsen's place kick was partly blocked and failed to add the extra point.

Bears Kept in Own Territory.

With this advantage, the Bears' attack slackened. Apparently the team was satisfied to defend its touchdown. At no other time did the Bears advance into New York territory. Moreover, the Chicagoans were hard pressed repeatedly to stop New York's drives, but they were successful, although by the smallest of margins on several occasions.

Red Cagle was the mainspring in the Giants' first half. When he retired, Stuart Clancy took over his duties as ball carrier and safety man. Clancy performed brilliantly. He was almost unstoppable in the open field and got away for several runs of more than 20 yards each. Clancy played himself out and finally he was almost carried from the field at the start of the fourth period, completely exhausted by the battering of the Bears' tacklers.

McBride's Passes Worry Bears.

Jack McBride, who is the most effective forward passer in professional football, also won acclaim. McBride was the key man in the New York short passing offense which had the Bears' secondary players panicky in the last quarter.

Bill Hewitt was outstanding in defensive play for the Bears. Not only did Hewitt protect his flank from the slashing sorties of the Giants, but he covered lateral and forward passes in his territory faultlessly.

A BEAR PASS THAT FAILED, DESPITE APPEARANCES

Spartans Overwhelm Packers, 19-0; Take Pro League Lead

Portsmouth, O., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Portsmouth jarred Green Bay's hopes for a fourth consecutive National Football league championship today by defeating the Packers, 19 to 0, before 15,000.

The victory put Portsmouth in first place and dropped the Packers, who now have lost two games, into a tie with the Chicago Bears for second position. The Spartans did not make a substitution.

Portsmouth scored in the first, second, and fourth quarters. A penalty resulting from Hinkle's interference with Presnell's pass to McKalip paved the way for the first trip to the goal line. This decision gave Portsmouth the ball on Green Bay's 23 yard mark. After two tries at the line, Presnell passed to Lumpkin, who was stopped on the 4 yard line. Presnell smashed over right tackle for the touchdown on the next play. Clark dropkicked the point.

Short Punt Helps Spartans.

Herber's pop up punt in the second period gave the Spartans their second chance to score. Gutowsky, Spartan full back, downed the ball on Green Bay's 25 yard line and in three plays Portsmouth drove to the eight yard line. From there Clark went through left tackle for the touchdown. Clark failed to convert the point. A gale made punting and passing difficult in this quarter.

The Spartans failed to convert two scoring opportunities in the third period, but kept the ball in Green Bay territory. The first threat came when McKalip threw Herber on Green Bay's 20 yard line as he tried to punt on fourth down. Herber ended it by intercepting Presnell's pass.

After an exchange of punts Clark intercepted Herber's pass in midfield and returned to Green Bay's 26 yard line. Green Bay held for downs and Clark attempted a dropkick. Rose rushed Clark, causing him to fumble, and recovered for the Packers.

Presnell Makes Long Run.

Portsmouth's third touchdown came early in the fourth period. Herber, standing behind his own goal line, punted to the Spartans' 45 yard line. Presnell returned the ball to the Green Bay's 28 yard line on a run during which he reversed his field three times. Gutowsky picked up two yards at right guard. Presnell then passed to Clark on the two yard line and, with Herber hanging on his hip, dived over for the score. Clark's drop kick was wide.

In the closing minutes the Packers attempted to save themselves a shutout by unleashing a wild passing attack, but all their throws were either intercepted or knocked down.

Green Bay penetrated Spartan territory but once. This was late in the fourth period, when Herber and Hinkle worked the ball to Portsmouth's 30 yard line. The march was halted when Clark intercepted Herber's pass on his 10 yard stripe and galloped to Green Bay's 45 yard line.

Each team made five first downs, but on yards gained by rushing the Packers led with 115 to 84. On passes the Packers completed only one out of 16 for a gain of 9 yards, while the Spartans completed half of their ten attempts for gains of 87 yards.

GOVERNOR ACTS TODAY ON MICHEL RACE TRACK BILL

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—The fate of the Michel bill, which permits race tracks in Illinois to take 8½ per cent of all money wagered in the pari-mutuel pools and at the same time increases their license fees $1,000 a day, will be decided by Gov. Emmerson tomorrow.

The governor has given no indication as to the action he will take. Reports have come, however, from sources close to the administration, that there is a strong possibility that he will veto it. If the governor does not exercise his veto today the bill automatically will become a law regardless of the fact that he does not sign it.

The governor has heard many protests against the bill. The protests were made by race fans who contend the bill was passed in the guise of a charity measure, whereas in reality it might well be a promotional scheme engineered by some of the tracks. They point out that while the emergency relief fund may benefit to the extent of $150,000, the tracks themselves will benefit approximately three times that amount.

Opponents of the bill have hinted that if the governor gives the bill his O. K. they will ask the legislature at its regular session in January to amend the bill in such a way that it would increase the amount given the emergency relief fund.

MIDDIES TO PAY FOOTBALL BETS IN BATHROBES

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—As the result of a side bet on the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia yesterday between the corps of cadets and the regiment of midshipmen, the Annapolis supporters will pay on some day this week in bathrobes. Eighteen hundred of the robes are expected at the Point, providing one for each cadet with a few left over.

The football game, the bathrobes, the cheer leaders' sweaters, and the blankets of the Navy goat constitute the Army's spoils.

Talking it Over

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4.—There is strong probability that the Pacific Coast conference will have two new football coaches in the 1933 season. Jimmy Phelan has announced he is ready to resign from the University of Washington and fans around San Francisco will not be surprised if Glenn Warner quits Stanford.

Phelan, who came to the coast after developing a Big Ten championship team at Purdue, is popular with his players and the fans, but he prefers to work where politics and athletics are not so closely interwoven. Enoch Bagshaw, Phelan's predecessor, was forced to leave for the same reason.

The football structure at Washington was in a state of collapse when Phelan took it over two years ago. In this brief time he has revived some of the old spirit at Seattle and this year turned out a team which probably was as strong any the conference boasted.

Washington lost two games, one to Stanford, 7 to 6, and the other to Southern California, coast champion, by the margin of a field goal. It wound up its schedule yesterday with a 19 to 0 victory over University of California at Los Angeles with as fine a demonstration of all around football as this reporter has seen in many a day.

If Warner leaves Stanford, his successor probably will be an old Chicago favorite, Ernie Nevers, former star and coach of the Chicago Cardinals. Nevers is an assistant at Stanford this season.

There are rumors that Warner attempted to crowd Nevers into the background after the second or third week of practice, but moved him up when it became obvious that the Stanford backs needed more polish if they were to go anywhere in coast competition.

Nevers is rated the greatest player Stanford has produced and his elevation to head coach, when and if an opening occurs, would be enthusiastically received.

They call St. Mary's college of Moraga, Cal., the Notre Dame of the west because of the drawing power of its football teams. Located in the heart of the mountains, 16 miles from Oakland, and possessing a student enrollment of only 700 boys, the school's team nevertheless attracts crowds that would be something to talk about at any Western conference university.

Three weeks ago 65,000 turned out to see St. Mary's defeat University of California at Los Angeles. More than 50,000 saw its game with California at Berkeley. Kezar stadium at San Francisco, where St. Mary's plays its home games, held an almost capacity crowd of 50,000 for the contest with Santa Clara.

St. Mary's claims to have developed more major league baseball players than any school in the country, but it is only the last few years that it has come to the front in football. Its rise began with the appointment of Eddie Madigan as coach and athletic director ten years ago.

Madigan learned his football from Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. He is immensely popular with coaches and directors at Pacific coast schools and St. Mary's fine schedules are mainly a testimonial to his personality. The school is conducted by the Christian Brothers, the same order which operates St. Mel, De La Salle, and St. Patrick High schools in Chicago and St. George's in Evanston.

St. Mary's, by the way, is the last team that defeated Southern California—in October, 1921.

Lew Fonseca, manager of the White Sox, is anxiously awaiting the opening of spring practice at the club's new training camp in Pasadena. He and Bill Cunningham, Sox coach, recently returned from a week's hunting trip in the Cascades. They were lost four days, but it was an old experience for the Sox pilots. They were lost most of the summer in the American league.

The deal that brought Simmons, Haas, and Dykes to the south side has given Fonseca new hope for 1933. If the club can land a top ranking pitcher he believes it will be up in the race all the way.

"I expect Simmons to have one of the greatest years of his career," Fonseca told us the other day in San Francisco, where he is wintering.

"His contract expires at the end of 1933, and he will be in there every day giving all he has for Al Simmons," he predicted.

The Sox boss is going through with his plan to play first base himself. Billy Sullivan is destined to become a catcher. While he is waiting for March 1 Fonseca is keeping himself in shape by playing ping-pong.

METCALF WON'T RETAIN STAGG AS MAROONS' COACH

New Director Not to Ask His Reappointment.

A. A. Stagg's hopes of being retained as coach of the University of Chicago football team, at least for another year, apparently were definitely dispelled yesterday when Thomas N. Metcalf, newly appointed athletic director, announced at Ames, Ia., that Stagg would not be recommended for reappointment.

Metcalf made his statement following his attendance at the Western conference winter meeting in Chicago Friday and Saturday, at which time he conferred with University of Chicago authorities, Stagg, and other Big Ten directors.

Had Hoped for Another Year.

"Well, I guess that leaves me open for any proposition," Stagg said last night when notified of Metcalf's decision. "I had hoped to be appointed for at least another year, and had made known to President Hutchins of the university and Mr. Metcalf my desire to continue at Chicago.

"I understand Mr. Metcalf was to have the final say in the matter, and if that is his decision I guess I'm without a job."

Metcalf declared no successor had been selected, but that he expected to reach a decision by February. His statement follows:

"Following conferences in Chicago, I have decided that I shall not recommend Mr. Stagg's reappointment as football coach for next year. I haven't the least idea whom I shall recommend. I wish I did have. At present I am still in the preliminary stage of receiving applications and gathering information. I have been given a free rein without pressure or dictation from any outside source and hope to have a successor signed by February."

Seems Surprise to Stagg.

Stagg, whose retirement as director of athletics at Chicago under the university retirement regulations was announced on Oct. 13, declared he had made no arrangements for relinquishing his position as head coach, which he has held for 41 years. He intimated he had received offers from several other institutions. They were not positions he would care to accept. He had fully expected to coach his 42d Maroon eleven next fall, he added.

Among coaches mentioned for Stagg's place are Pat Page, former Maroon star, Indiana university coach and now baseball and assistant football coach at the Midway, and Fritz Crisler. Crisler, however, eliminated himself by declaring he would not change from Princeton, where he went as football coach last fall after coaching at Minnesota, where he also was athletic director. Crisler was an end star and assistant coach at Chicago under Stagg.

Attends Big Six Meeting.

GIANTS WILL BE DIFFICULT TEAM TO BEAT — TERRY

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Unless things happen to upset Bill Terry's plans, other teams will experience difficulty next season in upsetting the New York Giants.

Terry is leaving here tomorrow night on a trip that may lay the groundwork for a number of trades. Whether the trades will be consummated by the time he returns to play Santa Claus to his three children, no one, not even Terry, can say.

"I've got the nucleus of a good ball club," the New York manager said today. "With Travis Jackson back in the lineup, and the possibility of strengthening in two position, we'll have one of the best clubs in the league."

What the positions are he would not say. Neither would he reveal where he intends to find that additional strength.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks went back to the Stadium with bells on last night. They beat the tough New York Rangers, 4 to 3, in a whale of a hockey game which made 13,876 fans completely forget they had been angry with the Hawks for moving to other premises for a short spell.

The victory, as replete with thrills as any game played here in the regular portion of any season, continued the Hawks undefeated in Chicago. Though they haven't won a game on the road, they have registered three straight wins and a tie at home.

The first period wasn't much as a homecoming enterprise, for Bun Cook scored in the first two minutes and the advantage was protected throughout the session.

Then Fireworks Start.

The first 12 minutes of the second period were just so many minutes in a spirited but uneventful hockey entertainment. Then in four minutes and 45 seconds the Hawks tied the score at 1 to 1; the Rangers resumed the lead, 2 to 1; the Hawks tied it at 2 to 2, and the Hawks took the lead, 3 to 2—all this in a span of less than five minutes, mind you.

In the third period the Hawks made it 4 to 2, and four minutes later the Rangers made their total three. From then it was a battle royal, the riot advancing to the point where the Rangers benched their goalie in their eagerness to have skaters on the ice during the last three minutes.

It's pretty hard to pick individual heroes when a team piles up four goals on an outfit like the Rangers as they were last night. Take all the Hawks—you can exclude one or two, but we won't name 'em—and you'll have a list of lads who played hockey for their lives.

Scorers Get Break.

Paul Thompson did some brilliant skating and shooting. Lolo Couture had to lift the puck over two sprawling protectors to get his counter. Romnes was a slicker to ring up his solo and he was no slouch in getting two assist points, too. Taffy Abel got himself an assist point and earned it and so did Donnie McFadyen.

Bun Cook made two of the Ranger scores and Art Somers the other. Fortunately Fabe Siebert, who spells himself S-i-e-b-e-r-t, and Earl Seibert, who spells himself S-e-i-b-e-r-t, didn't figure in the scoring, so all we had to do was worry about getting McFadyen spelled correctly.

The customers were allowed to skate free of charge after the game. Public skating heretofore had not been allowed at Blackhawk games in the Stadium.

Hawks Start Behind.

Frank Boucher and Bun Cook didn't tarry about accomplishing the first score for the big crowd. One minute and 45 seconds after the contest began Mr. Bun slapped the puck into the net on an assist from Mr. Frank.

Shortly before the score was made Boucher got possession of the rubber in midice. He took it over the blue line, stalled a foot over the line while Bun skated to a point about five feet in front of the Chicago cage. As soon as Bun had anchored, Boucher slid the puck to him. Bun feinted Gardiner out of position, then flipped the counter into the open cage.

This precipitate production panicked the home lads very perceptibly for some time. It was not until the period was some 12 minutes old that any Hawk caused Goalie Aitkenhead to wiggle in the slightest degree. Thompson developed the first Chicago threat when he broke through the New York defense men, only to lose control of the puck just as he got in a good shooting position.

Rangers Go on Defense.

During the late minutes of the period the Rangers put on a defensive of golf shots, making more of those long drives in five minutes than had been seen here all year. Despite this, Ripley and March missed scoring by a couple of split whiskers.

There won't be any more exciting

NICHOLS AGREES TO RISK TITLE AT STADIUM DEC. 29

Has a Tuneup Bout on Carnera Card.

Fight Cards

COMMUNITY RECREATION CENTER.
[4711 West Madison street.]
Tom Petros vs. Fred Hull.
Walter Alex vs. Andy McCann.
Eddie Steigel vs. Ted Trocke.
Harry Frederickson vs. Milo Herides.
Joe Kulack vs. Clem Ducobu.
Ben Burman vs. Fred North.
Frank Caputo vs. Joe Mirabita.
One other bout.

Georgie Nichols, light heavyweight champion, has agreed to defend his title at the Chicago Stadium on Dec. 29. He will face Mickey Walker, Frankie Battaglia or Billy Jones. Nichols will arrive today to finish preparations for his eight round non-title contest with Martin Levandowski of Grand Rapids, Mich., on the Levinsky-Carnera card Friday at the Stadium.

Walker is considered the most logical opponent, but Jack Kearns, his manager, probably will keep him in the heavyweight division where he is listed sixth by the National Boxing association. Walker has a bout with Arthur De Kuh at Los Angeles tomorrow.

Battaglia Goes East.

Battaglia is next in line for a title contest with Nichols. He is not listed in the N. B. A.'s light heavyweight ratings, but is No. 4 in the middleweight class. He will leave for New York today to meet Chick Devlin on the Kid Chocolate-Fidel La Barba bill Friday.

In the event neither Walker nor Battaglia accepts terms, Matchmaker Nate Lewis has intimated that Billy Jones will be picked as Nichols' opponent. Jones, who lost to Nichols in the light heavyweight tournament semi-finals early this year, has started drills at the Arcade gymnasium for the contemplated return match. Jones is rated the third contender by the National Boxing association, Maxie Rosenbloom and Charley Belanger being listed ahead of him. Jones held Belanger to a draw at Detroit recently, but it is reported that he won nine of the ten rounds.

Carnera Works in Ring.

Primo Carnera is a slight favorite to beat King Levinsky at the Stadium Friday. His workouts at the Arcade gymnasium today, tomorrow and Wednesday will be devoted to boxing mostly.

Levinsky got back into full training stride over the week-end and is punching his sparring partners around the ring at Trafton's gymnasium. King is concentrating on a body attack with the idea of chopping down the world's largest fighter to his size.

Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, will attend the charity show Wednesday night at the Community Recreation center, 4711 Madison street. Bob Groshek, former Gary, Ind., Golden Gloves middleweight champion, and Joe Mendoza of the south side will meet in the six round main event. Five supporting matches at four rounds each are as follows: Freddy Miller vs. Leo Ranieri, Carl Scalese vs. Al De Rose, Jack Ripp vs. Mickey O'Shea, Jerry Kucera vs. Jimmy Hagner and Billy Gladstone vs. Roosevelt Haines.

Harold Scarney, Youngstown, O., heavyweight, is in town seeking bouts. He beat Frankie Simms at Cleveland three months ago. Scarney has had 50 contests, winning all but 10.

The Central A. A. U. boxing committee yesterday heard the testimony of 39 boxers and trainers who appeared to defend themselves on charges of violating amateur rules. Capt. Roy E. Davis, chairman of the boxing committee, and Lyman Bingham, Jack Nissberg, Johnny Behr, George Donoghue and Edwin Parkes conducted the hearing in collaboration with the Illinois athletic commission, which was represented by Fred Gardner.

Among the 29 boxers who testified were Freddy Caserio, National A. A. U. middleweight champion; Harry Booker and Max Marek, Catholic Youth organization titleholders; Jimmy Christy, Jimmy Eliopoulos and Joey Kleko. The boys will get a ruling on their status Friday.

Bob Stone and Jack Robinson, local heavyweights, will meet in the windup of the show Friday at the Rainbo Fronton. Promoter Grant Kromenaker is attempting to match Buck Everett and Jack Roper to head his card at the Fronton Dec. 16.

Stanley Civick and Johnny Logan, amateur heavyweights, will clash in a feature match Wednesday night at the Rainbo Fronton. A light heavyweight contest will bring together Walter Nelson and Bert O'Donnell. Proceeds will go to the Dorothy Kahn Club for Crippled Children for the maintenance of a solarium.

Early Birds Get Birds on Goose Hunt

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miller City, Ill., Dec. 4.—Right this way, gentlemen, for the parade of the honkers. Illinois' most thrilling autumn spectacle is now going on down here near Cairo, Ill., and the Mississippi river.

The big show opens up at sunrise when sportsmen crawl into the pits in the wheat fields to be ready for the aerial stunts of thousands of Canadian geese, because the noisy, big bodied honkers begin to parade as soon as the first flush of dawn shows in the eastern sky. Then for several hours the sonorous awnk—awnk—awnk of the wild geese can be heard above the boom of 12 gauge guns.

It's a great show while it lasts, and scores of Chicago sportsmen are down here to enjoy it. Although there are thousands of wild ducks also taking part in the morning and evening parades which are staged on the flying routes between Horseshoe lake and the river bars and cornfields, the honker is king. When this great game bird flaps his wings, and sends out his call, the boys dig deeper into their underground pit-blinds and get buck fever at the thought of a flock actually coming within gun range.

Yesterday when Dr. Edward Miller of Cairo drove us close to the edge of a big, green wheatfield near Miller City, where we had a ringside seat reserved for the thrilling honker show, we had a hard time sitting or standing still because two good sized bunches of geese were hovering over the field with the intention of coming down among the decoys. And how they were talking it up! One bunch of 18 or 20 were having a regular debate about which part of the wheatfield looked best for a landing spot.

Weigh 6 to 10 Pounds.

The big birds, weighing from 6 to 10 pounds, with a wing spread of around six feet, hovered, hesitated for a second, moved slowly up the field, awnked some more, and then Bang! out of the blinds popped a couple of long guns as the excited goose hunters opened up. After the excitement was over we hurried into a blind which was close to a pen of live decoys and quickly got ready for the next honker invasion of the wheatfield.

The state reserve in this section, plus thousands of acres of corn and wheatfields, an abundance of food and miles of sandbars, spell home, sweet home to hundreds of flocks of Canadian geese and many thousands of ducks in this section.

Takes Patience to Decoy Birds.

For the hunter the big job is to attract some of the birds from their flight lines into a wheatfield where blinds have been prepared. It takes patience and a good layout to do this, but the sight of 8 or 10 birds sailing into the decoys, the music of their honking and the thrill of bagging these crafty, big birds more than makes up for the hours of waiting within sight of the honker parade.

Mills, Gilbert Renew Riding Duel Today

New Orleans, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—They call him Hank about the track, but his real name is Henry Mills, 18 years old, weight 100 pounds, and he has outridden every jockey in America this season.

But Hank has a challenge to meet tomorrow at Jefferson Park here in the riding of Johnny Gilbert, 17, about the same weight and just a nose behind Mills with plenty of determination. These two leading jockeys are in a neck and neck contest to set a new season's record for riding winners.

Hank showed up here with his mother Mrs. Thomas Mills, who goes with him everywhere he performs, and said he had ridden 182 winners this season. Gilbert is one horse behind him with 181 and both are firing away at the world record which, racing experts say, is 207 winners for a season.

Mills is the son of a jockey. His father once rode the famous Bon Ton, but the elder Mills, because of added flesh, was taken off the track by the time young Mills was born.

The father then was a rancher at Montrose, Colo., and taught Mills to ride a horse at the age of five. When eight years old Hank won his first race at a Colorado fair.

Gilbert Supports Mother.

LEADS WILLIAMS HARRIERS.

PEPPER MARTIN GOES OVER FOR A TOUCHDOWN

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—John [Pepper] Martin, the St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder, hero of the 1931 world series, scored a touchdown after several personal gains today in a professional football game in which the Oklahoma City Chiefs defeated the Manhattan, Kans., All-Stars, 13 to 0.

BRAVES DEFEAT DODGERS, 7 TO 0, ON BLOCKED PUNT

JABLONSKY IS NAMED CAPTAIN OF ARMY ELEVEN

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Harry J. Jablonsky was elected captain of the 1933 Army football team today. On the special train bearing the victorious squad to West Point a meeting of the letter men of the squad was held and Jablonsky was the unanimous choice to lead next year's team.

Jablonsky played right guard this season and was one of the iron men of the squad, seldom needing relief. He is 23 years old, weighs 183 pounds, and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. His home address is Clayton, Mo., a suburb of St. Louis. At high school he won three letters in basketball, football and baseball. He entered Washington university, St. Louis, where he again won letters in three sports.

Jugo-Slavs and Olympias Win Cup Contests

The Jugo-Slavs and the Viennas won their National Soccer cup games yesterday in the second qualifying round. The Jugo-Slavs beat the Olympias, 3 to 2, at American Giants' park and Vienna defeated the Bohemian Odd Fellows, 3 to 2, at Mills stadium.

The Bricklayers whipped the Maccabee All-Stars, 2 to 1, in the only National Professional Soccer league game at Mills stadium. The winner clinched second place in the league race. The score was even at the end of the first period. Shortly after the second quarter opened Huber scored for the All-Stars. Later in the same period Coutts of the Bricklayers tied the score. Greenlees made the winning goal just before the game ended. Coutts and Ramsay of the Bricklayers were removed from the game for unnecessary roughness.

Sparta, professional league champion, and the Chicago Sport club played a tie, 2 to 2. The Swedes and Norwegians cancelled their game because of cold weather. Scores:

NOW! PILES MEET THEIR WATERLOO!

No more pain! No more itching or scratching! No more torture when you sit or walk! No more torture at the stool! The relief of Piles has now been solved. No matter what the form of Piles you suffer from—genuine relief for you lies in Pazo Ointment.

Pazo not only stops the pain and itching and makes defecation easy but it tends to correct the condition of Piles as a whole. This is threefold in effect. It is (1) soothing, (2) healing, (3) absorbing. Thus, it not only allays the inflammation and repairs torn tissue, but actually reduces the swollen blood vessels, which are Piles. The method of application makes Pazo doubly effective (see picture below). Thousands say it saved them the need of a painful operation. Try Pazo yourself and realize from one trial that your days of pile suffering are over. All drug stores sell Pazo in Collapsible Tube with special Pile Pipe, complete for 75c.

Perforated Pile Pipe attached to Collapsible Tube Makes Application Correct and Easy

The PAZO Collapsible Tube and Peforated Pile Pipe makes it very easy to apply the Ointment high up in the rectum where it can reach and thoroughly cover all the affected parts. Complete interior treatment in all cases of Piles is plainly important.

OTTAWA IS TOO TIRED TO PLAY; WINGS WIN, 2-0

Two Games in Two Nights Beats Senators.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Ottawa, playing its second match in successive nights, was defeated, 2 to 0, by the Detroit Red Wings tonight in a National league hockey match before 4,500.

The Senators plainly were exhausted from their game with Toronto last night. They were unable to show speed, and only five penalties were called. Detroit's goals came in the second period, the first by Frank Carson on an assist by Happy Emms and the second by Johnny Sorrell on an assist by Leroy Goldsworthy.

Two other Detroit goals were allowed because of interference. Lineup:

AMERICANS WIN, 4-2.

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The New York Americans shoved Montreal's Canadiens deeper into the Canadian division cellar tonight by winning 4 to 2.

An American goal just eight seconds after the opening whistle took the heart out of the Canadiens Ronnie Martin netted McVeigh's pass on the first play.

Nick Wasnie, loaned to the Americans by the Canadiens for the season, scored the deciding goal in the second period on a unassisted play, after Art Giroux had evened up for Martin's goal and Johnny Gagnon had squared one by McVeigh. George Patterson added the final score in the third period. Lineups:

U. S. MAY MAKE SIXTH PLACE ON SKATING TEAM

Claims by Oneil Farrell and Eddie Murphy, Chicago skating stars, that they deserve places on the American team which will compete in Norway next month, may be given recognition by adding a sixth man to the international team, it was said yesterday. Farrell and Murphy have presented their protest to Frank M. Kalteux, president of the Amateur Skating Union of the United States. They assert that, in view of their records at Lake Placid, N. Y., last year, one of them should have been named in place of Eddie Wedge of Detroit, who recently was given the fifth and last place on the team.

Skating officials hope to settle the controversy by naming a sixth team member after tryout races at the Chicago Stadium Dec. 20, in which Lloyd Guenther and Ray Murphy also will compete. The Western Skating association will be asked tonight to grant a sanction for the races.

Kalteux has asked Norway for permission to bring a six man team to compete in the Norway meet, Jan. 28 and 29, in the international speed races at Oslo early in February and in the world championships at Trondhjen Feb. 18 and 19.

LORENZ MILLS ADD TO CLASSIC LEAGUE LEAD

The Lorenz Knitting Mills increased their lead in the Classic Bowling league last night when they defeated the Green Rivers two out of three while the second place Baby Ruths dropped two games to Edelweiss. The Lorenz team turned in the night's high series, 3,369, with games of 1,045, 1,173, and 1,091. The team was paced by Adolph Carlson, who shot 751. His games were 256, 267, and 228.

N. U. to Open Basketball Season with Bradley Tonight

Northwestern's basketball team opens its season against Bradley Tech of Peoria at Patten gym tonight in a game which will give fans their first glimpse of the new rules in operation. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

High school basketball coaches and officials of the Chicago area will meet at the gymnasium at 5 o'clock to attend a rules interpretation meeting conducted by Coach Dutch Lonborg of the Wildcats. Other speakers will be Nick Kearns and Sam Lifschultz, who are the officials for tonight's game.

Reiff, Johnson Only Veterans.

Only two regulars from last year's five will be in Northwestern's lineup. They are Capt. Joe Reiff, forward, and Elmer Johnson, center.

Reiff has ranked as one of the outstanding forwards in the conference for the last two years. As a sophomore he led the Big Ten scorers and last year was among the leaders. Johnson also has been a regular for two years, alternating at forward and center.

Don Brewer, who will pair with Reiff at forward tonight, won a letter as a sophomore last year. He played in a number of games as a reserve. His speed and accurate shooting are expected to give him the edge over the other candidates for the position.

Guard Places Undecided.

Coach Lonborg probably will try out several players at the guard positions. Among the numerous guard candidates are Culver, Moonshower, Moeller, Medintz and Perry of last year's team and Manske, Kawal and Whalen of the football team.

Bradley will send a veteran lineup against the Wildcats. With the exception of Getz, the Tech quintet is composed of seniors.

| NORTHWESTERN. | | BRADLEY. |
|---|---|---|
| Reiff | L. F. | Gibbs |
| Brewer | R. F. | Getz |
| Johnson | C. | Stephens |
| Culver | L. G. | Mace |
| Moonshower | R. G. | Davis |

RULES TO HELP MAROONS

Changes in basketball rules approved by the Big Ten coaches Saturday will operate in favor of this year's Maroon quintet, Coach Nels Norgren said yesterday. Restrictions on how long the offensive player in the "hole" position may control the ball will tend to speed up the play, which will be a help to the Chicago squad, which lacks a rugged, rangy player who could have taken proper advantage of the position under the old rule.

Lacking weight and height in his material, Norgren is counting on speed to save an otherwise untalented team. The Maroons open their practice schedule against Lake Forest at the University field house next Saturday.

The new rule limiting the activity of the offensive man in the free-throw circle will substantially reduce fouls, Norgren pointed out, since nearly half of all fouls have been called on the man in this position or his guard.

Hawks Whip Rangers, 4-3, Before 13,876

hockey all year than that played in the latter half of the second period when the Hawks made three goals and the Rangers one in less than five minutes.

In 12:50 the Hawks tied the count on a wild scrimmage that got under way as a variant of football's old shoestring play. Thompson tried to hide at the end of the blue line and take a sly pass. The maneuver was solved in a way, but the Hawks got the rubber down in front of the net.

Hawks Tie Score.

Goalie Aitkenhead kicked away closeup shots by Romnes and Abel then fell on the seat of his trunks. Johnson was between the fallen goalie and the Hawk assailants, but he too went down. Then Couture got the puck and lifted it over the two sprawling Rangers. Aitkenhead and Johnson, to say nothing of the arms and sticks of two or three other gents. That made the score one all.

The tie didn't last long. At 15:25 Bun Cook again took a pass from Boucher and gave the Rangers a 2 to 1 advantage when he got the disc between Gardiner's heels. Heller got an assist along with Boucher in this episode. At 17:00 the Hawks again tied the score. Romnes took the rubber over the blue line, then slipped it to Thompson, who came down the ice under a full head of steam. Pausing not an instant, Paul slashed up to shooting position, pulled Aikenhead off balance, and then shot the goal.

Romnes Breaks Tie.

By this time it seemed the customers would be out of yells, but 45 seconds after the tying score, Romnes waded through the Ranger defense, regained his balance and forthwith made a chump out of Aikenhead who offered practically no artistic remonstrance to his skill as Doc slapped home the goal that enabled the Hawks to lead 3 to 2 at the end of the second period.

The Hawks required two minutes and 10 seconds to ring up their No. 4 goal. McFadyen took the puck down but was checked and went down on the ice with Johnson just as he shot. Before Danny and Ching could get to their feet Tommy Cook had recovered the rebound and sailed it home.

At 6:30 the situation again became tense when Somers got down the ice for a shot that whirled over Gardiner's right arm and lit right where Art wanted it to light. That made the count Hawks, 4; Rangers, 3.

Rangers Bench Goalie.

With 3 minutes to play the Rangers benched their goalie and sent out Brennan, a defense man, in his place. Brennan appearing in his regular skating paraphernalia. With a minute and a half to go there was a stackup in front of the Hawk goal in which 11 players participated and which ended with six players down on the ice and the puck under Gardiner's back.

Two Association Teams to Train at Louisville

Columbus, O., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Louisville, Ky., will be the training grounds for two American association baseball clubs next spring. Officials of the St. Paul and Louisville clubs announced tonight they will hold their spring workouts in the Kentucky city. Last year Louisville trained at Mobile, Ala., and St. Paul at Mineral Wells, Tex.

Ten Accept Places on Hanley's Squad for Coast Game

Ten college football players have notified Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern that they will participate in the annual east-west game at San Francisco on Jan. 2. Hanley will name one more player to make the trip to the coast on Dec. 19 along with 11 eastern players picked by Andy Kerr, Colgate coach.

Those who have accepted Hanley's invitation are: Harry Newman, quarter back, Michigan; Pug Rentner, half back, Northwestern; Gil Berry, half back, Illinois; Roy Horstmann, full back, Purdue; Paul Moss, end, Purdue; Dick Fencl, end, Northwestern; Joe Kurth, tackle, Notre Dame; Ed Wells, tackle, Minnesota; Gregory Kabat, guard, Wisconsin; John Oehler, center, Purdue.

Lew Hinchman, Ohio State; Ivan Williamson, Michigan, and Brad Robinson, Minnesota, would have been invited, Hanley said, if they were not members of their university basketball team.

Hanley is awaiting word from Kerr on the makeup of his eastern squad before he picks the eleventh member of his group. Either Mickey McGuire, Wisconsin half back, or Bob Gonya, Northwestern tackle, will be chosen.

NATIONAL SKI GROUP ADOPTS METRIC SCALE

The National Ski association yesterday adopted the metric scale of measurement for their tournaments at a meeting of the board of directors of the association at the Morrison hotel. Most of the ski associations have been using the metric scale unofficially.

Announcement was made that the National Ski tournament for 1933 would be held Jan. 28 at Salisbury, Conn.

H. M. HARPER WINS GLEN VIEW SHOOT WITH 95 TOTAL

Near freezing weather plus a stiff west wind failed to dampen the spirits of the Glen View club members yesterday in the opening shoot of the club season. H. M. Harper with a 90-5, for a total of 95, won first honors and the Fred McNally trophy. He barely nosed out Glen Smith.

In the protection shoot Thompson Ross and J. O. Stoll won from H. M. Harper and J. H. Blakney by one bird when Blakney missed his last shot.

| | Birds Broken. | Handicap. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| H. M. Harper | 90 | 5 | 95 |
| Glen Smith | 74 | 20 | 94 |
| F. H. Gillespie | 70 | 23 | 93 |
| J. H. Blakney | 86 | 7 | 93 |
| J. A. Bishop | 78 | 14 | 92 |
| A. McNally | 76 | 16 | 92 |
| P. C. Miller | 68 | 24 | 92 |
| C. J. Swan | 66 | 26 | 92 |
| F. L. McNally | 82 | 9 | 91 |
| H. H. Howe | 62 | 29 | 91 |
| J. O. Stoll | 82 | 9 | 91 |

Cardinals Beat Gunners "A" at St. Louis, 20-7

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Chicago Cardinals smashed their way to a 20 to 7 victory over the St. Louis Battery A Gunners in a professional football game today.

The Cardinals made two touchdowns in the first quarter. Kassel, right end, made the first one on a 10 yard run after receiving a pass frrom Holmer.

The Gunners made their only touchdown in the last period, when Swede Johnson plunged over the line. Lefervre made the extra point with a drop kick.

The Cardinals made twelve first downs and the Gunners nine, and gained 130 yards to 90 for the St. Louis team. The Gunners' aerial attack netted 121 yards, while the Cardinals made only 51 yards.

start of the second half and drove to the Bears' 30 yard line before a fourth down forward pass, with 2 yards needed, failed of completion. After the Bears kicked off, Clancy carried the ball five consecutive times, but New York again was halted on the Bears' 27 yard line when forward passes failed.

Nagurski Intercepts Pass.

Bronko Nagurski stopped the third advance of the Giants when he intercepted a pass on the Bears' 20 yard line.

Clancy's 23 yard run, his last play, once more put intense pressure on the Bears as the fourth period started. Shortly afterward Molesworth increased the Bears' problems when h. fumbled a kick. Bill Owen and Jim Bowdoin crashed into Molesworth as he caught the ball and he fumbled. Red Flaherty recovered for the Giants on the Bears' 36 yard line.

McBride's passes to Dale Moran and Morris Badgro reached the Bears' 11 yard line in four plays, but on second down Hewitt knocked down a lateral pass and Nagurski fell on the ball. Passes from midfield once more brought the Giants to the 11 yard strip, but this time Nagurski intercepted a throw by Moran.

Giants Dangerous to Last.

With a minute to play, it seemed that the Bears would escape further trouble. The Bears stalled for time. But the Giants knocked the ball out of Nagurski's hands on a line plunge and obtained a last scoring opportunity at the Bears' 12 yard line. The second New York forward pass, however, landed in the end zone and the Bears recovered the ball, never to relinquish possession.

The Bears will resume practice Wednesday in preparation for Green Bay. The Packers and the Bears now are tied for second place. Victory next Sunday, however, will give the Bears a tie for the title. Yesterday's victory was the fifth for the Bears.

Economy Plan Shock to A. A. Club Owners

Columbus, O., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The chiefs of minor league baseball today were preparing themselves for a week that may see several revolutionary changes in the way the game is conducted in the smaller circuits.

Recommendations designed to lessen the financial burden of practically every club were ready for presentation as the thirty-first annual meeting of the Association of Professional Baseball leagues opened. They are expected to cause long hours of argument among the leagues which have many different ideas on how to ease the situation.

Association Reelects Hickey.

The fireworks opened today with meetings of the American association and the Western league. The former followed the custom it inaugurated in 1916 and reelected Thomas Jefferson Hickey of Chicago president for his seventeenth term.

The association club owners then received from their executive committee a series of recommendations which were kept secret except for the announcement that they "were revolutionary to baseball." Members of the committee, in addition to Hickey, are, L. S. McPhail of Columbus, Norman Perry of Indianapolis, and Louis Nahin of Milwaukee.

Discuss Club Finances.

After a six hour session behind locked doors the association magnates said they had "recovered from the shock of the recommendations," and had "decided to sleep on them for a couple of days."

They spent most of their time, however, in discussing the financial situation of the Kansas City and Toledo clubs. The Toledo franchise was given up a few days ago by the Cleveland Indians.

President Dale Gear of the Western league called his club owners into session late in the afternoon.

A concerted move is on foot to swing the Denver and Pueblo franchises of that league to more eastern cities. Club owners pointed out that long trips to the Colorado towns add heavily to the league's annual travel expense total.

"Try to Do It," Says Denver.

Milt Anfenger, president of the Denver club, is determined, however, to stay in his present location. He came to the meeting armed with the proxy of the Pueblo club. Anfenger argued that he has "no collapsible grandstand or folding real estate" that he can move eastward, and issued the ultimatum: "Either buy me out or leave the franchise alone."

To add to the turmoil in the Western league, Tulsa and Oklahoma City owners threaten to withdraw from the circuit and make application to enter the Texas league unless the franchises of the two Colorado teams are moved.

Talk Salary Limit Today.

Tomorrow the most brilliant of the fireworks are expected to explode when the salary limit is taken up by the Class AA leagues—the International, the American association, and the Pacific Coast. The American association already has adopted a salary limit, and the International is willing to follow suit, but the coast circuit is on record as unalterably opposed.

W. H. Klepper, owner of the Seattle club, said the Pacific circuit would not adopt a salary limit, regardless of what action other leagues took. "There is nothing we can find in the constitution of the national association that says a majority vote rules," he said, "and we intend to stand firm on our decision made last month at San Francisco."

The national board of arbitration will also hold its first session tomorrow morning, along with the meeting of various other leagues.

Seven More Prep Basketball Teams Enter Stagg Meet

Acceptances from seven more prep basketball teams, received during the week by Nels Norgren, who is directing the University of Chicago's third annual Christmas week interscholastic, brings the entry list to 28, leaving only four vacancies in the bracket of 32. Four outstanding invitations probably will be accepted this week, Norgren said yesterday.

The new entrants are Morton, tourney champion last year; Maine Township, Riverside-Brookfield, Elgin, Hyde Park, Lake View, and Schurz. The list to date includes a larger proportion of city league teams than last year, when 15 city, 10 suburban, and seven downstate teams comprised the bracket.

Previous entrants for this year's event were Austin, Bowen, Calumet, Crane, Englewood, Lane, Lindblom, Marshall, New Trier, Parker, Proviso, St. Charles, Senn, Thornton, Tilden, Tuley, Fenger, McKinley, Waller, Roosevelt, and Downers Grove.

Lindblom won the first of the holiday meets two years ago, defeating Bowen, 16 to 6. Last year the rugged Morton squad, led by Kopecky, nosed out Marshall, 18 to 16, in the final, Crane taking third place and Hyde Park fourth. The tournament is the 15th of the prep basketball events sponsored by Coach Stagg, and is a local continuation of the national tournaments which the university was asked to abandon in 1929.

This year's meet will get under way Monday, Dec. 26, at 1 p. m., in the University field house. Undue strain on the teams is avoided by spacing the rounds at intervals of at least 24 hours. Eight games of the first round will be played Monday on the hours of 1 p. m., 2 p. m., 3 p. m., 4 p. m., 5 p. m., 7 p. m., 8 p. m., and 9 p. m. The finals will be played Saturday night, Dec. 31. The games will be played in four quarters of 8 minutes each. Each school will be given $20 per game for expenses.

Tilden Tech Meets Bowen Five Today

Prep Games Today

Bowen at Tilden, 3:30 p. m.
Lane Tech at Tuley, 3:30 p. m. [Heavies.]
McKinley at Lake View, 4 p. m. [Heavies.]
Englewood at St. Phillip, 7:30 p. m.

TOMORROW.

McKinley at Calumet, 3:30 p. m.
Bowen at Waller, 4 p. m.
Fenger at Phillips, 4 p. m.
Lane Tech at De Paul, 4 p. m.
Roosevelt at Evanston, 3:30 p. m.
Maine at Oak Park, 3:30 p. m.
Proviso at Riverside, 7:30 p. m.
Batavia at Dundee, 7:30 p. m.
Lockport vs. Alumni, 7:30 p. m.

Tilden Tech's heavyweight basketball team will seek its second victory of the season today when it meets Bowen High school at Tilden. It will be Bowen's first practice game. Tilden defeated Morgan Park, 37 to 29, last Thursday.

Capt. Harold Swee, Tuley's star forward, has been declared ineligible and will be unable to play today when the Tuley heavies meet Lane Tech. Another member of the Tuley heavyweight squad, Leaty Phillips, will be missing. He withdrew from school last week.

De La Salle will start its season Wednesday night, meeting St. Patrick, National Catholic High school tournament winners. There will be two games, the first starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Play will be resumed in the Junior High Basketball league tomorrow with Manley meeting Phillips.

Ralph Levy, forward, and John Moenck, Ed Urban, and Les Waldman, guards, veterans on Austin's heavyweight team, will be among the February graduates.

35 NOTRE DAME MEN REST FOR TRIP TO COAST

Squad Leaves Today, Cripples and All.

Notre Dame, Ind., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's football squad of 35 players rested today preparatory to its Pacific coast trip in which it will face what Coach Hunk Anderson has characterized as the "impossible task" of throttling Southern California, Pacific coast champion.

The squad will leave early tomorrow morning and entrain at the La Salle street station in Chicago at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Robinson Makes Trip.

The only cripple not making the trip is Sturla Canale, left end from Memphis, who has been practicing all week with a broken bone in his left leg. He kept the injury a secret in hopes that he could participate at Los Angeles next Saturday. Coach Anderson learned of the injury today and named Dick Davis of Puchatoula, La., to replace Canale. Davis is a reserve right end.

Jack Robinson, varsity center, who was released from the infirmary yesterday after a four day confinement with influenza, will make the trip, although he may not be able to play. Steve Banas, full back who starred in the Army game and was carried from the practice field Tuesday, also will make the trip, but it is doubtful whether he will be fit to play.

Calls Off Drill.

Joe Kurth, another flu victim last week, will be in shape to play, although his two nights in the infirmary left him 10 pounds under weight. He is down to 194 pounds.

Coach Anderson ordered a blackboard lecture this noon, but dismissed the squad for the afternoon rather than risk more flu in the driving snow and wintry wind that swept the practice field.

FIFTH MATCH IS SIGNED FOR MAT CARD AT FRONTON

With the signing of Stanislaus Lurik to meet Jack Shearin of Little Rock, Promoter Doc Krone has completed the five match wrestling card to be staged a week from tonight at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue.

Joe Savoldi will meet Jim Clinkstock, Indian giant, in the main event, one fall to a finish. Another Indian, Sun Jennings, meets Dorna Ostapavich, 235 pounder of Kansas City.

LEHIGH VALLEY UNABLE TO MEET BOND MATURITY

Offers Plan to Holders of Securities.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—Announcing its inability to pay at maturity on Jan. 1, 1933, its $8,684,000 of first mortgage 4 and 5 per cent bonds, the Lehigh Valley Coal company, and the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, guarantor of the bonds, in a joint statement issued today, asks holders of the bonds to accept a plan which provides for payment of 50 per cent in cash and 50 per cent in five year 6 per cent notes secured by the railroad company.

The statement, signed by J. M. Humphrey, president of the coal company, and E. E. Loomis, president of the railroad, points out that sufficient cash for the payment of the bonds in full cannot be provided in the usual manner at this time by the sale of securities or otherwise.

R. F. C. Loan Approved.

In line with the plan, it is stated, the Reconstruction Finance corporation has authorized a loan of two million dollars to the railroad company, which, together with first mortgage sinking fund cash and securities, equivalent to approximately $2,275,000, enables the coal company to offer payment of 50 per cent in cash to bondholders.

"It is possible for the coal company and the railroad company to offer this plan only on the assumption that sufficient bonds will be deposited to make available the two million dollar loan authorized by the Reconstruction Finance corporation," the companies state.

To Guarantee Notes.

"The loan has been approved by the interstate commerce commission, to which the railroad company has made further application for authority to guarantee the notes. The United States District court for the southern district of New York had modified its decree of segregation entered in 1923 in the case of the United States vs. Lehigh Valley Railroad company so as to permit the plan to be carried out."

The offer will remain open until the close of business Dec. 24. Interest due Jan. 1, 1933, will be paid to each depositing bondholder at the time of deposit. Application will be made to list the certificates of deposit on the New York Stock exchange.

Canadian Shipments of Iron Ore to Germany Fall Off

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., Dec. 4.—The last cargo of iron ore from Belle Island left for Germany yesterday, bringing the total for the year to 130,000 tons, against 1,500,000 in 1929. The reported opening of low grade iron ore mines in England is felt here as an offset to one advantage expected from the Ottawa Imperial conference—namely: sale of ore for English blast furnaces.

A Blind Man's Troubles.

TO THE EDITOR: I invested all I have in a home, representing $8,000, eight years ago. I had the misfortune to lose my eyesight. My wife passed away six years ago. I have tried to hold on to this property and was forced to place a second mortgage of $2,200 on it several years ago, payable $45 plus interest, monthly. This loan came due in April, 1931. The balance was $1,232.

The holder promised to renew it for me in February, but ten days before the due date, he said he could not renew this loan. I tried frantically to find some one to take it over but failed. I did, however, agree to let him collect the rent until the second mortgage was paid off, and the vice president of the bank drew up the contract, informing me that when the second mortgage was paid up he would see to my getting my first mortgage of $7,000 renewed. The first mortgage was due in January, 1932.

I had the property rented but the second mortgage holder informed the tenants he owned the property and the tenants moved out and the place has been vacant ever since. The house needs repairs but the mortgage holders refuse to fix the place up; otherwise I could have rented the house a number of times. This is the situation today.

The first mortgage was due in January, 1932, and interest has not been paid since that date. The second mortgage man offered me $300 for my equity and I said, "Will you accept that amount for your mortgage?" He replied, "No."

The bank informed me they were handling the first mortgage for an estate and offered me $500 for my equity, and I accepted. This was in the latter part of July, 1932. I signed the agreement and all the papers but have heard nothing further from the bank. Can they stall me off and later refuse to pay?

The lawyers for the bank are ——— & ———. About a month ago I called on them and they said the matter would be settled in a few days. I am in poor health and need this money. Can you help me?

J. S.

ANSWER: The attorneys referred to in your letter of Nov. 10th reply as follows: "This property was subject to three mortgages which have now been released and the Chicago Title and Trust company is ready to issue a policy showing good title vested in the grantee. Upon this being done Mr. S. will receive the payment due him. Mr. S. has been in possession of the property up to this time."

The unfortunate delay in this case appears to be settled and you in all probability will receive the money within the next ten days.

NEW FARM AID PLANS UPSET GRAIN TRADERS

Some Predict They Will Lower Prices.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Congress meets today and reports from Washington indicate that the farm allotment bill formulated by President Elect Roosevelt and Democratic leaders, is to be introduced shortly. Sections of the bill that have been made public have thrown the wheat and milling trade of the country and the world over into spasms. The meager information given out makes the trade uncertain as to how to consider it and many of the trade leaders withhold criticism or opinions until the full bill is announced and action by congress taken.

As near as it can be made out it will help the holders of over 300,000,000 bushels of old wheat that is now in the hands of elevator interests, millers and farmers, and may probably increase the price of old wheat materially, while it is believed by some it will depress the new 1932 crop.

Might Boost Wheat.

To consider the allotment plan and relative bearing it might have on value of old crop cash and futures of wheat and the new crop July futures and cash, it should be given careful study. Should congress pass the allotment plan, and the President approve it, and were its effectiveness applied to the next crop maturing, there evidently would be a very strong situation develop in old wheat and futures. Scattered reports from Washington, however, say that, should it pass, President Hoover might veto it.

"Taking the present relation, May wheat at 47¾c and July future at 48c as a starting point, and considering that the allotment plan legislation is effective," said one of the largest Chicago cash wheat handlers, "would it not be the natural thing for every flour seller in the country, every baker, flour distributor, grain merchant, large and small, the country elevator dealer, to immediately buy up all the old cash wheat to be obtained, and in the meantime the flour miller and the grain merchant in the terminals would, no doubt, buy heavily in the May future and sell July against it. Old crop wheat, therefore, and the futures would advance rapidly to somewhere near a competitive basis at which new crop wheat futures were selling, plus the 42c per bushel excise tax.

Would Injure New Crop.

This, in operation, would undoubtedly enhance the value of old crop and futures, and in so far as new crop and futures are concerned, they would both decline. The reason is that the miller would base his buying price on new crop wheat from the producer or distributor, and add to it the excise tax, to bring his new crop purchases down to a level that would be competitive with the price of old crop wheat. Therefore, for the first year's operation, under such a plan, it is quite likely that both the new crop futures and cash prices would be driven to a very low point."

One trader, in explaining the working of the plan, said that if it were adopted, it might easily result in a big advance in flour prices, which the consumer would have to pay.

"Pooling operations in wheat have not been successful as a whole in the last few years," said John I. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian wheat pool. "In 1930 and part of 1931 Canadian farmers were helped, to a moderate extent, but there never has been a time in the last two years when there was a demand for wheat in sufficient volume at a price which would repay the banks the amount of their loans. That being true, it follows that it has at all times been impossible to realize the equity of the farmers who put their wheat in the 1930 pool."

Expect Narrow Range.

Wheat traders who have given a great deal of thought to the world situation, particularly in the United States, express the belief that there will be no money in selling short at present prices, and possibly only moderate gains from purchases. The fact stands out strongly that the purchasing power of old time speculators is not in evidence. This is indicated by the sharp break on Friday, following a bulge on the previous day.

Closing trades on wheat Saturday were ⅛c higher to ⅝c lower, July and May wheat being only ¼c apart, against about 1¼c a week ago, while December and May were 5c apart. December closed Saturday at 43⅜@43½c; May, 47⅜@47⅞c, and July, 47⅞@48c. Prices for the week follow:

| | December. | May. | July. |
| Monday | 42¼@43¼ | 46¾@47¾ | 47¾@48¼ |
| Tuesday | 41⅝@42½ | 46¾@47½ | 47⅝@47⅞ |
| Wed'day | 41⅛@42⅜ | 46½@47⅜ | 47½@48⅝ |
| Thursday | 42⅛@45⅞ | 47 @49¼ | 48 @50¼ |
| Friday | 43½@44¾ | 47⅝@48⅜ | 48 @48⅞ |
| Saturday | 43 @44¼ | 47½@48⅜ | 47⅝@48⅝ |
| For wk | 41⅝@43 | 46¼@49¼ | 47¼@50¼ |
| Prev. wk. | 41⅝@44¼ | 46¾@49½ | 47⅝@50⅜ |
| Last year | 52⅝@56¼ | 56 @59⅝ | 55 @59¼ |
| Season | 41¼@66¼ | 46⅝@64¼ | 47¼@67¼ |
| 1931 | 44⅝@69 | 48¾@72½ | 49 @73¼ |

Corn Lowest in Years.

Liquidation by holders of corn futures, combined with the break in wheat, depressed prices for corn futures to around the lowest of the season, with December down to 21⅜c at the extreme and May 5c over that figure. The close was at net losses of 1¾@1⅝c, with December 22⅞c, May 27⅝@27¾c, July 29¼@29⅜c. Cash corn was 2¼@2⅜c under May. Heavy shipments were made to eastern lake ports, as the season for such movement is about over. Farmers are not selling freely and American corn prices are above an export basis, although 300,000 bu were sold abroad during the week by eastern holders.

Oat prices have declined to all time low levels, so far as known, December selling at 13⅞c, May at 16⅞c, and July at 17⅝c. The close was at practically the low level, with net losses of ⅞@1⅛c for the week. Liquidation was heavy, the sales of futures being absorbed by shorts and industrial interests.

Eye Aviation with Respect, Roads Told

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—The railroads would do well to regard aviation with more respect, according to a report by Milton W. Harrison, president of the Security Owners' association. He asserted that it is "entirely possible" for airplanes to carry passengers profitably without government subsidy and that, "while it is probable many air lines always will be dependent upon the mails for profit, the trend toward profitable passenger service is definite.

The report pointed to unreliability of schedules as an important obstacle to air travel. "However, regardless of subsidy," it said, "a passenger line between New York and Washington shows an operating profit and is an example of what can be accomplished by intelligent schedules when traffic conditions are favorable.

Loss to Roads.

"Assuming that Pullman travel averages 5.6 cents a mile, and conceding the present rate of increase in air travel for the next five years, the railroad and Pullman loss of revenue will be about $23,400,000.

"In 1931 the railroads carried 35,225,000 ton miles of first class mail and received $24,369,946, or 28.6 cents per ton mile. The airways carried the equivalent of 3,207,549 ton-miles and received $17,593,418, an average of $5.33 per ton mile, or 16.6 times as much as the cost by rail.

"Air mail and package freight carried by the airways represents nearly 100 per cent diversion from the rails. Eventually the airways may carry a large proportion of first class mail, though in package transport at present rates their competition will be limited chiefly to distance greater than 500 miles.

Inroads on Railways.

"Well operated routes and with fare equal to or lower than railway rates undoubtedly will make marked inroads upon long haul railroad and highway traffic. Distances by air are invariably shorter than by rail.

"There is a growing tendency of airlines to increase the number of employés out of proportion to the increased mileage.

"The flight duty of a first flight pilot is about one hour and thirty-seven minutes in domestic service. One hour and thirty minutes in foreign operations. Bringing this service to comparison with railroad employés, pilots were paid in 1931 an average of $430 a month to $301 for locomotive engineers; aircraft mechanics average $165 to $142 for rail mechanics. The average service of a pilot was one hour and eighteen minutes a day, engineers four hours and twenty-two minutes. So far there are no general wage agreements between air transport operators and their employés."

U. S. RETIREMENT FROM SHIPPING BUSINESS SEEN

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The government's early retirement from the field of ship operations was forecast today in the annual report of the United States shipping board.

Of the 2,546 vessels previously owned by the board all but 96 have been sold, scrapped, laid up or otherwise disposed of. Those still in active service will be sold to private American interests for continued operations. Those laid up, totaling 240 at the end of the fiscal year last June 30, will be sold for scrap.

Owing to the board's efforts to get the government out of the shipping business, nearly 80 per cent of the ships constituting the American merchant marine now are owned by private American shipping companies, the report showed. It was estimated that American flag lines touching all foreign ports carry 34 per cent of the country's exports and imports, as contrasted with 10 per cent when the shipping board was established. Ocean freight and passenger revenues average $300,000,000 a year.

NEW PASSENGER SERVICE TO EAST IS ANNOUNCED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—A new passenger service from Portland, Ore., to the orient, was announced yesterday by Kenneth D. Dawson, vice president and general manager of the States Steamship company, on the west coast. The new service, which begins on Dec. 28, will be maintained for the present by three chartered liners obtained from the United Fruit company.

The new line will be the first one class service on the Pacific making calls at oriental ports, Mr. Dawson said. These ports are Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila, and the return trips will be by the same route to Yokohama and across the Pacific to San Francisco and Portland.

The first sailing will be that of the Gen. Pershing, followed in three weeks by the Gen. Grant, and in another three weeks by the Gen. Lee.

More Than 5,000 Retail Store Buyers Visit Mart

More than 5,000 retail store buyers and merchants from all mid-western states visited Chicago last week for the annual pre-inventory sale in which all wholesale firms in the Merchandise Mart are participating, according to officials of the Mart. Registration of buyers was double that of recent weeks. On Tuesday, a regular buying day, more than 1,500 buyers shopped in the building. Each day has brought an increase over the previous day's buying.

Heads of large firms in the building said that their inventories were being lowered to the place where it would be necessary to return many workers to the factories to fill shelves for the beginning of the year.

WARNS AGAINST BIG LOANS ON BOND ISSUES

Dayton Keith Urges Caution.

BY AL CHASE.

In a warning against loading up default properties with unnecessary interest obligations through huge loans negotiated primarily to make large cash distributions to bondholders, Dayton Keith yesterday declared that foreclosed properties should at the earliest possible moment be placed on a sound basis in order to produce as large an income as possible for the owners of bonds.

Adequate protection for the bondholders' investments requires only the safeguarding of the security back of the bond issue and arrangements to secure the earnings of the property for the bondholders, he pointed out.

"This is the theory on which the bondholders' committees are working now, and a radically different one from that which they pursued in their early gropings," said Mr. Keith, who is a member of the bondholders' protective committee for defaulted American Bond and Mortgage company issues and who supervises the management of a large group of properties in Chicago and the east.

All the Traffic Would Bear.

"The big idea when most of the committees began to function," he said, "was to obtain the largest loan possible as soon as the property was brought ashore. This loan covered not only reorganization expenses but provided for as large a cash distribution to the bondholders as the traffic would bear.

"At that time, however, none could conceive the depths to which the renting market was to plunge, and none suspected that the heavier fixed charges required by the big loans might not be readily covered by the income.

"Under the strain of reduced rentals and increased vacancies it has now become apparent that this load of interest requirements not only acts to curtail income possibilities but also makes the task of preserving the remainder of the bondholders' interest in the property more difficult.

Loans Hard to Get.

"Further, it has become almost impossible in the present mortgage money famine to obtain a loan of a size even sufficient to meet the actual immediate needs of reorganization.

"There's still another phase of the situation to be considered. In most cases the bonds, if they weren't in default, wouldn't be due at this time. Thus, other considerations aside, all that would strictly be due the bondholders at this time would be the interest on their investment.

"Hence, when the bondholders' committee acquires the property pledged as security in the original bond issue and places it on a basis that permits resumption of the payment of the equivalent of interest at the earliest possible date, it has, strictly speaking, performed its duty."

LAWYERS TO SEEK INSULL UTILITY ASSETS IN EAST

Lewis F. Jacobson and Harold F. White, attorneys for petitioning creditors of Insull Utility Investment, Inc., and other bankrupt Insull companies, will leave for New York today to start action looking toward the recovery of $20,000,000 of securities of the companies held by five New York banks as collateral for loans.

The lawyers are acting under authorization given by Judge Walter C. Lindley in the United States District court here on Friday. Judge Lindley gave the attorneys permission to examine New York bank officials on the question.

It is the contention of the creditors that the securities were deposited as collateral within the four month preferred period prior to the bankruptcy action, and therefore are being held illegally.

URGES GASOLINE INDUSTRY TO GO ON PROFIT BASIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—Urging that those companies that have not met the recent price advances in crude oil posted by most of the producing companies take steps to bring themselves into agreement with the industry the T. S. Hose weekly review warns of the consequences of a collapse of the price structure.

"Let those companies which have not met the increase advance the price of gasoline to where a fair profit can be made, then if the state taxes are so high as to be burdensome on those who operate trucks or drive automobiles let the citizens take action through the legislatures," the review continues. "Do not let us depiete our natural wealth to conduct competitive sales campaigns."

New Aviation Corp. Board Expected to Meet Soon

New York, Dec. 4.—A meeting of the newly elected board of Aviation Corporation of Delaware is expected to be held early this week. Carrying out the compromise reached by the Cord-Cohu groups, the board was reduced from thirty-five to sixteen members last week.

GENERAL MOTORS THIRD QUARTER SALES $74,575,864

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—Net sales of the General Motors corporation in the third quarter of this year amounted to $74,575,864, compared with $168,494,820 in the corresponding quarter of last year, according to the pamphlet report of the corporation covering operations for the three months ended on Sept. 30. For the first nine months of this year net sales totaled $371,374,398, against $692,688,152 in the same period of 1931.

As revealed in its preliminary statement the corporation in the third quarter had a consolidated net loss of $4,464,229, in contrast with a net income of $13,333,214 in the same quarter last year, which was equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to 25 cents a share on the common stock then outstanding.

In the first nine months of this year the company had a net income of $10,555,175, equivalent after preferred dividend requirements to 8 cents a share on the common stock. For the first nine months of 1931 it reported a net income of $97,455,390, or $2.08 a common share.

The consolidated balance sheet of the corporation as of Sept. 30 shows cash, United States government and other marketable securities totaling $209,093,832. Compared with $205,029,119 on Dec. 31, 1931, and $264,107,166 on Sept. 30, 1931. Current assets were $290,907,152, against $358,502,579 on Dec. 31 last, while total current liabilities were $50,495,513, against $84,586,656, leaving net working capital of $240,411,639 on Sept. 30, as compared with $273,915,923 on Dec. 31, 1931.

DAVIS-KELLY COAL MEASURE TO BE PUSHED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—An intensive drive to obtain passage for the Davis-Kelly coal stabilization bill, which would give mine labor the right to deal collectively with employers, will be started by its sponsors within a few days.

Representative Clyde Kelly of Pittsburgh, who fostered the bill in the house, said he planned to ask for immediate action by the interstate and foreign commerce committee on the amended measure he introduced shortly before congress adjourned last July.

Senator James J. Davis plans to ask the senate mining committee to report the original bill with the same revisions which Kelly's new measure contains. Both Davis and Kelly will have the support of the United Mine Workers of America. The original bill was shelved in the senate mines committee after hearings that dragged through most of the spring and early summer.

Coal operators protested that passage of the bill would mean government control of an industry which, given opportunity, could control itself.

SWEDISH MATCH FIRST KREUGER FIRM REVAMPED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—The Swedish Match company is the first of the numerous interests of the late Ivar Kreuger to have completed its reorganization after three and a half months of effort by representatives of security holders and creditors in several countries with the collaboration of Swedish authorities. The moratorium under which it was placed after Kreuger's suicide has been lifted and operations have been resumed on a normal basis.

Final settlement of the Swedish Match problem was achieved on Tuesday when the moratorium was lifted and the reorganization was put into effect. The consummation of the plan was the outcome of negotiations begun in Stockholm on Aug. 15.

SHARP IMPROVEMENT IN HOLIDAY BUYING IS REPORTED FOR CITY

Marked improvement in holiday buying at retail, with a normal turnover of winter goods despite the continued warmer weather, and a report of a pickup in the net operating income of the class 1 railroads for the last month were encouraging developments of the last week in Chicago, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce. On the other side of the picture, there was a new slump in orders placed with the steel manufacturers, and a new all-time low for building figures for the last month was reported.

Chicago trade in general was stimulated by the visitors to the International Live Stock exposition. Jewelry and toys and holiday goods continued to lead in the volume of sales. Wholesalers held pre-inventory sales with satisfactory results, and the volume of tonnage distributed exceeded expectations, being from 12 to 20 per cent in excess of the same time last year. Coincident with this improvement, one large local department store has just added 3,000 extra employés to take care of the special sales during the coming week. Another large department store has taken advantage of existing low prices and has spent more than $100,000 for the installation of a floor of beauty shops. More than 100 men were employed in this work.

Some improvement was noted in the printing industry, a seasonal pickup due to catalog business. This is said on the whole to exceed business a year ago.

In the steel industry, large consumers continued to withhold placement of greatly increased tonnages. Automobile interests are not placing orders for steel as large as was expected a few months ago, while implement makers are buying a moderate tonnage and other lines are working on a hand-to-mouth basis. Operating capacity in the Chicago mills has been lowered to about 14 per cent, the lowest for the season.

RAYON BUSINESS HOLDS ITS GAINS IN NOVEMBER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—November witnessed a continuation of the high rate of rayon shipments, which began in mid-August, and the outlook for the industry is promising for the early part of 1933, according to the Textile Organon, published by the Tubize Chatillon corporation. The rate of production last month continued at 100 per cent, with the likelihood that December rates will be reduced little, as present stocks are low.

Higher cotton prices early next year are anticipated by the publication. While December will show a seasonal decline in consumption of the fiber, January consumption is expected to increase. Deficiency of the American wool supply expected for late next spring will strengthen domestic prices and bring them up to the imported wool level, according to the Organon.

PRUDENTIAL LIFE CUTS DIVIDENDS ON ITS POLICIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—Field men of the Prudential Insurance Company of America have received a letter from Edward D. Duffield, president, telling of decreased dividend rate on ordinary life policies for 1933. The reduction amounts on an average to slightly more than $1 for each $1,000.

Stressing the fact that absolute security for policyholders is of the utmost importance, Mr. Duffield points, in his letter, to the fact that the combination of economic conditions and increased taxes, together with high death and disability payments, have reduced the company's income to a certain extent.

MACHADO CALLS AIDS TO DISCUSS FINANCIAL CRISIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 4. — Worried over the sharp decline in revenue during the last two months, President Gerardo Machado tonight called a cabinet meeting for Wednesday to discuss the country's acute financial and economic situation. It is feared the treasury may be unable to pay the Dec. 31 service on foreign obligations totalling $20,000,000, mainly due Chase National bank, New York, for public works financing, and the Morgan and Speyer loans.

Octavio Averhoff, secretary of the treasury, today stated the total money in Cuba is $66,907,540. This includes $36,979,309 in circulation, compared to 100 millions in 1926; $28,114,660 in bank deposits and $1,813,570 in treasury deposits. This figures $16.75 per person for the total money and $9.33 per capita for the money circulating.

Of the money total $41,389,680 is Cuban gold and silver and $35,017,860 American. Money in circulation is $25,936,638 Cuban and $11,042,670 American.

Japan Seeks Ways to Peg Sinking Yen

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—Confronted during the last week by a fall in the yen to a record low of 20 cents, barely 40 per cent of parity, in the face of a favorable turn in Japan's international trade balance, Japanese government and banking officials were reported to be actively studying the possibilities of controlling the exchange.

Although a considerable body of financial opinion holds the view that Japan's financial problems are virtually insoluble and that the currency of that country is headed for a depreciation rivaling the post-war debacle of the mark, leading Japanese bankers and financiers here who are in closest touch with Japanese affairs believe that the recent weakness of the yen was provoked principally by the fall in sterling. They point out that the yen declined whenever sterling did and rallied when the pound recovered, and that its range for the last month, measured in percentage of change, corresponded exactly with the changes in sterling.

Japanese Troubles Exaggerated.

From the strictly financial standpoint Japan's position, it is claimed, is not nearly so bad as the course of the yen would seem to indicate. But at the present time Japan's political difficulties have created an unfavorable attitude toward that nation's exchange, while the fact that the yen has been adrift from the gold standard for nearly a year makes it a ready prey to destructive movements in the foreign exchange market.

In spite of a widespread impression to the contrary, there has thus far been no deliberate move toward inflation by Japan. The latest available statement of the Bank of Japan shows note circulation of 1,026,000,000 yen, against 1,000,000,000 yen on Dec. 12, last, two days before the gold standard was suspended. The latest statement shows government deposits of 293,000,000 yen, against 324,000,000 last December. Gold holdings, which in the last statement before gold was abandoned amounted to 521,000,000 yen, are now down to 429,000,000 yen, which is the figure to which they were reduced this year by the payment of commitments in the foreign exchange market made in the effort to defend the yen.

Gold Equals Note Circulation.

As a result of the subsequent fall in the dollar value of the yen the gold holdings of the Bank of Japan are currently equal to more than 100 per cent of the value of its note circulation. In dollars the gold reserve amounts to $214,500,000, while the note circulation has a value of only $205,200,000. It indicates, in the view of some observers, that if the yen were to be stabilized at anything like present levels it would have an extraordinarily high gold backing.

As for Japan's foreign debt an interesting development has taken place. Of the total of about 2,000,000,000 yen outstanding about 50 per cent, it is estimated, is now held by Japanese citizens who purchased the securities just before and since the abandonment of gold. By a law passed last July the minister of finance is authorized in an emergency to buy these securities in yen. If this provision is put in force, and there are reports from Japan this week that it might soon be, the Japanese government will be relieved of the service on one-half of its foreign debt.

In any case, nearly the entire amount of Japan's foreign debt is long term, falling due after 1950, the most important exception in the case of government loans being an issue of £6,000,000 which matures in 1936.

Banks Prepare for Gold Coin Christmas Gifts

Banks are preparing for the usual December demand for gold coin for Christmas gifts. This holiday call usually raises the amount of gold coin in circulation by $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, but most of it quickly finds its way back to the banks.

WALL ST. LOOKS TO WASHINGTON FOR TRADE CUE

Hold Hopes for Aid from Congress.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—Troubles thicken for the harried stock market.

With the war debt controversy hanging over it like the proverbial sword of Damocles, silver, wheat, and other commodities plaguing it with one new price low after another and that long awaited business revival, upon which it had staked so much hope still stuck around the corner, the speculative community now feels called upon to do some fresh fretting on the score of congress.

Fashion seems to dictate the use of smoked glasses by those following the market just now, and since it has always been deemed it the correct thing to exhibit a little nervousness as congress foregathers for its annual session, many are venturing to wonder what it has in store for the market.

Chance to Aid Market.

If the meeting should result in a really serious effort to reduce governmental expenditures, legalize beer, and saddle the beverage with a tax that would bring in worthwhile revenues; do something toward solving the debt riddle and put a prompt and effective quietus to the overplus of assorted new tax schemes that are sure to come forth, then the average trader would be inclined to look for some sort of revival of stock speculative interest. It might be some time before the market would fully awaken to its possibilities, these hardy ones reason, but with business already looking ahead to spring for another "push," a little legislative stimulation might work wonders.

Certainly, the market's oversold condition would seem to make it ripe for a rally with the proper provocation. Prices have been on the downgrade for more than three weeks now, or virtually ever since the election. In the last two weeks the falling trend has been relieved by only one real attempt at a rally and the small gain run up that day—last Thursday—was more than wiped out by a resumption of the decline the next session.

Stocks Drag Around Bottom.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S index of fifty representative stocks continues, however, to hold rather doggedly around the so-called "triple bottom" resistance levels of the autumn reaction—thanks to the support thrown to the leaders when the pressure is applied. The average closed yesterday at 51.91 which compares with the Nov. 3 low of 51.70 and the October minimum—recorded on the 10th of the month—of 51.63, the persistence with which the list sticks around these support levels is a source of no little comfort to those looking for better times to come in spite of the present dreary aspects of the equation.

Another encouraging item is to be found in the extremely light volume of trading. The turnover has exceeded a million shares on only one day out of the last six and in two or three sessions has barely topped the half million mark. This means not only that the market is not immediately confronted with the threat of heavy liquidation but that the professional bear element lately supposed to be growing more active is going about its operations with extreme caution. Prices in the last few sessions have appeared to sag more of their own weight than any pronounced pressure.

N. Y. BOND MART STEADY DESPITE STERLING ACTION

Railroad Loans Hit by Adverse News.

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—War debt goblins and excited gyrations of the British pound sterling failed to create any great disturbance in the bond market during the last week and the price averages recorded only fractional declines.

The financial district, naturally, was vitally interested in the latest British note published on Friday stressing the international importance of postponing payments due this country Dec. 15. Holders of senior securities, however, maintained a rather detached attitude toward the subject and the result was a continuation of recently dull sessions and generally narrow fluctuations.

Gilt Edged Issues Steady.

While secondary loans had their daily ups and downs along with common stocks, it was noted that the highest grade investment issues were fairly firm throughout. Several of these even advanced fractionally to new highs for the year. The steadiness of the "gilt edges," as in past months, was attributed partly to the continuance of historic low money rates.

Railway loans were the prey of diverse factors. Freight car loadings for the week ended Nov. 26 were off about seasonally. There was a default of a Frisco bond issue which is in the throes of refunding. The Wisconsin Central was placed in receivership. Earnings reports were mixed. There were indications that an attempt would be made to extend the wage reduction agreement which expires next February.

Utilities Do Well.

The utilities and industrials moved uncertainly. The oils were steady and the best power and light company bonds held around their year's top positions. Business news was spotty. Semi-speculative liens showed daily gains or losses of a point or more. Loans of some of the moving picture concerns were a trifle heavy due to lease troubles and amortization problems.

The foreign section was influenced by the war loan negotiations, sagging exchanges and European political and economic problems. British and Australian bonds were hard hit at one time, but rallied moderately later in the week. Belgian issues were firm, as were the Italians. The Germans, French, Japanese and South Americans were irregular.

United States government obligations did not move very far one way or the other.

51 of Country's 292 Stacks Reported Active.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Pig iron production last month held with the preceding month and there was a net gain of one in the number of blast furnace stacks active, but the improvement of September and October "all but reached the vanishing point in November," Steel reported today.

The daily rate of last month was 20,355 gross tons, 60 tons more than in October, the magazine said in its weekly survey.

"Total output of coke iron in November at 625,663 tons was slightly below the 644,648 tons of October, owing to the shorter month," the magazine said. For 11 months the total is 8,126,798 tons, compared with 17,382,634 tons a year ago.

51 Stacks Active.

"When official statistics on steel ingot activity in November are announced this week, the variation from October will be slight, but because steel making capacity is more flexible than pig iron, the trade believes the easier market situation which developed beginning about Nov. 20 may be reflected.

Steel Rate Eases.

"In the week ended Dec. 3, due to declines in every district except Pittsburgh, Youngstown and eastern Pennsylvania, the steel rate eased 1½ points to 16 per cent. At Buffalo there has been a drastic drop, following the close of navigation, while at Birmingham the adjustment the past three weeks has been severe. The intensity of these decreases will not be repeated. At 16 per cent, the improvement of October and November has now been wiped out.

"To the list of major consumers of steel whose requirements have been ebbing, the automotive industry has been added.

Structural steel awards increased over 3,000 tons in the past week, reaching 11,448 tons. As for a number of weeks, pending work is encouraging, but its transition to the order stage is disheartenlingly slow."

MEN

WE HAVE GOOD IMMEDIATE POSITIONS FOR A LIMITED FEW MEN WHO ARE QUALIFIED TO LEARN HOW TO DO OUR BUSINESS SUCCESSFULLY. THESE POSITIONS ARE PERMANENT.

These positions are genuine opportunities at high earnings for those who can do this kind of work successfully. As you will note from the information given below, our successful men are paid $4,000.00 up to $12,000.00 per year or more. These men make this money regularly. There are no off-seasons. These incomes in cash are just as certain and stable as any business or professional positions possibly can be.

For instance, a former driver who started in one locality in June, 1931, is earning more than he dreamed possible when he joined us. His earnings for the past 6 months exceed $4,800.00—an average of $800.00 per month—as compared with an average of $344.00 per month for the previous 5 months in 1932. A former bookkeeper made well over $500.00 last month as compared with $435.00 in October and over $300.00 in August, for his last week reported, he earned over $135.000. That same week a former salesman who recently came here to take up this work earned $115.00; a former securities salesman earned over $90.00 and a former mechanic, who just started in one of our Chicago offices earned over $65.00, although he had only two day's experience. Some of the men to be met in our local offices have earned $40.00 to $50.00 their first two days, some even more, although as a rule, new men must start in at the lower earnings schedules while learning and practicing; thus a former actor, A. Olivia, earned only $40.00 his first two weeks in this work, but made over $175.00 the following month. On the other hand, M. A. Rubin, a former merchant, earned over $250.00 his first two days, nearly $50.00 the next week and over $85.00 the following week.

Such earnings, typical of what our men are making today, throughout the entire country, are made possible by the amazing saleability of our product. This is a unique mechanical specialty (not refrigeration) and is backed up by experienced able management and many millions of dollars in resources.

We are not looking for the "smart" fellow the "clever" talker, or the so-called high pressure artist. We are interested in the earnest, sincere man, no matter what his previous experience, or training, who is willing to follow instructions and has formed the habit of doing a real day's work as a matter of course and not as a matter of exception.

Those who are inexperienced in specialty sales work must take the necessary time to learn and acquire skill. During this time, they must be willing and satisfied to get along on nominal earnings, $125-$200 per month, if necessary. We cannot tell you how long it will take you to do this—whether one month or six months, but we do know that if you have the qualifications to satisfy our requirements, you can, with reasonable study, practice, good character and diligence, be genuinely assured of making a success which will afford you the higher earnings.

Some men learn this work more quickly than others. For example, B. Mazerum earned only $270.000 for the first 10 weeks, but made $760 in the following week reported. A former insurance agent, A. Shrimpton, averaged over $65.00 per week his first three weeks, and earned $155.00 the next week, while another new man, a former carpenter averaged $40.00 per week at first and then $45.00 weekly while learning.

We have several opportunities for trustworthy ambitious men who can learn how to qualify for similar earnings in our Chicago branches. This company is now in its greatest success. 1932 will be our third consecutive record sales year.

If you feel you can qualify, and if you really would appreciate the opportunity this position offers, call for personal interview with a company executive, at the following offices of Electrolux, Inc. [not refrigeration]. Monday morning, 9 to 12:30.

[Positions are also available for several more men at some of our out-of-town offices, including Danville, Peoria, Springfield, Davenport, Des Moines, Milwaukee, Rockford, St. Louis, and other cities.]
